Bamberger Sure He Has Own Child.

An impasse in the Bamberger-Watkins baby mixup apparently was reached yesterday, with Mr. and Mrs. William Watkins maintaining that, although they were intensely fond of the child they have, who came home from the Englewood hospital marked "Bamberger," they doubt he is their baby.

Moreover, plans were laid in the Watkins home at 1619 West 83d street by Mr. and Mrs. Watkins and Attorney Barratt O'Hara to make an investigation of the various investigations which have been pursued relative to straightening out the tangled identities.

In the Charles Bamberger household, at 5523 South Paulina street, Mr. Bamberger persists in his determination to keep the baby the Bambergers have. When newspaper men called to wish him good morning and ask if he was satisfied that all was well he slammed the door and retired abruptly.

All's O. K., Doctors Decide.

At a "secret" conference late Thursday in the Keystone hospital arranged by an attorney for the Bambergers, Dr. Louis K. Eastman, head of the hospital, and five doctors he appointed, determined that the babies were in the right homes.

The investigation conducted by Dr. Eastman and his assistants consisted of examining the shapes of the babies' heads, according to Mr. and Mrs. Watkins. Since the Watkinses' heir is their first born, said the doctors, it would have an oblong head. The Bambergers, who are parents of two other children, aged 4 and 2 years, would inevitably have a child with a round head as their third, Mr. Watkins was told.

Doctors' Findings at Variance.

These findings happen to be at variance with those of Dr. Gerhardt von Bonin, anthropologist of the University of Illinois college of medicine, a member of the health commissioner's picked group of experts.

Dr. von Bonin reported that by anthropological studies of the parents' heads, the real Bamberber baby should have a flatter, wider head than the real Watkins baby. But the present Watkins baby has the wider head, the present Bamberger, the longest and narrowest, he concluded, saying he inclined toward the belief the babies were mixed.

Mr. Watkins Not Convinced.

"There was no agreement between us that each of us had the right babies, however," Mr. Watkins said yesterday. "Mr. Bamberger was satisfied, but they didn't convince me. I told them all that flatly at the time.

"The way it is now with me and my wife," he said, bending over a crib and holding a bottle for the baby he fears is a Bamberger, "we don't know what to think. Yesterday at Dr. Kegel's conference I felt sure the Bambergers had our baby, and so did my wife.

"But last night some of Mrs. Watkins' folks said that the baby we had looked like her, and the doctors in the meeting at Keystone hospital said he looked like me. I take more stock in that than anything else the doctors said."

He Won't Give Up Baby.

Mr. Bamberger late yesterday arose from a family feast, at which the four Bamberger brothers and other relatives celebrated the present status of the supposed Bamberger offspring, and declared:

"Nobody will dare take that boy away from me. I'm satisfied he's mine, and I always have been, and the newspaper fellas have known that right along."

Asked his opinion of the verdict of scientists, doctors, and a jurist appointed by Health Commissioner Arnold H. Kegel at the request of the families to decide whose infant was whose, he said:

"Well, I don't know nothing about those blood tests. I didn't sit in on the conference."

The commissioner's conference of scientists voted that the babies were at present in the wrong homes. Their verdict was based largely on a blood analysis and on the findings of anthropology regarding the shape of the babies' heads compared to those of the parents.

Kegel Says His Task's Done.

Dr. Kegel declared yesterday that the baby case, so far as he was concerned, was at an end. He said he had performed the service asked of him by the parents, that of determin-

HUNGRY QUAKE VICTIMS RIOT AS FOOD ARRIVES

Rescuers Hampered by Blazing Heat.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 25.—With a million and a half people in the earthquake area affected by death or loss of property and 60,000 homeless, the figures of those who perished in Wednesday's disaster swelled to higher proportions today as the excavation work continued.

An official count fixed the identified dead at 1,883 at noon today. Unofficial figures put the number of dead at more than 3,000. Nearly 100 towns and villages have suffered damage. Thirty-four of these have been so gravely damaged as to be considered destroyed. Several towns, such as Villanova, simply do not exist any more.

King Tours District.

King Victor Emmanuel arrived in the quake stricken district today. He traversed the west portion of the ruined area this morning to Rocchetta. From there he visited Ariano and Melfi by motor car, calling at hospitals, inspecting rescue work, and speaking words of comfort to the homeless and bereaved. He will continue his tour tomorrow.

Coincidental with the arrival of the king the entire district today was terrified by a series of new quakes. Two shocks were felt about 10 a. m. and three more at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Many weakened buildings were damaged, but no new loss of life was reported.

Famished people of the district today got relief when two automobile trains arrived, bringing food, water, medical supplies and tents. Long lines of trucks, carrying 80,000 rations of bread, were rushed from Naples to Ariano, where trouble was experienced with hungry mobs.

Plan to Rebuild Area.

A meeting of the council of ministers has been set for next Tuesday, when provisions for immediate relief appropriations will be made along with plans for the reconstruction of the afflicted area. Estimates of the damage run into hundreds of millions of lire. It is difficult to make any precise estimate, however. A campaign has been begun to induce the building of houses in the earthquake area which will be more able to resist quakes.

"It is likely that the region will be subject to new shocks, and it is absolutely necessary that the rebuilt houses be constructed such as those in Japan and other countries where quakes are frequent," Prof. Agamennon of the observatory here declared. "Such houses will cost less and will save thousands of lives and millions in damages."

Relief Work Pushed.

Relief and hospital work in the quake area is being effectively accomplished. The district has been divided into zones under military commanders, with patrols of soldiers and blackshirts on duty everywhere. A measure of calm has returned to the inhabitants of the less stricken towns, and life has been resumed.

The unceasing work of the military has now restored communications and traffic lines to all isolated towns of the area.

Because many of the towns where the damage was greatest lie off railroad tracks for some distance, the full extent of the devastation was just being learned today. On these more remote towns and on Villanova and Melfi fell the heaviest blow of the quake.

Heat Wave Scorches Area.

In some districts tonight, where light is lacking, the military engineers have erected huge radio electric reflectors which play over the countryside. In these pencils of light can be seen moving stretcher bearers, ambulance men and laborers working frantically with pick and shovel.

Complicating the difficulties of maintaining sanitary conditions and caring for the sick and wounded, is the existence of a fearful heat wave. Sirocco winds—hot southerly winds—are blowing over the district. The temperature is around 100.

In Naples tonight barracks and shelters are being prepared to receive as many as possible of the homeless from the earthquake triangle, so as to lessen congestion there as much as possible and to bring the victims to a place where it is easier to feed and care for them.

The hospitals of Naples, Foggia and

LAST SUSPECT IN CUTTEN ROBBERY GIVES SELF UP

The ninth and last of the band accused of robbing Arthur W. Cutten's home at Downers Grove eight years ago, fleeing with $20,000 in jewelry after locking Mr. Cutten in a vault, surrendered yesterday. The others have all been punished.

Caspar Rosenberg, whose brother, Simon, was seized last April, and who subsequently pleaded guilty and was sent to Joliet, walked into the office of State's Attorney Chauncey W. Reed of Du Page county at Wheaton.

"I'm Caspar Rosenberg," announced the man whom Mr. Cutten's agents had been trailing eight years. "I've been hunted long enough. I am innocent and am prepared to prove it."

Half an hour later Rosenberg was arraigned before Circuit Judge Frank W. Shepherd on indictments charging conspiracy to rob and robbery. Upon his plea of not guilty the court set bond at $13,000, which was immediately provided by Harry J. Bauer of Chicago. Rosenberg's trial was set for Sept. 8.

FISH HOOK CUTS HOLE IN SKULL OF RALPH INCE

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25.—[Special.]—Striking with the speed of a bullet a three inch fish hook was embedded in the skull of Ralph Ince, motion picture director, while he was fishing off Malibu beach this afternoon. For a time it was thought the accident would prove fatal. Five hours later an operation was performed by Dr. S. R. Broadbend, after which Ince was reported out of danger.

Along with other motion picture persons Ince set out on a fishing cruise. While their craft was making out to sea the trawling lines became entangled in the kelp beds. Ince tore his line loose from the seaweed.

The strain gave the line tremendous speed and it lashed over his head only to flash back and snap the hook deep into the back of his head. Ince fell to the deck in excruciating pain and was rushed to land on the motor boat of Al Jolson.

Crash Kills 4 Flyers Racing to Win a Bet

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, July 25.—Four military flyers and one civilian were killed today near Valbuena flying field, less than a mile from the center of the capital, in one of the most spectacular catastrophes in the history of Mexican aviation. Two planes, taking part in military maneuvers, collided in the air, and beside killing the four occupants also killed a civilian who was crushed by one of the wrecks.

The disaster is said to have resulted from the outcome of a bet. Two airplane crews wagered each other the expenses of a banquet that they would win first prize.

Several Civilians Escape.

One plane was getting the better of the other when the latter put on a great burst of speed to cut off its opponent. It failed, however, to pass in front of the other as intended and the machines came together with a terrific impact.

The collision occurred over a jai alai court where several civilians were playing. All but one managed to escape the debris that fell as the planes exploded in the air. Both planes fell into the court and the wreck of one landed on an unidentified player.

Three of the officers in the planes were blown to pieces and must have died instantly. The fourth officer, however, was not killed until he hit the ground.

Parachute Fails Aviator.

The latter, Lieut. Napoleon Rojo, succeeded in jumping from his plane with a parachute but it failed to open until within a few feet of the roof of one of the buildings adjoining the jai alai court. His body struck the roof with such violence that it rebounded into the road.

The impact of the remains of one of the planes was such that a one foot thick cement wall between two jai alai courts was ripped up.

The other three dead officers are Capt. Paul Mujica, Lieut. Humberto Enrique, and Lieut. Pablo Caso Lopez. Nothing remains of their machines but two twisted masses of metal and splinters.

Chilean Flyer Killed.

IQUIQUE, Chile, July 25. — (AP) — Lieut. Jorge Lathrop, Chilean aviator, perished today when his plane struck a mountain peak while he was flying through a heavy mist.

HUNTS GAS LEAK WITH MATCH AND HE FINDS IT, TOO

P. J. Leonard smelled gas early this morning as he was preparing to retire in his second floor apartment at 6767 South Chicago avenue. The odor became more pronounced as Leonard walked down the stairs to his restaurant and barbecue stand on the first floor. The fumes seemed to be coming from the basement.

Leonard lit a match as he descended the basement stairs and walked toward the gas meter at the front of the building. He raised the match to explore a connection near the meter. There was a blinding explosion. Flame seared Leonard's face, hands, and legs as he staggered back toward the stairs.

Above him the force of the explosion blew out the front end of the restaurant and cracked a side wall of the two story frame building so that it tottered. Neighbors, aroused by the blast, ran to Leonard's assistance. Engine 63 of the fire department responded to an alarm and extinguished the flames. Leonard was taken to St. Bernard's hospital.

Capt. C. S. Gilmore of the engine company estimated the damage to the building at $5,000.

2 OIL WELLS FLOW ON JOHN BORDEN'S MICHIGAN LAND

John Borden, Chicago capitalist and sportsman, yesterday confirmed reports that oil had been struck last week on property he owns at Mount Pleasant, in Isabella county, Michigan. Mr. Borden, telephoning from Muskegon, said the first well brought in was running to 200 barrels a day and was being piped into tanks.

His present mission in Michigan, however, is to look after another well which has been tapped, and which, he believes, will have a much larger flow.

Miss Oder of Denver two years ago, possessing, it was said, "only a smattering of Spanish and a nimble wit."

City Swelters at Sultry 96; Heat to Stay

75,000 Sleep in Park

New York, July 25.—(AP)—Two heat deaths were reported in New York City today, although 90 degrees was the highest temperature. Police announced that 75,000 persons were sleeping in Central park tonight. Other thousands sought relief on fire escapes and roofs.

Everywhere in Chicago and suburbs the weather was evenly and uncomfortably hot yesterday, and last night there was no definite prospect of relief.

Fair and continued warm was again the theme of the weather man in his bulletin last night. The forecaster said a thundershower might break this evening, but dejectedly added that the chances were remote.

Vagrant Breeze Favors Loop.

Daybreak yesterday found the temperature at 72, but the sun, backed up by a sultry southwest wind, had the mercury nudging 90 by 11 a. m. At 4 p. m. the sun and wind were at their worst and the reading at the University of Chicago observatory was 96 degrees. A vagrant breeze, eddying around from the southeast, was blowing across the loop at that hour and the lake cooled air held the thermometer on the federal building to a maximum of 89.

The temperature had declined but a few degrees at nightfall and was touching 91 when at 9:30 p. m. a light shower pelted the baking pavements and parched lawns. The rain lasted only 15 minutes but was sufficient to draw the mercury down to 87.

Heat Blamed for 3 Deaths.

Everyone who had leisure and a bathing suit flocked to the beaches, wading pools and municipal natatoriums yesterday and in the neighborhoods of the near west side firemen provided hydrant shower baths for the children. The heat was blamed for one death in Chicago and two in East Chicago, Ind.

Oscar Johnson, 40 year old waiter, collapsed and died of heart disease, aggravated by the heat, in his room at the Ironsides hotel, 661 West Madison street. On a business call at the East Chicago plant of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, Ira B. McMillan, 60 years old, 8416 Paxton avenue, collapsed as he entered the mill and died before a physician arrived. The third victim was Victor Carrette, 47 years old, former street commissioner of East Chicago, who collapsed on a downtown street.

Heat Spreads to North.

Temperatures between 90 and 100 degrees prevailed generally from Kansas to Illinois and as far north as St. Paul.

With a noon reading of 90 degrees in Milwaukee three deaths during the morning were attributed to the heat. The mercury jumped above 90 in the Twin Cities and hovered around 90 over most of Iowa and Nebraska, Missouri, for a change, enjoyed a spell of moderately cool weather.

All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

The Cook county grand jury yesterday learned from Capt. William F. Russell how he became commissioner of police, and from Capt. John Stege how he became chief of detectives.

After hearing Capt. Stege, the jurors issued a statement through their foreman, Bernard De Vry, praising Stege as a reliable, efficient, and honest officer. The jury recommended that he be reinstated as chief of detectives.

John Alcock, who became acting commissioner after Russell resigned following the murder of Jake Lingle, reporter for The Tribune, was interviewed last night upon the grand jury's statement, but he said he had no comment to make. Capt. Stege has been relegated by Alcock to an obscure post in what is known as the "miscellaneous division."

It was learned that Commissioner Alcock conferred with Mayor Thompson in the mayor's office after the action of the jury, but both Alcock and the mayor declined to discuss the subject of the conference.

Newspaper Men Are Heard.

The grand jury also heard testimony from a number of newspaper men, including Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, and Richard J. Finnegan, managing editor of the Daily Illustrated Times. It was learned that the jurors informed most of the newspaper witnesses that some of the newspapers had strongly advocated a proposal that the grand jury should investigate the Lingle murder. The jurors were reported to have asked the editors and others just what it was expected the grand jury could do in solving the murder, in addition to what is being done under the direction of State's Attorney Swanson.

Capt. Russell was the first witness yesterday. He spent an hour before the jury, emerging in apparent high spirits. Asked for a statement, he said:

"Yes, my name is Bill Russell; it's a nice warm day and I'm going out to knock the pill 300 yards." He is on a furlough from the police force.

How He Was Appointed.

From other sources it was learned that Russell was asked by the jury to tell how he became commissioner of police.

He was first approached on the subject, Russell is reported to have told the jury, by Ald. Bert Cronson, a nephew of Corporation Counsel Samuel Ettelson. Russell said he demurred at the idea, but that Cronson made several visits to him, and finally induced him to see Ettelson.

Ettelson joined in urging Russell to accept the post, and when Russell mentioned that the job had wrecked so many men, and that he was happy in his present work, Ettelson, so Russell told the grand jurors, painted a more cheerful picture, and finally won Russell's consent.

Demands Stege Reinstatement.

Russell said he had presented two conditions to Ettelson, one that he be permitted to run the police department with an entirely free hand, and the other that he be permitted to bring Capt. Stege back into the police department to become his chief of detectives. Stege had been ousted from the department by Mayor Thompson, and an appeal from the findings of the civil service board against Stege was then before the courts.

The two conditions were put up to Mayor Thompson by Russell and Ettelson at a summer camp in Wisconsin, where Thompson, according to Russell's reported testimony, conceded both of them. Russell said he then accepted the commissionership.

It was also reported that the jury asked Russell to discuss his stock transactions with Lingle, and that he replied he had given full details and records to Charles F. Rathbun, assistant state's attorney in charge of the Lingle murder inquiry, and that if the jurors desired to obtain the information they could do so from Mr. Rathbun.

Mr. Strong was the second witness before the jury. He declined to be interviewed before entering the jury-room, and when he was excused, an hour later, departed through a back door which had been opened for him at his special request.

Reports as to Mr. Strong's testimony were that he was asked if he knew anything of the Lingle murder, and that he replied he knew little beyond many rumors he had heard. He was then asked about Leland H. Reese, gangland reporter for the Daily News, and replied, it was reported, that he had heard many rumors about Reese also, but that upon investigation he was unable to verify them.

The jurors then called Capt. Stege, who remained in the jury room so long that excited rumors began to circulate around the Criminal courts building.

At length, however, Stege came out surrounded by several of the jurors. When newspaper men went to Stege for an interview the jurors announced that the foreman had a statement to make to the newspapers. It was the first public statement of any kind coming from the jury.

Foreman Makes Statement.

"The grand jury," said Foreman De Vry, "gave Mr. Stege a vote of confidence as an efficient police officer and an honest man, who has always tried to do his duty in his different capacities as an employé of the city of Chicago.

Another juror then called out:

"Mr. De Vry forgot to tell you that the jury also recommended that Capt. Stege be reinstated as chief of detectives."

The jury is reported to have asked Stege to explain a statement credited to him at the time of Lingle's murder in which he was quoted as asking former Commissioner Russell, "Shall we hit that place now?" and Russell was quoted as replying, "No, wait until they have time to get back there."

"Three days before the murder," said Stege, according to reports of his testimony, "Lieut. William Cusack received information as to a hangout of the Aiello gang. He had been watching the place in preparation for a raid.

"Cusack came over to the scene of Lingle's murder, and when the crowd prevented him from getting to me he called out, 'Shall we hit that place now?' I conferred with Russell a second and then called back that Cusack had better wait a half hour and then make it.

"I didn't know who killed Lingle, but it wasn't impossible that this gang of toughs was in on it, and if they were I didn't want Cusack to raid the place until they had time to return to it."

Story of Reinstatement.

Stege is reported to have told of his appointment as chief of detectives. He said that Russell had called him on the telephone at the headquarters of Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago Crime commission, who was then special vote frauds prosecutor, and who had appointed Stege his chief investigator.

Russell told Stege he was to be appointed police commissioner, and that he wanted Stege to be his chief of detectives. Stege replied, according to his reported testimony, that he would first consult with Mr. Loesch, and he did so immediately. The veteran crime battler, according to Stege, advised him to accept the post, telling him that he would be of greater use to all the citizens, as well as to the investigation then pending.

Tells of Coöperation.

One juror inquired of Stege, it was reported, whether he was "close" to THE TRIBUNE, and he replied, according to reports:

"If the brand of THE TRIBUNE is on my back, I'm damn proud to have it. Why shouldn't I be? Every time I went to THE TRIBUNE for help in some criminal investigation, I was given the greatest coöperation. When I was battling against the tough alien gangs THE TRIBUNE went to the White House and got help in deporting these criminals."

Asked about Lingle, Stege is said to have replied:

"Yes, I knew him, and I would go to the bottom of the lake to find the killers if I thought they were down there. Jake was a sort of Pittsburgh Phil. If he had a couple of hundred dollars in his pocket he had to show it, like a kid."

Capt. Stege was also asked if he had evidence of racketeering among Chicago newspapermen. He replied, it was said, that with few exceptions, the newspapermen he knew were conscientious, "high class" fellows.

Stuart to Appear Later.

An adjournment for lunch was taken, after which the jury called for William H. Stuart, political editor of the Chicago Evening American. It developed that Mr. Stuart had not been notified he would be questioned, and he was asked to appear Monday at 1:30 p. m.

Mr. Finnegan, managing editor of The Times, was then taken into the grand jury room. When he emerged, he said:

"The jury asked me many questions relating to an editorial in the Daily Times calling their attention to the fact that they were, in fact, the people of Cook county, not only in the investigation of the Lingle murder but of any other crime that might be associated with it. The jurors allowed me to tell them that by going into the activities of newspapermen outside the Lingle matter they were in danger of fiddling while Rome burns."

Reese Is a Witness.

Leland Reese, Daily News reporter, was then called. He said he had been asked by the jury if he had ideas as to the solution of the crime situation. The jury also asked him, he said, if he knew anything about who killed Lingle, and that he had replied he did not.

"They asked me if Julius Rosenheim [who was murdered Feb. 1 by gangsters] worked for me or for the Daily News, and I told them the only things he did were for me and not for the News," Reese said. "They asked me what I knew about the underworld. How can you start on that?"

Ted Tod, reporter for the Chicago Herald Examiner, was the last witness. He declined to discuss his testimony.

R. C. Cornell, circulation manager for the Herald and Examiner, appeared for questioning, but he was excused without being called.

Attorney Harold Levy appeared yesterday before Judge Daniel P. Trude of the Criminal court and asked that the judge admit Frank Foster, under indictment for the murder of Lingle, to bail. The motion will be heard on July 30, when Judge Trude will also set a date for Foster's trial.

Plans More Plays

Atlantic City, N. J., July 25.—(AP)—David Belasco celebrated an event which happened in San Francisco 76 years ago. He called this the blithest birthday he's ever had.

It marked for him the end of a theatrical season—his fiftieth-odd—in which his only production, a boisterous little farce called "It's a Wise Child," made profits comparing favorably with any play he has produced. It marks the beginning of a season which has him chuckling in anticipation.

One hundred and fifty-two candles, alight on two towering cakes, and flowers and telegrams and cables were tokens that his friends remembered the day.

But "the governor," his white hair awry and both eyes fixed on "Dancing Partner," which he is trying out here for Broadway, said he'd spend today "cracking the whip."

Between times, maybe, he'd have a bite of cake, and maybe even a slice of lemon meringue pie. Both are forbidden him now by his doctor, except on great occasions.

He said he will produce four more plays this season after his present play is launched—"Tonight or Never," by Baroness Lili Hatvany, for Helen Gahagan; a play by Patrick Kearney for Beth Merrill; "The Berg," by Ernest Raymond with C. Aubrey Smith as a principal, and "Laughing Boy," a dramatization of Oliver La Farge's Pulitzer prize novel.

HUNT TRIO FOR $15,000 HOLDUP OF MESSENGER

Three men were hunted last night as members of the bandit gang of five who robbed a messenger for a commission concern yesterday of cash and checks amounting to nearly $15,000. Those sought, identified from bureau of identification photographs, are Louis Clementi, 29 years old, 909 Sholto street; Jack Sherman, alias Robert Marner, 30 years old, and Frank Lewis, alias Katzewitz.

Clarence R. Strobeck, 4946 Metropole avenue, employed by the S. A. Girard company, 7 South Water Market, was seized by the robbers as he was entering the Commerce Trust and Savings bank, 1425 South Racine avenue, to make a deposit.

Clementi was questioned in connection with the murder of Alfred Lingle, TRIBUNE reporter, but was later released. The checks taken from Strobeck were found in an abandoned automobile in front of 717 South Aberdeen street.

Police believe the gang which robbed Strobeck also might have been responsible for the robbery yesterday of Howard T. Emery, 3452 Janssen avenue, of more than $2,000 near the Washburn school. Emery was accompanied by William Mueller, a special policeman.

PETITIONS ASK VOTE ON WATER FILTER SYSTEM

The department of public works will circulate petitions next week requesting that the November ballot carry the question of public policy of whether Chicago's water supply shall be filtered. Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe is the sponsor of the plan.

It has been estimated that a filtration system will cost $60,000,000. Wolfe's plan would require no bonds, the filtration being financed through the issuance of water certificates and increasing the rate a few cents per thousand gallons of water.

Experiments have been conducted recently at the 69th street and Ogiesby avenue pumping station, where a method of filtering has been perfected by John H. Bylias, chemist. The results have shown the water to be odorless, softer, and of a better taste.

Confesses Counterfeiting of I. C. Pay Roll Checks

Thomas Hoffman, 38 years old, arrested yesterday by special agents of the Illinois Central railroad, confessed that with the aid of a photo engraver in Hamburg, Germany, he had passed counterfeit pay roll checks to the sum of $5,000 in recent months. Hoffman, who at first gave the alias of Stephen Foldesh, said that about a year ago he had procured a blank Illinois Central pay roll check, which he sent to the Hamburg engraver, who furnished him 500 counterfeit copies.

Claimant to Garibaldi Kinship Seeks Divorce

Vincent Garibaldi, 1426 South 58th court, Cicero, who claims to be a descendant of the Italian liberator, yesterday filed suit for divorce in Superior court against Mrs. Frances Garibaldi, 3516 West 12th place. He charges cruelty. The couple were married July 3, 1924, and separated last June 16. Garibaldi is represented by Attorney Vincent Pace.

ALCOCK GIVES POLICE JOB TO EX-LAWYER REED

Accused by Bar in Pension Fee Case.

John P. Reed, ex-lawyer and a former member of the police pension board, in which position he was mentioned in a fund scandal five years ago, has been given a sixty day appointment as chief deputy police operator, it was learned yesterday. The order giving him this temporary position was signed by Acting Police Commissioner Alcock.

Reed began his duties July 7, and is now engaged in visiting police stations "toning up the service," in the words of Chief Operator Burton E. Thompson. He is performing the work formerly done by the late Thomas Joyce, former chief deputy. Reed served as an operator many years ago, before his admission to the bar.

Alcock Explains Action.

Commissioner Alcock said yesterday that the application for Reed's appointment came to him "in the regular manner," and that he had appointed him "the same as any other man would be appointed. "If he doesn't do his work properly he will go," the commissioner stated. The position Reed occupies pays a yearly salary of $2,600. At the end of his temporary service he must take a civil service examination if the appointment is allowed to stand.

In 1925 Reed was charged by the Chicago Bar association with retaining excessive fees from police widows for the collection of back money to which they were legally entitled.

Disbarment Action Brought.

The previous year Reed had admitted before Probate Judge Horner that he had taken $5,298 as his fee from a $5,798 pension awarded to Mrs. Mary Walker, aged paralytic widow of a policeman. The bar association accused him of retaining as fees $34,000 out of $45,726 collected from the police and fire department funds. These actions denoted a "lack of good moral character calculated to bring the courts of justice into disrepute and contempt," said the disbarment bill filed against him.

Not long after the bill was filed, Reed petitioned the Supreme court to strike his name from the official list of lawyers.

BERLIN-CHICAGO FLYERS PLAN HOP TO NORTH BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 25.—With their tiny 40 horsepower monoplane parked at the Hanworth flying field overnight, the Berlin-Chicago aviators, Wofram Hirth and Oskar Weller, plan to depart for Kirkwall, Orkney islands, tomorrow after two days of flying in easy stages from Berlin to London, the first lap of their flight to America by the northern route.

The flyers said they had an uneventful crossing from Calais, France. They landed at Croydon this morning and after passing the customs inspection, flew to the less known air field of Hanworth in order to avoid crowds.

They will consult meteorology experts in the morning and if the weather is favorable they plan a flight to Kirkwall, the island at the topmost tip of Great Britain, before their sea flight to Reykjavik, Iceland. They will land in Edinburgh on the way. With good weather they hope to be in Chicago in a week or ten days.

COPS CAN'T RIDE WITH THOSE THEY GUARD: ALCOCK

Policemen were instructed yesterday by Acting Commissioner Alcock not to ride in the same automobile with any person whom they may be protecting, either a person carrying money or one who is in fear of his life or bodily harm. They must ride in an automobile behind the person being protected or walk behind him if he is on foot.

The order is the outcome of the death of Elbert Lusader, a street car motorman, who was killed by gunmen who tried to kill Jack Zuta, vice monger. Zuta was being guarded by Lieut. George Barker. Barker was suspended because he took Zuta into his car instead of driving behind Zuta, who had begged for protection. The civil service commission exonerated Barker, who was then transferred from the detective bureau to the Chicago Lawn station.

FIRE DRIVES OUT FAMILY.

John Rodey, 2443 South Ashland avenue and members of his family were driven to the street last night when fire believed to have been caused by matches ignited papers on the rear porch.

COURT HOLDS TWO TO GRAND JURY IN FOLEY LOTTERY

Charges of Fraud Told at Hearing.

H. Goodman, an employé of the circulation department of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, and Leo Schoemer, an employé of the Illinois Central railroad, were held to the grand jury yesterday on charges of conspiracy to operate a lottery and obtain money by false pretenses. Matt Foley, formerly of the circulation department of the Herald and Examiner, continues a fugitive from justice and the warrant against him was marked "not apprehended."

The grand jury when it takes up the lottery case on Monday, however, will be empowered to act on the complaint against Foley as well as the other men even though Foley has been dodging the police for more than one month, according to the police. The jury will have the power to go into all the ramifications of the lottery conducted on the last Kentucky Derby by Foley and his associates.

Hoffman Is State Witness.

In the hearing before Judge John Sbarbaro in the Felony court yesterday the prosecution was required only to make out a prima facie case against the defendants.

Clyde M. Hoffman, 14906 Marshfield avenue, Harvey, was the only state witness. Hoffman said that when he purchased the lottery tickets from Schoemer he was told that "This is backed by two $40,000 a year executives of the Herald and Examiner." He said no mention was made of the names of these executives.

The witness testified that Rudolph Trietz, city circulator of the Herald and Examiner, in his presence said: "To my knowledge over $100,000 worth of these tickets have been sold. Every driver had them."

Trietz and R. C. Cornell, circulation manager of the Herald and Examiner, were subpoenaed as witnesses by the state, but they did not testify.

Goodman was the only witness called by the defense. He said that the tickets he sold—$100 worth of them—were given to him by Foley and that he gave the money so obtained to Foley.

Tells of Buying Tickets.

"I bought my tickets from Schoemer," Hoffman testified under the questioning of Assistant State's Attorney Frank Mast. "I asked him if the lottery was all right and he said 'Yes'; that it is backed by two $40,000 a year executives on the Herald and Examiner. I bought the tickets on May 3.

"I saw Schoemer on May 23 at the Randolph street station. I had with me Michael Walsh, Democratic candidate for congress from the Second district, and a crowd of other Illinois Central employés. Schoemer said: "I believe I am up against a fake on this lottery. I cannot get the money to pay off.'

"He asked me to handle the matter for the employés. He called up Goodman and when Goodman came over I asked him where he got the tickets. He said from Matt Foley at the Herald and Examiner.

Committee Goes to Newspaper.

"We picked a committee of five and went over to the Examiner. We took the matter up with Mr. Homer Guck, the publisher. He pushed a button and called for R. C. Cornell. Cornell came in and before anything was said to him he produced two papers, one saying that Foley was discharged and the other that he said the Examiner was to print next morning saying it had nothing to do with the lottery.

"Mr. Guck said, 'What is going on here?' and Cornell said, 'Matt Foley is simply running a lottery.'

"Mr. Guck then said to Trietz, the circulator, 'Who is Goodman?' and Trietz said Goodman was an extra driver. Trietz then said to Mr. Guck, 'To my knowledge over $100,000 worth of tickets have been sold. Every driver had them.'"

Hoffman then testified that Cornell advised the railroad men to accept a $5 compromise offer made by Goodman. He said he was so urged on a second visit to the newspaper's office, at which Cornell and another executive named Edwardson were present.

Mrs. Marie Brede, 38 years old, 2649 North Kedzie avenue, was said to be in critical condition at St. Luke's hospital last night as a result of three bullet wounds. Police detained Sam Freeman, custodian for the Chicago Printers and Pressmen's union, Local No. 3. Miss Brede was shot while in Freeman's office at 543 South Dearborn street.

Freeman told the police that the pair quarreled after Mrs. Brede had demanded money. He said he had given her $20 after he had left her and returned to live with his wife and two children, and that when Mrs. Brede returned to see him yesterday he seized a revolver and fired.

India Women Sit in Street 10 Hours; Defy Parade Ban

CALCUTTA, India, July 26 [Saturday.]—(AP)—Sixty women volunteers of the civil disobedience campaign this morning were emulating in the main streets of Calcutta the "endurance sitters" in the United States. In defiance of the police, who had refused them permission to parade, they sat down in the street at 5 p. m. Friday afternoon, and had not budged an inch at 3 a. m. this morning. During their ten hour vigil, they were surrounded by police.

LITHUANIA SENDS EX-DICTATOR AND WIFE INTO EXILE

Waldermaras Called "Public Menace."

KOVNO, Lithuania, July 25.—(AP)—Augustine Waldemaras, former premier and dictator, has been banished for one year to Krottingen, a state owned domain, or large estate. The Lithuanian government took this step because it considered the former dictator a "danger to public order and safety."

His wife, a French born woman, and his nephew accompanied him into exile. The nephew is the young man who was wounded at Kovno in May, 1929, by a bomb intended for the then premier. The edict of expulsion from Kovno was signed by Col. Talevivius, the commander of Kovno. The former dictator and "enfant terrible" of the leaguo of nations will be kept under close public supervision during his exile.

Conspicuous During War.

Waldemaras, who is now in his 48th year, became an internationally conspicuous figure during and especially after the world war. His political career began in 1917, when he took part in a congress of Lithuanian leaders in Leningrad, then St. Petersburg, and led the faction which stood for Lithuanian independence.

During the bolshevik revolution he escaped to Berlin, where he became interpreter for the Ukrainian legation. His knowledge of nine modern languages besides Latin and Greek soon made him an indispensable factor at the legation, and he cleverly used his position to make propaganda for a free Lithuania.

Fought to Regain Vilna.

At the Versailles conference in 1919 he was the official representative of his fatherland. He was deeply grieved, however, when Vilna was awarded to Poland. The fight to establish Lithuania's claims to Vilna became his absorbing object in life.

Waldemaras became premier in 1926. His clashes with Marshal Pilsudski and Foreign Minister Zaleski of Poland enlivened the sessions of the league of nations for several years.

Meanwhile, he was able to maintain himself at home only by running the country under a dictatorship. This brought him much enmity. His fall from power came last September, when the general elections failed to give him a majority. His entire ministry resigned.

FIVE IDENTIFY 3 ROBBERS AFTER ONE IS WOUNDED

Five victims of recent robberies yesterday identified Charles Frady, 23 years old, 4140 Drexel boulevard; Floyd Sherman, 25, of the same address, and George Pratt, 24 years old, 5335 Ellis avenue, as robbers. They were captured yesterday morning after Frady was shot in the left hand while attempting to rob the Mayfair hotel at 5496 Hyde Park boulevard.

Henry W. Gaebe, 57 years old, the night clerk, reached for a pistol at their command to put up his hands and as he shot Frady the others ran out of the hotel. Fradyy dropped to the floor moaning. He named his accomplices and they were arrested by Hyde Park police. They confessed to fifteen robberies. One of their friends, Lake Smith, 4536 Lake Park avenue, a taxicab driver, is being sought.

Frady worked for THE TRIBUNE as a copy boy during the last four months, until last Sunday night. He formerly was employed in the same capacity by the Herald and Examiner. He was married last March and his wife left him after two weeks. Pratt was employed as a taxicab chauffeur and Sherman was an electrician, but said he had been out of work for several months.

PLANS SUIT TO TEST VALIDITY OF GAS TAX LAW

Springfield, Ill., July 25.—[Special.]—The legislative committee of the Illinois Municipal league, at a meeting held in Springfield today, decided to institute legal proceedings to test the constitutionality of the Illinois gas tax law.

It was determined, too, to have a subcommittee draft amendments to the law, for submission to the next session of the legislature, by which one cent of the three cents collected on each gallon of gasoline can be employed in the improvement of city streets.

The league questions the legality of the present tax for the reason that money reverting to the counties outside of Cook cannot be employed in the maintenance of highways in cities exceeding 7,500 in population.

No test of the gasoline tax law of 1929 has yet been had. Numerous suits attacking it, instituted in the Sangamon Circuit court by various gas companies have been dismissed.

Miner Earning $15 a Week Made Tartar Republic Head

KAZAN, U. S. S. R., July 25.—(AP)—Kilyam Abramov, a simple miner earning $15 a week, today was appointed president of the council of people's commissars of the Tartar Autonomous republic. His new position is equivalent to that of prime minister in other countries.

Girl Seized in Hunt for Buckley Slayers; Recalled Detroit Mayor's Chief Aid Quits

Detroit, Mich., July 25.—[Special.]—Two important developments, growing out of the gangster murder Wednesday of Jerry Buckley, reform radio crusader, occurred today. They were:

1 Police arrested a young woman, whose name they kept secret, as a "key witness" in the investigation of the assassination of Buckley.

2 The resignation of Public Works Commissioner John Gillespie, the chief target, next to Mayor Bowles, in the reform movement that culminated in the recall of the mayor at the polls last Tuesday. Buckley had led the attack on Bowles and Gillespie from his radio station and had exultantly broadcast the result a few hours before he was shot to death by three men in the lobby of the La Salle hotel here.

Second Woman Questioned.

Besides arresting the unnamed woman, police also took into custody Jeanne Alexandrea, a singer, who was released after being closely questioned.

Miss Alexandrea had known Buckley several years. They had once been intimate friends, said Detective Lieut. William Johnson, acting head of the homicide squad.

"A woman called Jerry Buckley from an upstairs room in the La Salle hotel to the lobby shortly before he was slain," Johnson said. "Intentionally or unintentionally, some woman whom he knew had him leave his room to go downstairs, putting him 'on the spot.'

"We want to know who that woman was. To find out, we are questioning every woman with whom Buckley was friendly. Miss Alexandrea is only one person who figured in Buckley's life, and there is no special significance in the fact she was called in."

Other Girl Holds Clew.

The mystery girl, who is still in custody, was regarded as an important find by Prosecutor James E. Chenot.

"We are withholdig her name to protect her," Chenot said. "She lives near an east side hotel which is a rendezvous for gangsters. She told us Sunday an acquaintance told her somebody important was to be bumped off in a day or two. We want to find the man who told her that."

Meanwhile Jack Klein, motion picture operator who was sitting beside Buckley in the lobby of the La Salle hotel when the murder took place, failed today to obtain his release on a habeas corpus writ. Klein was arrested immediately after the killing as a material witness, but the authorities today disclosed that they suspect him of being the "finger man" for the actual killers. John D. Watts, assistant prosecutor, told Judge Frank Murphy at the hearing that Klein had motioned Buckley to the chair in which he was killed. Watts said Klein was an associate of gangsters who are being sought for the Buckley murder.

Gillespie Resignation Surprise.

The resignation of Gillespie, who has been looked upon as the "real mayor" of Detroit ever since his appointment to the mayor's cabinet, came as a surprise. Gillespie is reported to have spent $100,000 in behalf of the mayor in the recall fight, and two days ago, immediately after the recall movement had triumphed at the polls, he gave out the statement that "we have just begun to fight."

In the announcement of his resignation today Gillespie stated that he was quitting because he was "sick and tired of the whole political mess", that he was through with politics forever and would take no part in the coming campaign of Mayor Bowles for reelection.

Abides by Poll Result.

His statement added:

"In view of the statements made regarding myself and my actions on the recall petitions, I consider the results of the election as an indorsement of the charges made against me. While these charges are false, I have no alternative but to abide by the will of the people. Had I not been named personally in the petitions my resignation would have been given only at the request of the mayor."

The mayor, asked if the resignation of Gillespie would cause him to drop out of the race for the mayoralty in September, said: "Most certainly not. I shall stay in the race."

Buckley's body lay in state today in his home and a line of men, women and children estimated at 50,000 filed past the bier to pay a last tribute to the militant champion of civic reform. The funeral services will be held tomorrow at St. Gregory's Catholic church.

'L' COMMITTEES NAMED TO SPEED TRANSIT MERGER

Three Groups Will Deal with Security Holders.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The elevated lines initiated two actions yesterday toward the promised goal of better transportation.

Samuel Insull, chairman of the board appointed three committees to aid in the consolidation of the elevated with the surface lines as provided in the new transportation franchise. These are committees selected to prevail on security holders to enter into the merger.

One committee was selected for the adjustment debenture bond holders. These debentures, totaling $18,563,000 and due in 1963, bear interest not exceeding 6 per cent but cumulative at 4 per cent, payable only if declared by the directors. Edwin L. Lobdell & Co., investment bankers, say that the accrued interest since July 1, 1924, totals $4,083,860, to last Jan. 1. The committee to look after these securities is composed of R. Floyd Clinch, chairman; Stanley A. Russell, Philip R. Clarke, Harold E. Foreman and George Woodruff.

Committees on Stock Named.

Another committee was appointed to look after the interests of the prior preferred stock and the preferred stock. Of the prior preferred there is outstanding $5,000,000 par value which draws 7.8 per cent. The other preferred stock, calling for 7.2 per cent, totals $1,500,000 par value. To care for these interests the committee appointed by Mr. Insull is composed of Fred H. Scheel, Edward P. Russell, M. J. O'Brien, George T. Leach and James L. Martin.

The common stock on a par value of $20,329,500 has a committee of three, as follows: J. H. Gulick, E. J. Doyle and Lawrence Stern.

The Lobdell analysis of the equities in the elevated properties shows total net assets of $96,180,594 last Dec. 31. Starting at that basis the analysis says: "The equity for the capital stocks of this company at Dec. 31, 1929, amounted to $26,457,654.29, and after making provision for the preferred stocks at their call prices, there remains an equity for the common stock of $19,057,654.29, or $93.74 per share."

Franchise Takes Care of Rest.

The other outstanding securities of the elevated lines were disposed of in the transportation franchise approved at the referendum on July 1. The franchise provides that the Chicago Local Transportation company—the new consolidation—shall take over liens and incumbrances totaling $48,-116,700.

During the negotiations it was given out that this plan would save about 1 per cent in interest charges, because these bonds average a lower rate than bonds of the new company can be sold at an advantage.

The bonds and stock of the Surface lines are to be converted into new securities of the new corporation. Those bonds were due on Feb. 1, 1927, while the Elevated bonds are not due. Each particular kind of Surface line security has its protective committee, and each committee is expected to attempt to get what it desires of the securities of the new company.

Condemnation Suit Filed.

The second step toward transit improvements yesterday was the filing in the Superior court of a condemnation suit against the property of 203 owners. This action was also taken by the Elevated lines.

The property is desired to widen the right of way of the Garfield Park branch so that a third track may be added between Marshfield and Laramie avenues. It is claimed that this track is needed for high speed service and when obtained will approximately double the existing transportation facilities on that branch. Much of the property desired has been obtained by private purchase. The condemnation suit cannot be heard for 30 days because of a restriction in the statute.

NEW YORK GASPS AT HOOVER'S AID IN 'WRONG' PANTS

Social Secretary Stirs Male Modists.

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—A wave of horrified surprise swept the ranks of New York's male fashion arbiters today when they were shown published photographs of Warren D. Robbins, social secretary to the White House, appearing at an official function clad in the "wrong" kind of trousers.

Not only were the trousers wrong—the collar and tie and the buttons on the waistcoat were impossible, and he wore no spats.

"Beau" Almost Overcome.

"Beau" Nash, who through the theater programs has taught many a person how to dress and look like a London clubman, glanced at the picture and gasped.

"It simply isn't right," he said. "Why, the man has turnups on his trousers, and you have turnups only on a lounging suit. (Turnups are what the man in the street calls cuffs.) And where are his gloves and spats?"

The trousers were not striped, he observed, and the vest, white with a pencil stripe, bore six buttons down the front.

"Any one who glues his eye to the keyhole of fashion must accept certain tenets," said Mr. Nash. "If you wish to be informal, wear a sack suit, but if you start out to be formal, you must go all the way. This costume simply isn't smart.

At Nation's Capital, Too.

"Gloves and spats are de rigueur with a stick and topper, you know. You simply can't turn yourself out half dressed this way. It's a shame to admit that popular adherence to fashion's dictates is not enforced by the Washington set as it should be.

"That turndown collar and the four in hand tie are all right in a way. But in the gay mosaic of fashion we prefer to hear the true note struck. With a cutaway we must wear a wing collar and a bow tie."

Jeann Friedman agreed with "Beau Nash." And Jeann, of course, is Jimmy Walker's tailor.

"I make Mayor Walker thirty suits a year," he said, looking a little as if he were ill, "and never did I see a turnout like that."

LEE GEHLBACH AGAIN LEADS HIS RIVALS IN DERBY OF AIRPLANES

San Angelo, Tex., July 25.—(AP)—Lieut. Lee Gehlbach of Little Rock, Ark., led the dozen flyers participating in the all American air derby into San Angelo from Houston today, swooping down to a landing in his little Rocket plane at 11:16:35 a. m.

He flew the 329 mile lap in 2 hours 15 minutes 35 seconds, nearly 16 minutes faster than his closest competitor, and his elapsed time since the racers left Detroit Monday was 17:38:07, almost two hours ahead of the runner-up, Stub Quinby of Moline, Ill.

The flyers are to take off tomorrow for Douglas, Ariz.

2 MEN, WOMAN BURN TO DEATH IN PLANE CRASH

Lubbock, Tex., July 25.—(AP)—Two men and a woman were killed at Hobbs, N. M., tonight when their plane crashed from a height of 400 feet. The plane burst into flames and the bodies of all three were burned badly.

The body of the pilot was identified as that of W. D. Mosier of Tulsa, Okla. The passengers were believed to be a Tulsa man and a young woman living in Hobbs.

Plane Drops Wing; 2 Dead.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25.—(AP)—Two men were killed when a biplane dropped a wing as they attempted to nose it into a steep climb above the Lakeside Country club, North Hollywood, today. The craft, falling in several sections, crashed into marshy land. The bodies were identified as John S. Morse, pilot, of Altadena, Cal., and Dominick Gnoepff of Hollywood.

Plane Falls; one Killed.

Fillmore, Cal., July 25.—(AP)—Harry Hastings, 40, a contractor, died today from injuries suffered when a plane in which he was flying with Peyton Burke, 37, a garage owner, crashed near here last night. Burke was critically injured.

Refrigerator Gas Routs Loop Restaurants' Diners

Diners in a B & G lunchroom on the main floor of the Ashland block, Clark and Randolph streets, and those in the Bamboo Inn, a restaurant in the basement of the building, were driven to the street last night when a pipe in the refrigerating system in the sandwich shop broke and released ammonia gas.

8 CIVIC GROUPS ASK PLAYGROUND AT WICKER PARK

Eight civic organizations in the Milwaukee, North and Damen avenues district began a campaign yesterday for a city playground at the junction of those three streets. The square mile of territory bounded by Western, Fullerton and Ashland avenues and by Division street is one of the most thickly populated areas in the city, it is claimed, a population of 125,000 being without a playground.

The movement is endorsed by the following organizations: The 33d Ward Improvement club, Wicker Park Chamber of Commerce, Greater Robey Street Property Owners' association, Milwaukee Avenue Business Men, North Avenue Business Men, Fullerton-Armitage-Damen Business Men, Cortland-Ashland Property Owners, and the Division-Damen Business Men. The district has sixteen schools enrolling 16,829 children, an announcement stated, all the schools being within three-quarters of a mile of the proposed playground site.

PREDICTS OCEAN AIR LINE TRAVEL WITHIN 5 YEARS

First Island Base Now Being Built.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Edward R. Armstrong, aeronautical engineer, in an address before the Midland club yesterday predicted that within five years mail and passengers will cross the Atlantic by air in 24 hours in airplanes leaving London and New York every hour.

Trans-oceanic air travel, now impractical as a public enterprise, will be made possible, he said, by anchoring a series of floating islands in the sea to serve as bases for the airplanes of the trans-Atlantic air line. The first of such islands, designed and developed by Mr. Armstrong, is now under construction at Wilmington, Del.

70 Feet Above Water.

This island will stand on air tanks supporting a large landing area for airplanes which will be approximately 1,100 long and 300 feet wide. The island will be 70 feet above the level of the water, out of reach of the highest waves and capable of resisting the severest disturbance of the water, the inventor stated.

The island will be held in place by clam shell sea anchors weighing 1,400 tons. It will support a hotel with accommodations for more than 100 persons and a hangar and repair and fueling stations. Because the islands will be outside the 12 mile limit the hotels will contain bars so that passengers may steady their nerves for ocean air travel, he said.

The first of these islands will be anchored midway between Bermuda and New York and form an operation base for a proposed air line between these points. Bermuda will then be brought within six or seven hours of New York by an air service which will make the journey in two hops, said Mr. Armstrong.

Plan Nine Atlantic Islands.

Following experimental operation of the New York-Bermuda line, nine seadromes will be anchored at intervals along a selected path across the Atlantic. The path will lie considerably south of the present steamship lanes, the inventor stated. Each island will be named after some outstanding figure in the history of aviation—Wright, Langley, Chanute and others.

Mr. Armstrong stated yesterday that at the present rate of development the islands will be completed and towed to their stations in the Atlantic by 1932 or at the latest by 1933 so that trans-Atlantic air service may be used by visitors bound for Chicago and the Century of Progress fair.

The inventor is a former resident of Chicago. Lately he has been an engineer for the Du Ponts in Wilmington who are said to be indirectly backing the venture in association with other interests.

OLD ARMY PLANE CRASHES; PILOT, PASSENGER HURT

An airplane pilot incurred a possible skull fracture and his passenger was severely cut about the face last night when an old army Jenny two-seater airplane in which they had just taken off from the Akers airport at the county line and Grand avenue, went into a nose dive.

Oswald Elfrig, 20 years old, 1029 Monroe avenue, River Forest, a licensed pilot, and Arnold Anderson, 23 years old, 3445 West Jackson boulevard, had rented the old plane for a ride. They were about 75 feet in the air at Grand avenue and Wolf road when their motor failed and the plane dived to the ground. J. W. Hunt, 1432 West Jackson boulevard, witnessed the crash and took the injured men to the Elmhurst hospital in his automobile. Elfrig was still unconscious late last night.

KILLED AS TRAIN HITS TRUCK.

Cherokee, Ia., July 25.—[Special.]—Huzh Fredenburg, 22, of Cherokee, driver of a truck for the Hanford Produce company of Sioux City, was killed at the town of Newell, Ia., this afternoon when his truck was struck by an Illinois Central passenger train.

AVIATRIX HURT

[Wide World Photo.]

BERLIN, July 25. — (AP) — Thea Rasche, Germany's flying fraulein, was slightly injured today when her plane crashed en route from Templehof to Warnemuende. The plane fell from a height of 120 feet and was wrecked. The aviatrix had just taken off when something went wrong with the plane.

On Aug. 13, 1927, Fraulein Rasche was forced down in the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., when, after diving beneath a bridge, her engine stalled as she made a sharp rise.

FIND BURKHARDT KILLED HIMSELF WHILE INSANE

Once Kin of Mayor; Dies of Gas.

A coroner's jury yesterday found that William Burkhardt, once a brother-in-law of Mayor Thompson and former deputy commissioner of public works in Thompson's first administration, had committed suicide while temporarily insane. Burkhardt, who was 55 years old and whose last public office was as a member of the Illinois commerce commission, was found dead in his room at 712 Diversey parkway yesterday morning, his head in the oven of a gas range with the gas turned on.

Until 1928 Burkhardt was married to a sister of Mayor Thompson's wife. She divorced him on grounds of desertion. They had one child, Mrs. Florence Burkhardt Gehl.

In 1926 Burkhardt, while a member of the commerce commission, disappeared from Springfield at a time he had arranged to join Mrs. Burkhardt in Florida. A search was carried on for six days and he was located in Vancouver, B. C., supposedly the victim of amnesia. But upon his return to Chicago he strenuously denied that he had amnesia. A message he had sent to his wife had not been delivered, he declared, and it was because of her not being informed of his change of plans that she reported him missing, he declared.

Later he was a patient at a sanatarium where it was said he had suffered a nervous breakdown. Mrs. Gehl testified at the inquest yesterday that two months ago he had attempted to commit suicide. She said her father had been injured in an automobile accident a year ago.

DELAY AWARDING OF ASSESSMENT LIST CONTRACT

Open Shop Printing Bid Is Opposed by Labor.

Publication of 1928 real estate assessments is awaiting a decision of the county board on the letting of contracts for printing.

Publication of the assessments by street and number, so that taxpayers may know what their neighbors pay, fulfils a requirement of the state law, which was revived on the 1927 assessment after being ignored for about thirty years.

The Magill-Weinsheimer company, a nonunion concern, has submitted a bid of $41,096 for the work, and the Atwell Printing company, a union concern, a bid of $99,472. Augustus S. Peabody, president of the Citizens' association, in a letter yesterday urged the county commissioners to award the contract on a strictly business basis and save taxpayers approximately $58,000.

Postponed After Labor Plea.

Both bids were submitted on July 7. The finance committee of the county board recommended that the contract to be awarded to the lowest bidder, the Magill-Weinsheimer company, which proposed to print the lists by a planograph process to effect a saving. When the board met on July 22 to award the contract, John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, asked that the board refuse to give the contract to an open shop company. As a result of his plea the board postponed action on the bids.

J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert, said that the publication awaits action of the board, as the preliminary work of compiling the lists has been completed. He has expressed himself as favoring the planograph process because it is faster and more accurate. Mr. Peabody points out that the board is required by law to award the contract to the lowest bidder.

Ordered by Chairman Malone.

The 1927 publication, at the order of William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission, was the first in the county since 1898. Each taxpayer learned at a glance what his assessment was and how it compared with that of his neighbor. The resulting disclosure of gross inequalities caused the tax commission to order the reassessment.

Each 1927 list covered a precinct, giving the name and street number of the property owner, with his assessed land and building valuations, with any changes made by the board of review. The 1928 lists will cover from one to four square miles in country and city townships. In addition to the information in the 1927 lists, those for 1928 will give the size of lots and are to be accompanied by maps giving unit foot values on land as fixed under the reassessment. Approximately 1,000,000 lists are to be printed.

MARGARET QUAN DIVORCED FROM PHILIP COYNE

Mrs. Margaret Quan Coyne yesterday was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Gentzel from Philip Coyne of Wilmington, Del., who is a son of William Coyne, a vice president of the Du Pont de Nemours company. Mrs. Coyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Quan, of 38 East Elm street, charged cruelty.

The couple were married last Jan. 20 in a ceremony at Holy Name cathedral that was an event of the winter season. Mrs. Coyne declared that she left her husband three weeks after their return from a honeymoon trip to the West Indies and has since been living with her parents.

She charged that a series of cruel treatments began on her wedding day when Coyne gave her a shove. Soon after the marriage service he left her and did not return until four hours later when she communicated with him by telephone, the court was informed.

Ex-Judge Guilty of Mail Fraud; Faces 5 Year Term

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Ashen and trembling, former Kings county Judge W. Bernard Vause this afternoon heard a federal jury find him guilty of using the mails to defraud in the course of the two years' career of the Columbia Finance corporation, which toppled and fell last December, carrying the life savings of hundreds of small east side investors with it. He was found guilty on all thirteen counts named in the indictment.

JUDGE W. B. VAUSE.

Samuel Schuchman, called the "brains" of the Columbia, also was found guilty, and so was Harry Cruso, one of the clerks in the organization. The four other defendants—Louis N. Vause, the judge's brother; William Rayman, Samuel Cruso, and Max Barmak—were found not guilty.

Contains Twelve Counts.

The maximum penalty for mail fraud is five years' imprisonment for each count and a fine of $10,000 on each count. Where more than one count is involved the prison sentences usually run concurrently. The maximum penalty for conspiracy is two years. The indictment contained twelve counts of specific mail fraud and one of conspiracy.

Judge Vause's many legal troubles began last spring and reached their climax when he, a judge and accustomed for the last seven years to sit in judgment upon other men, shuffled dispiritedly into the federal court on June 17 to be judged himself. His actual appearance in the courtroom had been preceded by a division of alienists over the question of his mental and physical fitness to go on trial. Judge Coxe accepted the view of government alienists that he was merely "scared to death" and not ill at all.

Arraigned as Perjurer.

The storm broke over his head on May 6, when he was indicted for mail fraud by a federal grand jury. Four days later United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle revealed that Vause had accepted a fee of $250,000 from the United American lines in 1926 for obtaining pier leases from the dock department.

Vause was arraigned in federal court a few days later on a charge of perjury. A county grand jury indicted him for grand larceny in connection with the Columbia Finance corporation's failure. Within a week it was charged that under his trusteeship the $65,000 estate of a Brooklyn widow dwindled to about $40. Suit was brought against him to compel an accounting of the estate.

Vause is one of four New York judges to be ousted from office by financial scandals within the last year.

NATIONALISTS OF EGYPT DEFY KING; MEET SECRETLY

CAIRO, Egypt, July 26.—[Saturday.]—(AP)—Nationalist deputies early this morning held a secret so-called "session of parliament" at the Saadist club and passed a motion of non-confidence in the government of Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha. The meeting was convened in defiance of King Fuad civil disobedience campaign and the government.

The Wafdists met under the presidency of Abdel Salaam Fahmy, vice president of the chamber of deputies, which has been adjourned by order of the king.

After the meeting Nahas Pasha, former premier and Wafdist leader, announced the Nationalists would immediately start a non-coöperation movement beginning with refusal to pay taxes much in the same fashion as Mahatma Gandhi did in the Indian convened in defiance of King Fuad civil disobedience campaign.

MASSEN INSISTS ON AMENDMENT TO PHONE PERMIT

Guards Against Delay in Subway Building.

Ald. John A. Massen [48th] forecast trouble for the pending telephone franchise yesterday unless the ordinance specifies definitely that the phone company shall pay the cost of relocating its conduit, cables, wires and equipment in the proposed subways. The aldermanic gas, oil and electric light committee has been expected to refer the franchise to the whole council Tuesday, but reports yesterday were that it may be deferred.

In the opinion of a number of committee members the ordinance now provides that the relocation expense must be borne by the Illinois Bell company. But Ald. Massen thinks a "joker" may be hidden in the legal phrases of the document.

Sees Danger to Subways.

"It will be impossible," said Massen in an interview, "to construct subways until the matter of the removal and relocation of the subsurface public utility equipment involved has been solved. To defer the solution of the problem may serve to create a basis for litigation which may delay subway construction. The time to settle the matter is now."

"The franchise ordinance as it stands does not settle the problem. The provision which obligates the company to accept and perform the terms and provisions of any valid ordinance directing the removal and relocation of its sub-surface equipment which the city may enact decides nothing. The company may feel that the provisions of the ordinance relating to the allocation of cost and expenses are neither fair nor reasonable and, if so, it may contend that the ordinance is invalid. It would be better to settle differences by negotiation now than by litigation later.

"In dealing with this problem a formula ought to be worked out that can be applied not only in the case of the State street subway but to the west side subway and any other subway which may be constructed.

Asks About $50,000,000 Fund.

"The Illinois Bell company carries a reserve of more than $50,000,000, against depreciation of its Chicago properties. It is difficult to believe that such a depreciation fund does not include depreciation incident to the construction of sewers, water mains and subways requiring the removal of conduits.

Careful consideration should be given this phase of the problem, for, if the users of the telephone company service have already contributed the funds against which the expense of the removal and relocation about to be required may be charged, the problem is simplified considerably."

Ald. A. J. Horan [29th] has demanded that the responsibility for relocation expense be made clear and he said last night that at Tuesday's council meeting that he would introduce amendments bearing on the matter.

LAWYER ASSAILS CASE ACTION IN MAGUIRE HEARING

Special Assistant State's Attorney Charles Center Case, prosecuting the petition to oust Fred V. Maguire as chairman of the board of election commissioners on the charge that Maguire permitted persons with police records to serve as election officials, was charged with blackening the reputations of election officials. The charge was made by Attorney John Tyrell, representing the Republican county central committee.

Attorney Tyrell objected to the introduction of cards bearing police records of persons with the same names as election officials, submitted by Case in an effort to substantiate his charges. Tyrell declared that the hearing is becoming a farce. Of the 328 cards examined by County Judge Edmund Jarecki all but 47 have been ruled out. The judge pointed out that Case himself had once had an altercation with the police over parking.

"When they found I wasn't parking they sought to change the charge to disorderly conduct," Case said.

"The remark was not intended to besmirch you," the judge said, "but merely to show you how unfair it is to some of these people to bring them in when the charge is not a penal one."

KRENN & DATO SUED FOR $50,000 IN REALTY DEAL

A suit for $50,000 damages against Krenn & Dato, real estate brokers, and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick was filed in Superior court yesterday. The bill was drawn by Attorney Charles A. Scott, on behalf of Miss Etta M. McCormick and Miss Nellie M. McCormick, sisters, of 5519 Race avenue.

According to Attorney Scott, the sisters contracted to pay $50,000 for a tract in Niles Center, which the realty concern represented was originally owned by Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, and have paid $30,000 to date on the contract. The plaintiffs allege the property is worth only $10,000 and declare the Illinois Supreme court has ruled the contract is invalid.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick is named in the suit, the attorney said, because she lent her name to the deal and therefore the sisters placed confidence in the transaction.

Woman, 67, Not Starved to Death, Physicians Say

Miss Diana Schreiner, 67 years old, 4948 Gunnison avenue, died of tuberculosis of the kidneys and not as a result of starvation, physicians announced following an autopsy at the Belmont hospital yesterday. Following Miss Schreiner's death on Thursday an opinion was expressed that, in view of her emaciated condition when received at the hospital, she may have died of starvation. Jacob Pfeiffer, 78 years old, the woman's brother-in-law, and Joseph Shea, 57, her nephew, with whom she lived, were questioned and then released by police.

HURT IN QUAKE

Italian King Views the Ruins of Cities.

Evellina are full. Some of the patients are still delirious from the terror of the first night when their houses fell on them.

In the Foggia hospital is a farmer from Villanova still in delirium, who keeps repeating the phrase, "Villanova is no more."

In the streets of Foggia tonight masses of men, women, and children lie out in the open on mattresses. They are inhabitants of the town, still afraid that there will be another quake.

Freaks Wrought by Quake.

Everywhere there are hospital tents and frantically working salvage gangs. Nearly all the houses have been destroyed in Aquilonia. A few protruding walls are still holding together. More than 500 dead have been pulled out of the piles of masonry, and the work still goes on.

Lacedonia, formerly a smiling city of vineyards and olive trees, is not recognizable. The church is crumbled and the houses are heaps of stones.

Curious freaks were wrought by the quake. The San Rocco church in Lacedonia was laid in ruins, but its saint was left intact in its niche protruding from the ruins.

Today was one of funerals throughout the area. Some of the dead are being taken to Foggia, Potenza and Naples, while many are being interred near the ruins of their villages. The funeral processions, headed by country curates and followed by weeping relatives, wind slowly to the graveyards which, in many cases, have also been wrecked.

A "CITY OF DEAD"

BY NELSON PAGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MELFI, Italy, July 25.—Wednesday's earthquake was a dreadful blow to Melfi, whose inhabitants were celebrating a good crop this season with wine and song. An indication that something abnormal was looming was a suffocating atmosphere and a burning gray sky during the previous two days, which signs are usually attributed to approaching seismic disasters.

All the injured who have been extracted from the quake ruins in Melfi have been transported to hospitals in Foggia, Potenza, and Bari.

Guides showing the correspondent around the town made vague gestures with their hands here and there as we passed certain bunches of ruined buildings where entire families are said to be buried.

Soldiers, militiamen, and Red Cross aids keep on digging in hope of making new rescues.

The dead were lined up in the central square until last night, but they were taken to the cemetery today to receive a speedy burial after hasty religious ceremonies. The fear of disease has obliged the authorities to order the dead buried as soon as they are recovered from the ruins.

Around the large fountain on the outskirts of the town groups of natives crowd to drink cool water, while others timidly try to reach the temporary relief headquarters to ask the authorities for bread, which is rapidly growing scarce on account of the interrupted communications and the scanty automobile service here. Bread lines must soon be formed.

BOOKS SMOOT TALKED ABOUT SEIZED HERE

Thomas Healy, the literary critic of the United States attorney's staff, will have some hot weather reading to do next week when Collector of Customs Anthony Czarnecki presents him with "Lady Chatterley's Lover," by D. H. Lawrence, and James Joyce's "Ulysses," seized yesterday in the customs parcel post.

These titles have been widely advertised by Senator Smoot, who used them as examples in supporting a measure for censorship of "obscene" books. Under the present tariff act, customs officials may seize "obscene, immoral or treasonable" volumes, but a court must adjudge them objectionable before they may be destroyed.

Mr. Healy will read the books, together with several others treating of birth control, and if he agrees with Senator Smoot, a libel action will be instituted. Thirteen volumes, valued at $130, were seized.

150 MILLIONS IN WENDEL ESTATE PIQUES GOTHAM

Death of Next to Last Heir Stirs Curiosity.

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—What is to become of the $150,000,000 fortune erected in real estate of this city by John G. Wendel, one of New York's earliest millionaires?

Wise speculators in city property are not the only ones who would like an answer to this question. Many others are equally interested—if not for similar reasons—because this great fortune is inseparably associated with one of New York's Poe-like mysteries—that of the six granddaughters of the founder of the estate.

One Alone Remains.

There are not six of them now, however, but only one. The last of the long Wendel line so far as is known, she is an octogenarian, a spinster and a recluse. All this vast fortune, greater in its property holdings than that of the Astors and the Goelets, has now come into her hands, either by will or the absence of one, and until she has passed on to join her sisters and her brother, eccentrics all, the sentence with which this chronicle opens is likely to remain unanswered.

The name Wendel is not generally known in this city; that is, not as the names Vanderbilt, Astor, Goelet, Gould, Belmont and the like are known. But there are few natives who walk or ride on 5th avenue who have not become familiar with the obviously mysterious and forbidding four story dwelling at the northwest corner of 39th street.

Lived as Hermits.

This is the home place of the Wendels, a dour-looking house in which these Wendel sisters and their brother lived as hermits, eschewing practically everything of the life that went on about them, locking themselves away behind the barricade of their locked doors and their millions.

That correct information might be obtained as to the property holdings of this strange, uncommunicative family, newspapers reporters consulted the assessment rolls of the city and dug out the record of nearly 100 office buildings, lofts, apartment houses, tenements, dwellings and sites now owned by the last survivor of the house of Wendel, Miss Ella V. von E. Wendel.

Many of the buildings are in the highest priced sections of the city. Six of them are office buildings on Broadway, one or two are located in the financial district, and several are in the theatrical district.

Founded Fortune from Furs.

Of the great estate represented by these realty holdings the foundations were, as in the case of the Astor fortune, in fur trading. In fact, the first Wendel in this country was a contemporary of the original John Jacob Astor, and it was he who set the family in its path of aloofness and self-sufficiency.

Reversion of the estate to Miss Ella Wendel came with the death last Sunday of her sole surviving sister, Mrs. Rebecca Wendel Swope, at her summer home at Quogue, L. I.

One of the peculiarities of the estate was that no matter what property might be acquired, it was never subsequently to be sold. This was an obligation imposed by the first John Wendel, and it was such a watchword of the family that in the unprepossessing offices of the estate at No. 175 Broadway—one of the Wendel properties—there hung this curtly worded sign: "No real estate for sale."

True to it, the Wendels never sold, never improved, except at the expense of the lessor, and never relinquished an inch of their holdings save when forced to do so by condemnation proceedings in the city's march of progress.

DEATHS OF TWO CHILDREN RAISE AUTO TOLL TO 544

George Bunyea, 10 years old, of Crestwood, died at St. Francis hospital in Blue Island yesterday after being struck by an automobile at Cicero avenue and 147th street. The boy was riding a bicycle en route to the Euclid Hill golf course where he was a caddy. A. B. Hutchinson, 4900 West 162nd street, the driver, was held.

Four year old Angelo Paone, 604 South Racine avenue, died at the Mother Cabrini hospital from injuries received Thursday night when he ran in front of an automobile while chasing a ball at Harrison street and Racine avenue.

These two deaths raised Cook county's motor toll for the year to 544.

A coroner's jury yesterday recommended that Hans Skogman, 35 years old, 1831 North Washtenaw avenue, be held for manslaughter as the result of an accident in which his machine fatally injured Mrs. Kate Sayre, 4728 North Rockwell street, last July 5. Mrs. Sayre died Thursday. Witnesses testified Skogman was intoxicated.

Chicagoan Is Sentenced for Girl's Death by Chloroform

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., July 25.—[Special.]—Donald Allison, 319 North Kedzie boulevard, Chicago, today pleaded guilty to first degree manslaughter in connection with the death of Ursula Land, 19, German immigrant girl.

His trial for the murder of the girl was suddenly halted when defense counsel announced Allison had changed his plea from not guilty to first degree manslaughter. He was sentenced to from 5 to 10 years at the state prison by Municipal Judge George A. Shaughnessy and will be taken to Waupun tomorrow.

Admits Buying Chloroform.

The change in plea was based on a section of the homicide statutes which hold a person assisting in self-murder is guilty of first degree manslaughter. Allison admitted purchasing the chloroform causing the girl's death. The body of Ursula was found in a Schroeder hotel room June 8.

"This is the old story of a married man who goes out with another woman, and yours is the usual fate in those circumstances," Judge Shaughnessy said in pronouncing sentence.

Allison, an interior decorator, when he left the courtroom, was greeted by his wife and two sons. They met him in the prisoners' room and talked with him before he was taken back to the county jail.

Denounces Dead Girl.

Mrs. Allison denounced the dead girl, saying: It was her fault. She knew Donald was married and even had seen his two children, but would not leave him alone. I'll do the best I can to support the boys and will wait patiently for Donald to serve his time and join us again."

Allison declared he was willing to take his medicine and was glad his wife sees things as she does. He said Judge Shaughnessy agreed to do what he could to help his wife and the boys along while he is in prison.

Bowman Accepts Plea.

As soon as court convened today F. Carney Nelligan, defense counsel, declared he wished to make a motion, and then made the change in Allison's plea. It was agreeable to District Attorney George Bowman. Judge Shaughnessy pronounced sentence a few minutes later.

The girl and Allison came to Milwaukee June 7, registering at the Schroeder as Mr. and Mrs. Andrews of Muskegon, Mich. Allison was identified as the man who had purchased chloroform in a drug store a block away from the hotel. Her body was found the next day by hotel employes.

ing, so far as could be determined, the parentage of the babies. If they ask for further advice or action from him, he will take it under advisement; otherwise, he will do nothing, he said.

Attorney O'Hara, after a conference with the Watkinses, said that every one else had an opinion about which baby was which, but that he would reserve his. The Watkinses contemplate a suit for at least $100,000 against the Englewood hospital, he said.

Among other things, he will seek to learn if there is any way of distinguishing which baby is which, he said. He will confer with Dr. Kegel regarding the latter's scientific conference, and will investigate what was done in the conference of "practical physicians."

Furthermore, Mr. O'Hara said, he will call a group of Chicago mothers to meet in his office at 100 North La Salle street this afternoon. They will be asked what they, as mothers, believe should be done to determine the parentage of the babies. He will suggest that they take action to obtain passage of a state law "protecting the rights of parenthood by requiring uniform, adequate measures for identifying children born in hospitals."

Plans Court Action.

Mr. Watkins, whether he is convinced he has the right child or not, will take the case into court to establish legally the question, according to O'Hara. Otherwise, he pointed out, if Watkins became a millionaire, the present Bamberger baby would have a good case against his millions at Mr. Watkins' death.

"I'm not worried about my future millions, but I want to get this thing settled now," Mr. Watkins said. "If we wait much longer, we'll be so crazy about this baby we'll hate to give him up. I feel kind of sorry for him now, as it is."

"If only people wouldn't keep telling me he looks like me or like his daddy, and get me mixed up," said Mrs. Bamberger as she washed the baby's shirts."

FIND DROWNED GIRL'S BODY.

The body of Miss Catherine Obrenski, 18 years old, 25 West 119th street, was recovered yesterday by the Willow Springs police from the Lemont, Ill., stone quarry in which she was drowned Wednesday night while swimming there with a group of friends.

BOY SCOUT SEES HIS GIRL WITH OTHER BOY AND DIES UNDER TRAIN

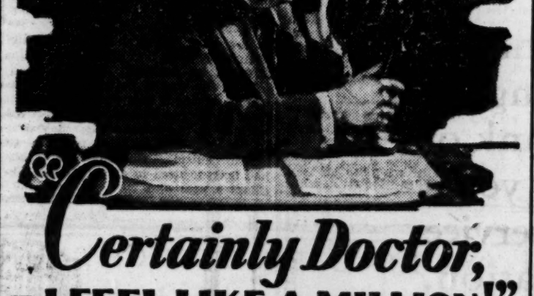

New York, July 25.— [Special.] — Love did not come too late for Everett Davis, 15 year old Boy Scout of Valley Stream, L. I. It came too soon. Today his decapitated body was found lying across the track of the Long Island railroad near the Sunrise highway, where he had thrown himself to die under the wheels of the first train when he made up his mind that his girl sweetheart did not love him.

Some time in the gray dawn he penned two notes, put them in his pocket and went out to the tracks to take his life.

One of the notes indicated the lad's despondency. It read:

"Give my ring to Florence Elizabeth Phillips. Give my bike and blouses to K. Bennett, a chum. Don't let my parents see my body. Throw it in the ocean. Tell Florence [F. E. P.] I died because I could not have her."

Police say Everett saw his sweetheart sitting with another lad on her porch when he left to go home after walking with a chum.

"Certainly Doctor, —I FEEL LIKE A MILLION!"

Suggests State Go Ahead Without Binding U. S.

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley today sent another letter to Gov. L. L. Emmerson of Illinois in the negotiations over the use of state funds to expedite completion of the Illinois waterway.

Mr. Hurley declined to accept the governor's proposal for joint contracts under which the federal government would join with the state in taking over construction contracts already made by the state. As a counter suggestion Mr. Hurley is understood to have proposed a plan by which the state would go ahead with the expenditure of a portion of its available waterway fund without forcing the federal government to assume any obligations under the old state contracts.

Gov. Emmerson in his letter to Secretary Hurley had held the latter's plan for the loan of $3,000,000 from money reserved for construction of bridges to the federal government for waterway construction to be illegal unless the money is expended under contracts in which the state is a party.

Senator Charles S. Deneen [Rep., Ill.] conferred today with Secretary Hurley on the Illinois waterway situation following a talk with President Hoover.

Senator Deneen said that Secretary Hurley and the President are anxious to bring about the completion of the Illinois waterway at the earliest possible date.

SECRETARY FLIES TO ILLINOIS.

Secretary of War Hurley and Assistant United States Attorney General Seth W. Richardson last night were guests of Edward J. Baker at the Baker hotel, St. Charles, Ill., following a five hour plane flight from Bolling field, Washington, D. C. The plane was piloted by Lieut. C. W. Cousland.

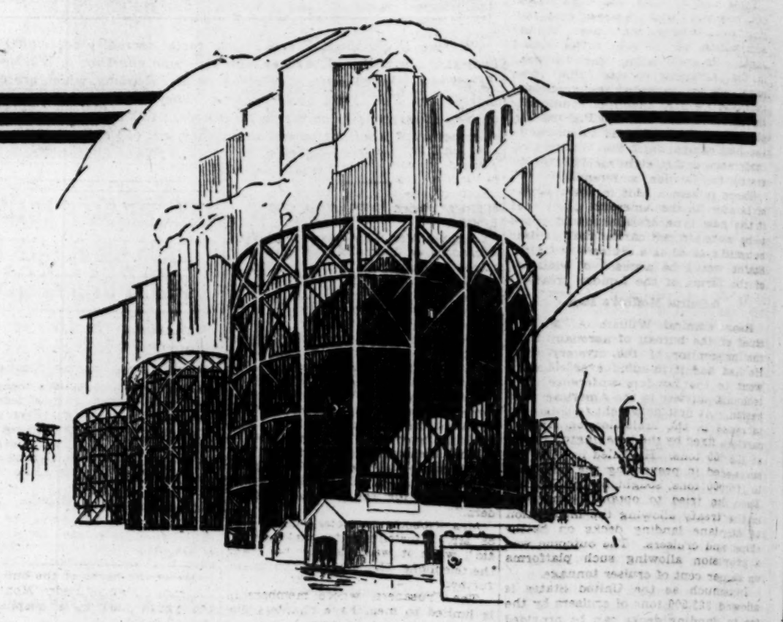

Secretary Hurley and Mr. Richardson are on their way to inspect flood control plans along the Missouri and Mississippi rivers. Early this morning the secretary and his party will leave for St. Paul, Minn., thence visiting Fargo and Bismarck in North Dakota. Maj. Gen. Frank B. Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area, was at Municipal airport last night, believing Secretary Hurley would land there.

U. S. HAS SCHEME FOR CRUISERS TO CARRY AIRPLANES

Report of Plans Upsets Britain and Japan.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—A mystery cruiser that may revolutionize American national defense policies is being designed by the bureau of aeronautics of the navy department to take advantage of the provisions of the London navy limitation treaty ratified by the United States senate this week.

The cruiser is a six inch gun ship of between 9,000 and 10,000 tons displacement, designed to carry airplanes in the manner of an aircraft carrier. The designers have not reached a final decision on the number of airplanes that it would be possible for such a ship to carry, but it is known that it will be in excess of 20. It is denied that it will carry as many as 75 planes, as rumored in London.

The designing of the ship has been carried on in secret and it was hoped that its adoption by the navy department could be brought about and the first of the type completed without the admiralties of other nations learning of the departure from conventional types of fighting ships undertaken by the United States.

News Leaks Out.

Some hint of what was afoot leaked out, however, with the result of stirring considerable excitement in the admiralties of Great Britain and Japan. So great is the interest abroad in the American project that some naval officers hazarded the prediction that there will be a competition among the naval powers in building the airplane carrying cruiser as there was in the battleships until the Washington conference and in eight inch gun cruisers till the London conference.

There is also a hint in the reaction of London to the American plans that if the new type of ship should prove to be more aircraft carrier than cruiser but still classed as a cruiser the United States would be accused of violation of the terms of the London treaty.

Admiral Moffett's Idea.

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, is the progenitor of the mystery ship. He has had it in mind ever since he went to the London conference as a technical adviser to the American delegation. At first he sought to obtain an increase in the limitation on aircraft carriers fixed by the Washington treaty at 135,000 tons. He failed in this, but succeeded in preventing the reduction to 100,000 tons, sought by the British. Then he tried to obtain a provision in the treaty allowing the installation of airplane landing decks on battleships and cruisers. The outcome was a provision allowing such platforms on 25 per cent of cruiser tonnage.

Inasmuch as the United States is allowed 323,500 tons of cruisers by the treaty, landing decks can be provided for more than 80,000 tons. Admiral Moffett immediately decided to ask the general board to approve the construction of eight six inch gun cruisers carrying airplanes and set his draftsmen at work on designs.

Must Carry Several Guns.

Under the treaty the United States can build at least seven or eight more six inch gun ships of nearly 10,000 tons displacement each. If each were a conventional cruiser it would carry twelve six inch guns. It will be necessary to reduce the number of guns to accommodate the airplane landing deck and the present intention is to provide 6 or 9 guns. If there were less than six guns other nations doubtless would claim that the ship was an aircraft, not a cruiser, and therefore chargeable to the aircraft carrier allowance.

There will be a fight in the general board over the adoption of the design, there being much opposition in that body to six inch gun ships. It will be urged in behalf of the Moffett plan that the aircraft carrying cruiser would be a formidable commerce raider. It could keep out of gun range of even eight inch gun convoy cruisers and dispatch airplanes to bomb the merchantmen, which, if convoyed, would not be immune to attack. The power to launch such long distance attacks, it is argued, would go far to offset the lack of outlying naval bases by the United States.

3 BANDITS WHO SLEW POLICEMAN HANG TOGETHER

Kansas City, Mo., July 25.—(AP)—Three bank robbers who sprayed bullets into a Republican national convention crowd after an attempt to rob the Home Trust company here two years ago, were hanged simultaneously today for the murder of Policeman James H. Smith, victim of their fire.

They were Tony "Lollypop" Mangiaracina, Carl Nasello, machine gunner for the gang, and John Messino, driver of the bandit car.

The bandits' bullets also wounded four bystanders. Another died of heart failure.

Maurice Nagle, who rented his car to the bandits, and Tony Bonello, confessed member of the gang, are serving life terms.

R-101 on Test Flight; May Leave for Canada Monday

The great ship left Cardington this evening on a trial flight, and is expected to pass over London tomorrow evening. The air ministry states that the all night flight is a trial in preparation for the Canadian flight.

Blazing Rabbit Sets Fire to Timber in Maryland

Goldsboro, Md., July 25.—(AP)—A blazing rabbit was blamed today by Forest Warden A. J. Dhue for the destruction of 50 acres of timber by fire. Volunteers were fighting a blaze when the rabbit, its fur afire, dashed into unburned woods. Fire fighters gave chase, but were unable to check the spread of the flames, feeding on timber dried in a record drought.

WET CRUSADER ANSWERS ATTACK BY W. C. T. U. HEAD

Blames Prohibition for Shootings.

The battle between the Woman's Christian Temperance union in Lake county and the Lake Forest chapter of the Crusaders, who urge the repeal of the 18th amendment, was continued yesterday, when a letter was sent to Mrs. C. P. Tibbetts, president of the W. C. T. U., by Farwell Winston, former mayor of Lake Forest and commander of the Crusaders in Lake Forest.

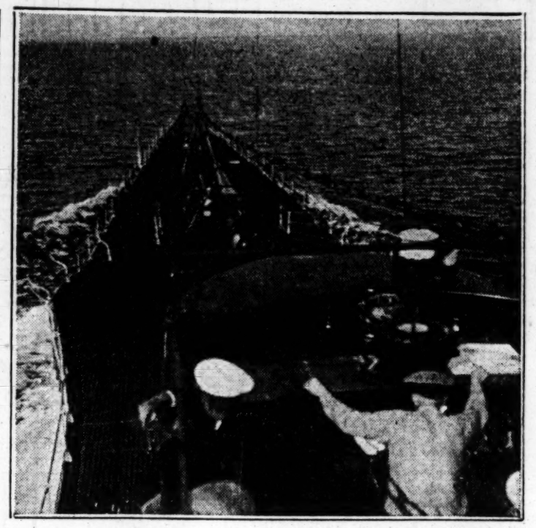

Mrs. Tibbetts had been quoted in Chicago newspapers yesterday as threatening that her group would oppose any candidate professing sympathy with the Crusaders. She restated the stand of the W. C. T. U. in support of the 18th amendment and said: "Candidates who have pledged support to the Crusaders will be opposed by the W. C. T. U. Our members will vote according to a candidate's record with regard to prohibition."

In reply Mr. Winston wrote: "The Crusaders of Lake county were surprised to hear that your organization is planning to fight efforts of our organization. Our organizations have many points in common, namely, temperance, opposition to saloons and to the creation in Lake county of an unwholesome atmosphere for our children. Both of us are opposed to the prevalence of speakeasies and neither of us wants to see Lake county become a haven for gangsters.

"Also, the Crusaders of Lake Forest are convinced that the present mismanagement and misenforcement which has been effected by the prohibition amendment is, in large part, responsible for the Fox Lake murders."

Mrs. Tibbetts characterized the tone of Mr. Winston's letter as "sarcastic" when it was read to her over the telephone. She refused to comment further.

The Crusaders, whose membership is limited to men, have chapters distributed over the country.

BULL BECOMES MOVIE VILLAIN; GORES 5 IN SPAIN

SEVILLE, Spain, July 25.—(AP)—A bullfight scene in the filming of a movie became too realistic today when the bull leaped over a fence and charged into a crowd. Five persons were gored and one is expected to die. Diestro Rayito, who had the part of a matador in the play, became a matador in fact and finally killed the animal.

INCREASED RATE ON FIRST CLASS MAIL PROPOSED

Washington, D. C., July 25.—While no definite action has been taken by the postoffice department toward increasing the rate on first class mail from 2 to 2½ cents, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown is in favor of the increase and it is understood he will recommend such action in his annual report this fall.

First indications of the possible boost were given by the postmaster general in a speech before the Bronx board of trade last month. Similar suggestions were made by Third Assistant Postmaster General Frederic A. Tilton before a group of publishers in Asheville, N. C., 10 days ago.

By increasing the rate on firstclass matter it is felt much of the annual deficit will be obviated.

HOOVER PICKS FESS TO TAKE HUSTON'S POST

R. H. Lucas Slated for Chief Aid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—With definite announcement from Claudius H. Huston that his resignation as chairman of the Republican national committee will be presented at a meeting of the executive committee on Aug. 7, party leaders went ahead today with plans for the selection of new officers and the inauguration of an active campaign.

President Hoover, to whom Mr. Huston late last night made known his intention to resign, advised Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], senate majority leader, and others who called upon him today that it is his desire that the executive committee on Aug. 7 shall select Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] as chairman of the national committee and Robert H. Lucas, present commissioner of internal revenue, as chairman of the executive committee.

Change in Plan Hinted.

Some members of the committee were authority for a report that the executive committee might only elect Mr. Lucas, deferring the choice of a chairman of the national committee until a meeting of the full membership can be called. This, however, was contrary to the plan as apparently approved by President Hoover.

Mr. Huston dropped out of sight again today after sending out a call for the Aug. 7 meeting. In his call Mr. Huston failed to mention the matter of his resignation, although in his statement last night following his conference with the President he said that the presentation of his resignation would be the purpose of meeting.

Fess Close to Hoover.

Senator Fess, who is slated for the chairmanship of the national committee, had campaign experience as chairman of the Republican congressional committee while a member of the house.

The plan is to have Mr. Lucas resign as commissioner of internal revenue and devote his entire time to the position of chairman of the Republican executive committee. It is intended that he shall be in active command of a publicity campaign to combat that which has been conducted by Jouett Shouse as chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee.

LIQUOR DESTROYED; OFFICERS THREATENED WITH DAMAGE SUITS

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Damage suits against United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle of Manhattan, United States Attorney Howard W. Ameli of Brooklyn, and United States Marshal Jesse D. Moore were threatened today by counsel for Count Maxence Thomas Marie Joseph Michael de Polignac and the J. M. Dooley Fireproof Warehouse corporation of Brooklyn on the ground that $30,000 worth of seized liquor was ordered destroyed, together with other articles from the warehouse, which a court order now decrees returned to the owners.

The intention to sue on the surety bonds of the public officials was made known late today by Thomas O'Rourke Gallagher, attorney.

LET'S GET TOGETHER AND GO.

Illinois and the federal government have not been making satisfactory headway in getting an early start on the waterway which the state has brought nearly to completion and which the Washington government is to take over, finish and operate. Gov. Emmerson is advised by the attorney general that there is no warrant in law for transferring state funds to the use of the federal engineers, to be repaid when federal appropriations are available, and Secretary of War Hurley is disinclined to proceed along the line of the governor's suggestions.

The situation is a bit out of the ordinary. The state, which hasn't enough money to complete the works, has some reserved for bridge construction required when the waterway is in operation. The federal government will have $7,500,000 for the work but it is not now available. There are a number of reasons urging an immediate start. It is an opportunity for government construction to have economic effect. It means employment, development of transportation and trade expansion. It will be conceded that the state and the United States are thoroughly responsible financially and that what either obligates itself to do will be done. The terms of an agreement will be kept. The two governments are joined in a common purpose and are not seeking to do each other out of anything.

The embarrassment is one of the moment. If Mr. Emmerson and Mr. Hurley would get together with their legal advisers they could find a way satisfactory to both, probably as easily as they can find points of disagreement. The thing is to start the work.

IF IT IS TO BE MR. FESS.

From day to day the status of Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, remains interestingly in doubt and yet not in doubt. At this writing the tidings from Washington, the scene of perplexity, is that he will hand in his resignation Aug. 7 to a meeting of the executive committee. That is confirmed by a statement from Mr. Huston and seems to be conclusive.

Mr. Huston's feelings in the matter are explicable and natural. It is apparent that he is being sent on his way with as much kindness and graciousness as possible, but nevertheless for the good of the party. The Republican committeemen feared that the Democrats would talk of Mr. Huston and Muscle Shoals. They also feared that Mr. Huston if irritated would talk himself. It would be particularly irritating for any citizen to learn that the Republican party management thought it would be held in greater esteem without him as chairman.

The Republican national management has not made a conspicuous record for sensitiveness. It has not objected to the position which Bishop Cannon assumed in its affairs in the south, but has welcomed all aid which could be attracted to it, and so far as anything shows to the contrary it may be assumed that the bishop would be given campaign funds again on a good guess that he could redeliver Virginia or North Carolina. This would make Mr. Huston's protest explicable against the indignity of retiring him for the good of the party. Such a reflection upon a man's works would appear extraordinary indeed.

Nevertheless it seems that Mr. Huston must go, with a method of dismissal which will have the appearance of a vote of confidence. It is understood that when this has been satisfactorily arranged the party management is prepared to take a bold and daring step and that Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio will be placed in the chairmanship.

That will be a clarion call for the progressive Republicans of the country to rally to the standard. Mr. Fess is such a stamping crusader as could walk ten miles on eggs and never crack a shell. This militant progressive could jump from daisy to daisy across a meadow and leave each stem unbowed. Under his chairmanship the national committee will meet the public questions of the country with a loud whisper of yes and no and maybe which will make history for future observers of political decision and action by a great party in a period of national uncertainties.

NICHOLAS ROOSEVELT AND THE FILIPINO POLITICIANS.

Nicholas Roosevelt, able publicist and student of our problems in the Pacific, has encountered the embarrassments of candor at the threshold of public office. His appointment as vice governor of the Philippines is objected to by Philippine politicians. For any one who has the possibilities of public office or political preferment of any sort to have written a book is perhaps a tactical error, as has been illustrated before in conspicuous cases. Mr. Roosevelt's book on the Philippines is a very thoughtful and honest book, and in the measure of its good judgment, informedness, and intellectual responsibility has offended ardent or at least vociferous advocates of Philippine independence. But in the same measure it commends itself to the candid and especially to the informed reader and ought to commend its author to the consideration of our government. Mr. Roosevelt will serve not only the interests of the United States but those of the Philippine peoples, as distinguished from their would-be political rulers, if he is given the opportunity.

THE TIME TO ELECTRIFY.

Money is plentiful these days and it can be borrowed at lower rates than have prevailed for many years. It is unlikely that money will be as cheap again for years to come. This is the time when corporations can borrow to the best advantage for capital improvements. It is the time when business builders of imagination and courage prepare their future prosperity.

It is the golden opportunity for the railroads to electrify their Chicago terminals and their suburban lines. In addition to cheap money, the railroads can now take advantage of lowered commodity prices. Money costs less and buys more, in all probability, than it will in the future. It was in times like these that the great railroad builders undertook their capital expenditures.

These probabilities should not be overlooked by Mr. Charles W. Hadley, chairman, and his associates of the Illinois commerce commission. He is in a position to bring pressure upon the railroads to electrify their terminals, and if he does so effectively, he will deserve the gratitude of the railroad companies as well as the public. There is excellent precedent for action in the matter by public authorities. The great impetus toward electrification of the New York terminals came not from the railroads themselves but from public officials. The lines were electrified only after the improvement was made mandatory.

In times of depression like these we should think that railroad executives would be particularly friendly to investment in suburban services. When other sources of revenue are falling off, the suburban business continues more nearly at its normal volume. A railroad company with an established suburban business has an ace in the hole. If, in addition, it has a modern suburban service, it is likely to find its business from this source increasing in the face of reductions in freight and other passenger revenues. We have not seen recent reports of revenues from the Illinois Central's electrified suburban lines, but we venture the prediction that they compare favorably with almost any other service which the railroad offers. We should not be astonished to learn that the suburban services have enjoyed a healthy growth while other traffic has slumped.

The indications are that the street railway companies of Chicago, though in receivership, will be able to borrow money in the present market at favorable terms. If this can be done, there is no reason why well established, successful railroad systems, such as the North Western, the Burlington, the New York Central and the Rock Island, cannot do as much. The opportunity to lead them in the direction of their own welfare is Mr. Hadley's.

THE BRIDGE NUISANCE REMAINS.

With the traffic on North Michigan avenue blocked from the bridge to Pearson street and from the bridge to Randolph on the south—a stretch of a mile in all—sweltering thousands wait for a sand barge to make its leisurely passage through the draw. It passes on and another bridge is raised and more sweltering motorists wait, and then the next bridge and the next, until every entrance to the loop has been shut off in succession.

To the individual and to the city the loss in time and the price in nervous strain, discomfort, and irritation are heavy. It would be accepted if it were a necessary circumstance or an alternative compensated or justified by a greater good. But it is not. The craft which impose this nuisance are a few local carriers. They are not in interstate commerce. They are not ships; they are trucks, and their business is not a part of navigation in the sense intended by federal law. They should be compelled to adjust their hours of use to conform to the convenience and interest of the city, or they should be replaced by craft designed to go under the bridges. As it is, a very small tail has been wagging a very large dog with the assistance of the federal authority. The situation is a gross injustice to Chicago and its people and the recent adjustment of hours falls very far short of correction.

Editorial of the Day

CHICAGO IS MISREPRESENTED.

[Council Bluffs (Ia.) Nonpareil.]

Citizens of Chicago must adopt a policy of counteracting the bad advertising their city is getting through its gunmen and gangsters. All that is necessary to be done in this case is to spread the truth. Chicago is one of the best and most progressive cities in the world. The gangsters in the city are a trifling minority of the total population.

Chicago is in truth a marvelous city—the second in size in the United States. It contains a million more people than the whole state of Iowa. Recently the citizens of that city approved a traction plan which will provide modern subway streets for transportation. This plan will cost $300,000,000 to install and it will be worth what it costs. Within a few years ocean going ships will carry cargoes to and from this great inland city. The St. Lawrence canal will make an ocean port of Chicago.

The city has had a marvelous growth and it has an even more marvelous future before it. In 1933 a world's fair will be held in Chicago to commemorate the completion of 100 years of existence as a city. In 1833 the town was organized. It was then an Indian trading post where the government had erected Fort Dearborn as a protection to straggling travelers, settlers and traders. No city in the world has ever grown so rapidly and so remarkably as has Chicago.

People who conduct themselves in a manner becoming good citizens and good neighbors are as safe in Chicago as they are anywhere else in the wide world. People who get into trouble there are those who seek and invite it.

The bad impression concerning Chicago due to the activity of its gangsters should be dissipated in order to make its great fair in 1933 a success equal to that which attended the effort in this line in 1893. People who have a real appreciation of the spirit, enterprise and intelligence of Chicago citizens confidently expect that they will not fail in their present effort. They will show the world that their city is the greatest center of commercial and industrial activity in the world and not just a habitat of hard boiled gangsters.

RULES TO SAVE CHILDREN.

DR. B. B. BAGBY says the following seven measures reduced the number of deaths of children under 15 years of age from 136 to 59. This was in Athens, Ga., and the comparison was between two four year periods.

1. Every home not connected with a sewer was provided with a sanitary pit privy.
2. A standard milk ordinance was adopted and enforced. All milk, butter, and buttermilk was either pasteurized or came from cows proved free from tuberculosis by a tuberculin test.
3. Every pregnant woman of whom they could learn in time was given a blood test. She had urine tests and blood pressure tests periodically and her weight was kept track of. She was supplied with diet lists and booklets on prenatal care.
4. A visiting nurse service was offered every baby within one week after birth. The baby was weighed and measured periodically. Breast feeding was urged. If symptoms of any threatening disease began to develop medical services were secured promptly.
5. Every school child had a physical examination once every two years. A nurse went to each school each morning to examine the children for evidence of contagion. Every child with a temperature one degree above normal was sent home to await developments. The children had dental work done.
6. Special effort was made to hold contagious diseases, including tuberculosis, under control.
7. Effort was made to educate and interest the citizenry in health.

Now Dr. Bagby is back in Virginia and Dr. Williams and the board of health are attempting to put that state on that seven plank platform by 1931. It was to promote this end that Dr. Bagby told the physicians of Virginia in a meeting of their state medical society of his Georgia experience. He began, however, by reminding them of how he had shown three cases of hookworm disease to his scoffing brethren twenty-six years earlier. Soon it came to be known that hookworm infestation was widespread in Virginia. Thanks to hookwork control measures this disease is now rather rare in that state.

PRICKLY HEAT.

Mrs. J. R. C. writes: I have heat rash very badly on my body just as soon as the warm weather begins. Will you kindly tell me what I can do for it? It burns and itches and is exceedingly uncomfortable.

REPLY.

This is probably prickly heat. The cause of prickly heat is keeping the skin in contact with sweat soaked garments. To prevent it wear light, cool, well ventilated clothing. If a garment becomes dripping wet remove it or dry it. Avoid fabrics that tend to become soppy when wet. Free use of dusting powders helps somewhat.

OF NO GREAT IMPORTANCE.

J. R. writes: For the last three years my tongue has been heavily coated. Although I have not suffered any serious illness, I should like to know whether or not it is caused by any internal disorders.

REPLY.

This is of no particular importance. Constipation is frequently the cause. That should be corrected by diet. Sleeping on the back, with consequent snoring and dry mouth, may be a cause.

Chewing gum as a remedy sometimes suffices.

TREATING POISON IVY.

J. D. K. writes: What is a good cure for poison ivy after it has reached the eczema stage?

REPLY.

Spray with a 2 per cent solution of tannic acid and cover with gauze moistened with the solution. Spray several times a day. Do not continue this for longer than one day.

After this use no treatment, or a simple covering dressing.

This method is suited for late cases only. Early cases should use a solution of ferrous sulphate used as a wash, or gasoline used the same way.

DOG SHOULD BE REPORTED.

Chicago, July 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My son was playing ball the other day. The ball went over the fence. He went after it just as the owner let out her police dog. The dog sprang at him and bit his arm. Must the dog be reported? S. D.

In the manual and outline of procedure for health officers for the control of communicable diseases published by the Illinois department of health, page 30, there appears the following general measure covering dog bites inflicted on humans: "Where person is bitten by a dog with no symptoms of rabies the dog shall be placed under the care of a veterinarian for observation for ten days to determine whether or not the dog is rabid." Further, "every case and suspected case shall be reported immediately to the local and state health authorities."

Section 1059 of the municipal code of Chicago requires a period of observation of 15 days. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

[Editor's Note: This is to correct answer previously published.]

CO-MAKER'S RISK.

Chicago, July 19. — [Legal Friend of the People.] — I signed a note as a co-maker for a friend who borrowed money from a loan bank. He now refuses to pay the remainder of the money, $90. Can the bank garnishee my wages if this man will not pay? I am married and have two children. H.P.

Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LITTLE PROTECTION.

Chicago, July 19. — [Legal Friend of the People.]—I purchased two lots, paying on a contract from a realty company. I am back in my payments and will probably lose my equity by forfeiture. There is a clause in the contract stating that if this contract is recorded the contract becomes void. However, I have placed the contract on record.

Will the recording of contract protect my interest in the real estate if the company should take the lots from me? C. N. H.

It is some protection, in the sense that it makes resale more difficult. It would not be absolute protection.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

HEY! THESE BABIES ARE ALL MIXED UP!

How in the world can we keep all these Roosevelts straight? There's so many of 'em goin' places and doin' things, and the newspaper headline writers have only room for the family name without putting in initials and titles. The headline says frinstance, "Roosevelt for Post in Philippines," and we exclaim in consternation, "Then he won't be a candidate for the presidency in 1932! Gosh!" But on the next page we find a headline that declares "Roosevelt Back in Porto Rico." That's news; we thought he was on his way to Manila by now. Then our eye shies over to the next page and we see where a Roosevelt is running for some office—gosh all hemlocks, and he's already elected to one office and appointed to two! Talk about your one-armed paperhanger. Then we figger out that the Porto Rico Roosevelt and the Philippines Roosevelt and the Albany Roosevelt and the running-for-office Roosevelt are four different people. Something should be done about this; the nurses have just got to quit mixing their tags.

ARGUMENT.

"Oh, don't be so prim.
You know I won't hurt you.
No man is charmed
by poorly feigned virtue!

"Why were you dancing out under the trees with nothing around you but darkness and breeze?"

"Why were you watching me?
How do you know
the paths that the night winds and I learned to go?

"Shame on you, friend,
for watching me there.
It was more than my body that I had laid bare!"

JEANNE DELAMATER.

THE FRENCH meteorological bureau is not any better than our weather man over here, but it uses more forceful language. Frinstance, in advising Coste, the airman who is waiting to start a flight to the U. S., the French weather shark said the weather was "deplorable." Which is much more illuminative than "high winds from northwest, probably cloudy." And if the French were to speak of the weather we had yesterday they would not only call it deplorable but also uncalled for, dastardly, and very likely damnable and extremely insulting.

Ah, When Love Is a Game of Three!

RHL: There is an ill-supported theory or hypothesis that wine works but once. I wish to oppose this hypothetical assumption with a thesis. Thus we have the opposites—and the battle is on. Thadius, you know, is my shy and timid friend. We acknowledge the same landlady, wear each other's clothes, dislike the same puddin' we had last week, and love the same girl. The name of the puddin' is Bread, the name of the girl is Eunice, and the name of the wine is Sauterne. Six months ago we met a grape juice merchant who gave us one quart of sauterne in a bottle which we were to put away while the wine worked. Also about that time we met Eunice. The sauterne kept busy working, and Eunice got a job in a bake shop. Then came progression—as the juice fermented, Eunice grew sweeter each day. Every Sunday night Thadius and I called on Eunice at her home, where we besieged the fair lady and her pa and ma with pounds of candy, dainty bon mots, and a game of bridge or two. As the Sundays passed the race to acquire the heart and hand of Eunice remained even and Thadius and I remained friends. Then came a Sunday of memorable date—I was laid low with a fever of many degrees, and Thadius hesitated. "No," he said, "I will not take advantage of a rival who is smitten with pain and ague—anyhow, I do not like to go calling alone—I need some one to back me up. I am shy and timid in the presence of ladies, and to go there alone—to go without you—no, I cannot do it." "Come, come," I said; "this is no time for such a display of weakness—this is Sunday night and you must go—Eunice expects us, and it would be the grossest deception to send our regrets now." "But I cannot go alone," said Thadius. "You must," said I. And before he could stop me I leaped out of bed, drew off a quart of sauterne, and, handing it to him, said, "Thadius, drink this or else forever after you're no friend of mine." Poor Thadius, he was beaten. Quietly he took a chair by the fire and drank the wine. "Now," said I after some minutes, when he had finished. "Very well," he said, "but can I wear your polka-dot tie?" . . . Two hours later Thadius returned. "Well," says I, "did you have a good time, did you sing any songs, did the wine work?" "It did," replied Thadius, "good and plenty—and when I asked her to marry me she said she already had a husband in Peoria." ORACLE.

Tie a String to Your Finger, Claudius, So You Won't Forget.

Hold everything. Claudius says he will resign Aug. 7. Well, that's better than nothing. But, oh Mr. Huston, you mean it, don't you? Please say you mean it, Claudius. Oh, it would be too cruel, Claudius, if you were just foolin'. Look at the G. O. P., Claudius, in tears and kneeling at your feet. Oh Claudius, do what you say and let go that national chairmanship when you say you will and the Republicans in the years to come will make Aug. 7 a greater day than the Fourth of July and celebrate with cannon and the ringing of bells and loud acclaim. Why, Aug. 7, Claudius, shall be a national holiday and a much greater one than even Christmas, New Year's day, the Fourth of July, or any of 'em. Aug. 7, Claudius, Aug. 7. Don't forget. Aug. 7, Aug. 7, Aug. 7.

JAMES EADS HOW, the hobo millionaire, has left his fortune "to produce justice and a classless order throughout the world." We don't know how much money is provided by the will for this purpose, but it will take at least a million times that much. Or better say a billion times. Or wait. What's bigger than a billion?

THE DRY RAID

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 26, 1865.

NEW YORK.—A note from Cyrus W. Field, dated London, July 11, concerning the laying of the Atlantic cable, says: "The Great Eastern will sail from the Nore on July 15. We expect to leave Valencia about July 19 and to arrive at Heart's Content during the first week of August. Everything is going on to our entire satisfaction."

WASHINGTON. — Richmond dispatches say that the confiscation act is being vigorously executed throughout Virginia and that the property of many persons pardoned by the President has been seized. In such cases the action is discontinued as soon as certificates of pardon are presented and court fees paid.

MADISON, Wis.—The president of the board of regents of the state university has received a letter from J. L. Packard, superintendent of schools at Chicago, declining his election as chancellor of the university.

NEWBERRY, N. C.—The Raleigh Progress says the native element, including the aristocracy, is growing more defiant every day and now openly threatens to hang Union men and Negroes as soon as troops are withdrawn.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 26, 1900.

CHEFOO. — Navigation bureau, Washington: Written message, signed Conger, dated July 4, received Tientsin, 21st, says: "Been besieged for weeks British legation. Grave danger general massacre by Chinese soldiers, who are shelling legation daily. Relief soon, if at all. City without government, except by Chinese army. Determined massacre all foreigners in Peking. Entry relief forces into city probably will be hotly contested." [Signed] Thomas.

CHICAGO.—Four women, caught in an explosion and fire on the upper floors of the Henning & Speed building, 125 Dearborn street, lost their lives either by burning or leaping from the windows.

LONDON.—Charles T. Yerkes, the guiding spirit of a syndicate which hopes to give London a system of underground electric rapid transit equal to anything in America, arrived here. It is safe to say that the public will hail with delight Mr. Yerkes' coming, as the present mode of travel between London and the suburbs is exceedingly poor.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 26, 1914.

VIENNA.—The controversy between Austria-Hungary and Servia has reached a crisis out of which may be born one of the greatest wars Europe has ever experienced. Late tonight diplomatic relations were broken off formally and martial law throughout the Austrio-Hungarian empire was declared. If a clash between Austria-Hungary and Servia comes it will involve Russia and Germany in a conflict which is likely to affect nearly every power on the continent. The public generally regards war as almost a certainty. According to newspaper messages received here mobilization of the Servian army was ordered at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. King Peter and the principal members of the government left Belgrade on a special train, realizing the Austrians could capture the city without difficulty.

BERLIN.—The German emperor left Bergen, Norway, for Berlin as the result of the serious situation that has cropped up between Austria and Servia. All divisions of the German fleet have been ordered to assemble at prearranged places on the Norwegian coast. Cries of "Down with Russia!" resound tonight in Unter den Linden, where vast throngs are moving through the Brandenburger gate to the famous Avenue of Victory around the column of Victory, composed largely of French cannon captured in 1870.

ST. PETERSBURG. — Mobilization of the Russian army will proceed immediately.

PARIS.—France waits on Russia in the Austro-Servian conflict. The foreign office said tonight that the situation is grave but not desperate.

CETTINJE, Montenegro.—Austrian troops were on the move today in the vicinity of Ragusa, Dalmatia, and 22 Austrian warships had assembled in the Bay of Cattaro.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full name and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

COLD WEATHER VACATIONS.

Cicero, Ill., July 18.—Dr. W. A. Evans wrote in the July 16 TRIBUNE that the time has come to consider readjusting the school year so that the long vacation will occur in January, February, and part of March. Instead of proving beneficial this change would prove to be detrimental. Being a student, I know that a young man or a young woman can study far better during the winter than he can during the latter parts of spring and summer.

Imagine a long day at school in a hot classroom, waiting for the end of the hour to roll along, while your thoughts turn to a cool, shady place with the old swimming hole nearby.

When would we have time to go swimming, play baseball, play a round of golf, play tennis, or engage in any social activities, if we had to think about the next day's English, history, or mathematics assignment?

IGNATIUS KASKI.

GRUELLING.

Chicago, July 24.—I suggest that your correspondent, Otto Garr Tague, examine column 3 of page 1084 of the Funk & Wagnalls New Standard Dictionary [1925 edition]. Even his use of the two "l's" in "gruelling" is sanctioned. And Mr. Edwin D. Sheen will find justification for "dove" in the same edition of a "a provincial schoolboy's vocabulary," on page 753, column 1.

PRO BONO LINGO.

DOVE.

Clinton, Ia., July 24.—Mr. Edward Sheen complains of THE TRIBUNE'S use of the word "dove" as the past tense of the verb dive. Webster's International Dictionary, 1923 edition, gives colloquial preterit of the verb dive (chiefly U. S.) as "dove." So "dove" is not a vulgarism, but American.

H. W. ANDREWS.

"LEAKY TRUNK'S" DEFEAT.

Chicago, July 18. — The fact that "Leaky Trunk" Michaelson could come so close to renomination as he did proves how stupid voters are. And the fact that he had the nerve to run again shows that he figured the voters to be nothing but a bunch of suckers.

PLUTO.

THE PLANETARIUM.

Chicago, July 7.—Many words of praise have been printed about the Adler planetarium. A point yet unmentioned, however, is the splendid manner in which the crowds are handled. Not only is there foresight and good management in limiting the number of visitors in the hall to that which can easily be accommodated without crowding, but there is evident a dignified courtesy on the part of all the attendants which is in close harmony with the majesty of the science to which the planetarium is dedicated.

While praising the management, a word should also be said for the well disciplined attitude of the public in cooperating with the management in the rules established.

A visitor whom I escorted there Sunday had nothing but unstinted praise for the excellent management and behavior displayed, and went away, I am sure, with a revised opinion of Chicago and its people. W. S.

THE WASTAGE OF POLITICS.

Chicago, July 24.—Your editorial of today on "The Wastage of Politics" is unworthy of THE TRIBUNE. An optimist in most things, you seem to have lost your faith in the possibility of governmental excellence. You would do better to try to improve local government rather than resign yourself to an eternity of bad politics.

The fact is you have allowed your opinions to be formed by an organized minority of profit seekers. You have allowed your eyes to be closed to the wastage of private enterprise, yes, even the politics which honeycombs private business. By being a party to shielding the wastage in private business you are lulling to sleep the honest, responsible citizens of Chicago and making good government even more difficult.

The truth is local government can be made one of the most effective agencies for providing for the common needs of the community, and its functions should be extended whenever a sufficient community need arises within the scope of governmental functions. To unduly delimit local governmental functions would be a major blow at Chicago's future progress and welfare.

Your task should be to improve local government and let it function fully for the satisfaction of community needs rather than clip its wings merely because a few self-seeking, systematic wasters in private business have the money with which to survey the wastage in public business. Let a survey be made of the wastage in private business in Chicago and let's see which is the greater evil. A. D. MCLARTY.

SOLE FUNCTIONS.

Chicago, July 24.—I have one sentence to add to your morning editorial, "The Wastage of Politics."

Let us keep in mind the sole function of government is to exercise sovereignty. The sole function of capital is to exercise business.

GEORGE R. WALKER.

THE TREATY IN REVIEW.

Chicago, July 21.—The only nonsensical reservation to the London naval treaty was adopted by an overwhelming majority. It does not mean anything and does not safeguard the interests of our country in the least. There can be little doubt that England and Japan had a secret agreement long before that conference was called. That is the secret agreement that the senate should have insisted on investigating before the ratification of the London naval pact. Our hyphenated senators may feel elated over the success of their steam roller tactics; but they may change their tune somewhat when they feel the full effects of the public resentment against their heroic surrender of our legitimate security.

INTEREST ON SAVINGS.

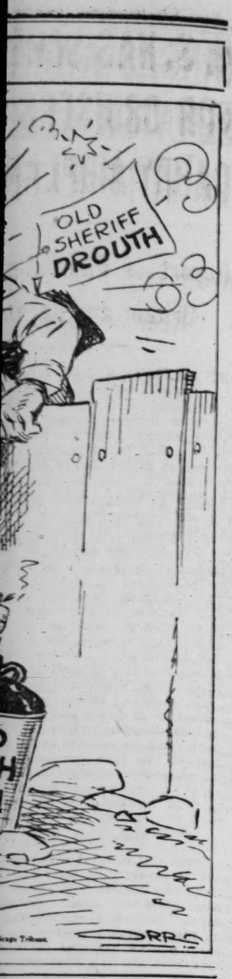

Chicago, July 9.—Statements from the Chicago banks, recently issued, show a prosperous business condition; but they pay only 3% on savings accounts to depositors. From statements of banks in all, or practically all, cities we learn interest on savings accounts all over the United States is, and has been for many years, at a higher rate. Can any reason be advanced for the difference in rates? GEORGE WILSON.

KANSAS AWAITS SENATOR ALLEN IN VOTE BATTLE

Wonders if He'll Support Reed or Legge.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Wichita, Kas., July 25.—[Special.]—Wheat belt politics centers for the present in Senator Henry J. Allen who is ambling here from Washington to see if the drought has done any damage to his vote crop for the August 5 primaries. Kansas is so sultry that it almost makes Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego of the fiery furnace look like polar explorers and the politicians affirm that in all the torridity the hot spot is occupied by Senator Allen, this by virtue of the controversy over wheat acreage reduction between Alexander Legge, head of the federal farm board, and Gov. Clyde M. Reed.

The question agitating all the camps is whether the senator will side with Gov. Reed, who appointed him to the senate to fill the vacancy when Charles Curtis became vice president, or whether, as a fishing pal of President Hoover on the Rapidan, he will back Mr. Legge, who is rated as the greatest single asset of Hoover on the farm situation. Senator Allen is expected here Sunday for conference with Gov. Reed.

Reed Forces Disturbed.

In the battle between Gov. Reed and Frank [Chief] Haucke, the non-smoking - chewing - cussing - drinking-exhilarating Galahad, the Reed forces appear somewhat disturbed at the pace set by the "chief." The row with Mr. Legge over acreage curtailment in Kansas, the great wheat state, is regarded by the governor's managers as manna from heaven and a gushing rock in a thirsty land. But word from the prairies is that the farmers themselves are collegiate. They seem to regard the controversy as academic, and of higher interest to the politicians than the farmers.

Observers on the wheat train of the Kansas Agricultural college now touring the state, report the Kansas farmer is apathetic to the acreage reduction quarrel. What the farmers are asking the experts on the train in how they can raise more wheat per acre and at a lower cost. The inference is conveyed that the wheat raisers are content to let the "farmers' friends" do the talking, knowing that when it comes to deciding how many acres to plant next season, the farmer himself will have the full say.

Want to Cut Costs.

Senator Capper's newspaper correspondent on the train, an authority on farm sentiment, reports that out in western Kansas not many wheat growers are for curtailment and that they intend to keep on growing wheat, cutting costs and increasing acreage yield. And, as one paragrapher puts it, "Kansas raises the best wheat in the world and gets nothing for it."

Despite all this, reports to the Reed camp are that the governor has rolled up a lot of strength among the wheat raisers by going to the mat single-handed with Mr. Legge and Secretary Hyde.

The contest in the Republican primaries for the big jobs is taking on quite definite lines that run back to the old cleavage between the Bull Moose and the Progressive Republicans and the Conservatives and Standpats. Against Gov. Reed and the old moose the old guard and the new guard of conservatives are pitting "Chief" Hauke.

Senator Allen who has played a sort of Damon to Reed's Pythias, has three opponents: James F. Getty of Kansas City, ex-State Senator Ralph Snyder of Manhattan, president of the farm bureau, and W. H. Sproul of Sedan, congressman from the Third district.

Senator Arthur Capper has no opposition, and says he has no entanglements with other candidates. In reply to a query from Stewart M. Young, the Getty manager, as to whether Capper was supporting Allen, Senator Capper replied there was no basis for the report. "I am pursuing a policy of absolute neutrality in senatorial and all other primary contests," he said, adding he "will not become involved in other contests."

Just now the camps have pushed and shoved the situation largely into a contest between the Allen-Reed combine and a Getty-Hauke combination, and are now calling their shots.

Allen and Reed Attacked.

Victor Murdock of the Wichita Eagle, an old newspaper rival of Allen, and back in the old moose days national chairman of the Progressive party, is lambasting Allen and Reed. The Wichita Beacon, Allen's old paper, now controlled by the Levands, "Max and Louis," as Legge called them when he sent word "Tell them to go to hell," when they called on him to resign from the farm board, is whooping it up for Reed and Allen. As they say in Kansas, "There's hell a-popping."

Most prominent of the headlights of history the anti-Allen group is playing up is the renunciation of the toga by Allen back in 1928. Reed was running for governor, and Allen announced he was leaving Kansas for good. This was reputed to have helped Reed, who had been on Gov. Allen's industrial court which was in Dutch with labor and employers. The Eagle, using its duster, says Reed, running for governor, gave formal assurance that if elected he would not appoint Allen senator to the seat which the election of Curtis as Vice President would vacate.

Allen "White House Senator."

Allen has opposed Curtis as the "Kansas favorite son." The old guard has always insisted it was this assurance that Allen would not be appointed that led him to delay resigning as senator after he had been elected Vice President. If he had resigned by Jan. 14, 1929, before Reed was inaugurated, the vacancy could have been filled by appointment of Gov. Ben S. Paulen. Afterwards, Gov. Reed went to Washington and dropped in at the White House. Word was spread that if Allen were appointed senator, Kansas would stand ace high with Hoover, as Allen was western publicity manager in 1928, also that R. J. Hopkins would be made federal judge. The regulars say this was all "imaginative landscape," but at any rate, Allen has been referred to as a "White House senator" so often that it has somewhat stuck.

The old guard, deeming that somebody had put a fast one over Vice President Curtis, has moaned about this ever since. Here's an odd development: Allen has been so close to the Hoover administration—he even voted for Judge Parker for the Supreme court—that the old guard has put its hate against Allen in the check room, deeming him a convert to conservatism and regularity.

Corn Sugar Battle Rages for 3 Hours Before Hyde

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde listened for three hours today to arguments for and against the proposed change in the food and drug act regulations to permit the use of corn sugar in canned goods without a label declaration.

The secretary indicated that he would announce his decision shortly after Aug. 1. Until that date the interested parties will be allowed to file arguments supplemental to those made at today's public hearing by attorneys for the corn sugar manufacturers, canners, health officers, farm organization spokesmen, and others.

To Double Plants' Capacity.

Attorney William G. Holt, counsel for the Corn Products Refining company, petitioner for the change, declared that its approval would result in the consumption of at least 40 million more bushels of corn annually and prove a big factor in farm relief. He said his company would immediately double the corn sugar capacity of its plants at Kansas City, Pekin, Ill., and Argo, Ill.

Under the present regulations of the department of agriculture sucrose or cane and beet sugar does not have to be specified on the label of canned goods, but the requirement applies to dextrose, or corn sugar, with the result, Mr. Holt said, that manufacturers refuse to use corn sugar, although it is wholly pure and nutritious.

Opposition to the change came from a delegation composed of spokesmen for state agricultural departments, wholesale grocers, canners, and beekeepers, headed by Representative Franklin Menges [Rep., Pa.]. Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, widow of the late sponsor of the food and drug act, spoke against the change as a representative of the consumers.

Mrs. Wiley Opposes Change.

"To the housewife sugar is sucrose, and to sell canned goods sweetened with corn sugar without a label would be deception and a violation of the spirit of the food and drug act, which is intended to protect the buyer," Mrs. Wiley said. "Consumers should be educated to the use of corn sugar if it is good. It should not be jammed down their throats."

Other arguments against the change were that corn sugar shrinks and discolors canned fruits and vegetables, and that its use without labels would increase corn consumption but little, as 90 per cent of the corn raised in this country is fed to live stock and does not reach the market.

Secretary Hyde indicated by questions that his mind was open on the matter. He frequently interrogated spokesmen from both sides. At one point he and his assistants carefully tasted samples of canned vegetables containing different kinds of sugar.

WINNER OF AUTO CLASSIC SUED FOR $50,000 BY GIRL

William Arnold, 5710 Wentworth avenue, winner of the 500 mile automobile race at Indianapolis last Memorial day, was sued for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise yesterday. The complainant is Miss Theresa Kinnish, 22 years old, 5433 Kimbark avenue, formerly a checkroom girl. Only a praecipe of the suit was filed.

According to her attorney, E. M. Libonati, Miss Kinnish and Arnold became acquainted in 1926. Arnold proposed and the wedding was set for last Chrismas eve, Libonati said. It was postponed, however, until after the speedway classic, at Arnold's request, the attorney said. A few days after the race the couple left for Detroit to be married, but when they arrived there, Arnold is alleged to have told the young woman they could not marry.

Attorney Libonati said Miss Kinnish has lent Arnold as much as $500 and often bought his meals for him, because he did not have any money. Arnold collected more than $50,000 for winning the Indianapolis race, according to Libonati.

U. S. BARS PAPER PULP WOOD SENT IN FROM RUSSIA

Lowman Finds Convicts Manufacture It.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Russia will be allowed to ship no more paper pulp wood into the United States under a ruling made today by Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of customs.

Mr. Lowman's decision, based on a section of the new tariff act which forbids the importation of goods made by convict labor to be sold in competition with domestic products, climaxed a controversy brought about recently over six cargoes of Russian spruce.

The ruling did not affect these spruce shipments, Mr. Lowman explained, but it is known that large contracts entered into by the International Paper company and Russian concerns will be nullified by the decision.

Wires All Collectors.

"A general order has been wired to all collectors of customs," said Mr. Lowman, "to prevent entry of pulp wood from Russia. Evidence in the hands of the treasury seems to establish the fact that pulp wood is being manufactured by convict labor and therefore not subject to entry."

Although the evidence on which the ruling was based was held in confidence, extracts from one leter written by an observer told of conditions under which convict labor is used to load pulp wood at Archangel, a soviet port. The prisoners, the letter writer said, were clothed in rags and subsisted on black bread and water. Punishment for infraction of rules was execution without trial, the letter stated.

Dispute Stories at Hearing.

Interest in the importation of lumber and pulp wood from Russia was aroused two weeks ago when Mr. Lowman held private hearings on the admissibility of spruce being imported by A. C. Dutton of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Representatives of the Amtorg Trading corporation, said to be financed in Russia, appeared at the hearing and disputed reports that the spruce might have been from lots worked with convict labor.

Immediately thereafter the American Wage Earners' Protective association filed a lengthy protest against admission of convict made goods which might compete with American made goods. Mr. Lowman announced a plan to investigate further, but today's ruling indicated that the treasury has received all the information necessary to put a complete ban on future Russian wood shipments.

RUSSIA THREATENS TO SHUT OFF TRADE AS REPLY TO EMBARGOES

MOSCOW, July 25.—(AP)—A warning to all countries imposing obstacles to the admission of soviet products was delivered today to a group of foreign newspaper correspondents by Maxim Litvinoff, new Russian commissar for foreign affairs. M. Litvinoff, who recently succeeded Georges Chicherin at the commissariat, said the soviet government might sharply reduce or even stop its purchases in such countries.

The United States was obviously foremost in M. Litvinoff's mind. It has recently placed embargoes upon soviet timber, coal, and matches.

"We are convinced that all these anti-soviet campaigns are doomed to complete failure, since they are bound ultimately to strike a still heavier blow at the interests of the countries participating in them than at our own interests," he said. "At present, when an economic crisis has spread almost over all countries, the exclusion from world trade of such a vast state as the soviet union can hardly be considered wise."

FORD AIDS REDS UNCONSCIOUSLY, PRIEST CHARGES

Statement Made Before Congressmen.

Detroit, Mich., July 25.—(AP)—A Detroit priest characterized Henry Ford as an unconscious cause of the spread of communism in testimony given here today before the congressional committee investigating communistic activity in the United States.

The statement was made by the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower, who was called before the committee because of his series of radio addresses on communism.

Representative Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York, chairman of the committee, asked Father Coughlin for an explanation of his statement. Father Coughlin said that Ford is "the greatest force in the movement to internationalize labor throughout the world."

"A year ago, on the eve of the automobile show in New York," the witness continued, "Mr. Ford issued a statement that he required 30,000 more workers at his plant in Detroit.

Thousands Came, He Says.

"As a result of that statement more than 30,000 men, who were out of work, flocked to Detroit from Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas, and other southern states, and while the weather was at zero stood in front of the Ford plant trying to get those jobs. There were no jobs for them, and the only redress they had was to have the fire hose turned on them to drive them away."

"Getting all those men here in that manner was not done on purpose, was it?" Chairman Fish asked.

"No, it was done through ignorance," Father Coughlin replied. "Just as the peace ship was sent to Europe through ignorance."

Father Coughlin added that Ford's money is helping the soviet government in Russia and referred to the $13,000,000 contract Ford signed with soviet representatives.

Known as Radio Speaker.

Father Coughlin is widely known as a radio speaker, conducting weekly services from the Shrine of the Little Flower, which is on the outskirts of the city.

Prior to the Rev. Mr. Coughlin's appearance the committee heard testimony from Caesar J. Scavarda, chief of police of Flint, Mich., concerning a recent strike there in the plant of the Fisher Body company. The Flint labor troubles centered around a wage dispute between officials of the body company and the workers.

The congressional committee came here from New York, where it concluded hearings yesterday.

JANITOR KILLED BY FALL.

Stephen Nakonecnery, 33 years old, 1902 West 48th street, a janitor in the McCormick building, 332 South Michigan avenue, died yesterday in the Alexian Brothers' hospital of injuries suffered Tuesday, when he fell down an elevator shaft while at work.

HYDE AND LEGGE PLAN TOUR TO URGE WHEAT ACREAGE REDUCTION

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—The heads of the government's two farm agencies, Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board and Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, will go into the central states again next week to promote the campaign for a reduction of wheat acreage.

The two officials will attend a conference of agricultural extension leaders at Indianapolis Aug. 1. Both will speak on the necessity for a cut in wheat production and urge the extension agents to advocate the farm board program among the farmers.

The conference was called by Director of Extension C. W. Warburton of the department of agriculture.

BOOKS

Four Authors Offer Surcease from Weather

One Presents Satire on So-Called Dry Era.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

For a torrid week-end four recent books ought to be amusing enough to keep the mind off the thermometer. There are some readers who, once they are physically uncomfortable, get a perfect passion for something funny.

JOSEPH ANTHONY.

For them there is Joseph Anthony's "Casanova Jones," a long, rakish epic—in verse, of course—of a gentleman who did not live up to his first name in any sense that the classic Casanova made synonymous with his moniker, but who was a dry agent who had a wife who dealt in wet goods, with his help. He fell in love with a beautiful creature who wrote bad poetry.

The only way he could think of making her his own was to have her poetry printed, which he did, by the gentleman who was an adept at printing old likker labels. But the step was a falsish one, for things ensued, principally the catching of a staid old gentleman senator in the act of drinking his first drink [as celebration of the beautiful lady's debut into literature], a revolution led by a thirsty observer of the "debauch," and the stirring up of the whole country over the matter of whose privilege it was to drink.

The best people looked upon the breaking of the prohibition law as an act of sweet martyrdom. The jails were crowded to overflowing with college professors, bankers, and the most attractive of the younger sets, until it became an impossibility to get into one. Poor Casanova Jones managed to enter the one which sheltered the girl he loved, but he got nothing but rock breaking, while every one else lolled in luxury. It's nonsense, but funny nonsense. There are countless amusing pictures by Willy Pogany.

If you're the sort, though, that gets on the ear if humor is mentioned in hot weather, read "Brief Candles," by Aldous Huxley. It is a volume of cynical, brilliant, keen short stories. Aldous Huxley is the leader of the modern school of writing among the English—the most consummate master of its technique, the most unsentimental observer of man and his mad ways. There are four stories in the volume—rather, three stories and one novelette. The stories are excellent. The novelette is superb. It is called "After the Fireworks," and it is the tale of an affair between a successful novelist and a young girl who wrote him an admiring letter. It is written in Mr. Huxley's cruelest and most brilliant manner. The book is one of the two events of the year among volumes of short stories to me, "Laments for the Living," by Dorothy Parker, is the other.

If you are in a mood for a story that has to do with princes and their amours, there is Claude Anet's "Idyll's End," the record of the tragic love of Rudolph, crown prince of Austria, and Marie Vetsera, a front page story of the middle of the last century. It has every quirk of melodrama that fills the tabloids, including the spectacular dénouement. It is not, it seems to me, Mr. Anet's literary masterpiece. It sounds like the work of an amateur instead of the intricately delicate work of the author of "Ariane," but it presents intriguing facts and is an interesting story.

The love of a man as opposed to the duty of a prince has never been more romantically displayed than when two shots rang out in that lonely hunting lodge. M. Anet has not made the tale half so colorful as it might have been made—life did a better job of romance than its recorder.

And finally, if you yearn for knowledge of political and not romantic intrigue, there is "Espionage," by H. R. Berndorff, the stories of French, English, German, and Russian spies before and after the war. They are history, not fancy, and despite the fact that Herr Berndorff is no great shucks as a writer, the stories are fascinating beyond all expectations. They are the merest unadorned statement of the activities of the great spies of their day, but exciting?—you'll say so!

More on Social Sciences.

The three latest additions to "Crowell's Social Science Series" are: "Social Control of the Mentally Deficient," by Stanley P. Davies, Ph. D. of the State Charities Aid Association of New York; "American City Government and Administration," by Austin F. Macdonald, assistant professor of political science at the University of Pennsylvania, and "Labor Problems," by Gordon S. Watkins, professor of economics at the University of California. "Labor Problems" is a revised and reset edition.

BRITISH REDISCOVER SPAIN AS SOURCE OF LITERARY INTEREST

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON. — [Special correspondence.]—Just now there is a revival of interest among the English "intelligents" (self-styled) in Spain. It has existed for perhaps a couple of years, but it is growing.

Books about Spain, accordingly, are being read at this moment in London. The first and best of them is Señor Madariaga's big book on the country itself. This is a really impressive tome.* It is a thorough and intimidating survey of the geography and political and social life of the Iberian peninsular, which begins with the words "Spain is a castle," and goes on to show that Spain is a seething mas sof problems.

But Señor Madariaga is a very learned and able man. He has translated the work of Unamuno, a Spanish philosopher, and has written an analysis of that work. He also has written an ethnographical study of certain European races. And he is engaged in Geneva with the representation of Spanish interests there. In person he is a most attractive man, who speaks and writes fluent English, and who is socially charming. His book should be read by those who wish to understand the real Spain.

For those who intend traveling in that country, "The Roads of Spain," by Mr. Charles L. Freeston, is indicated.

Mr. Freeston reassures the world as to Spanish highways. They have all been made, during the last few years, magnificent. Our motoring intelligents are accordingly planning Spanish routes. They have been stimulated to this, perhaps, by the many beautiful and attractive descriptions in Osbert Sitwell's novel, "The Man Who Lost Himself." And finally a beginning has been made with the translation of some really modern Spanish novels. One of these is the "Handmaid of the Lord," by Ramon Marie Tenreiro.

*"Spain" has just been published in the United States by Scribners.—Ed.

Targ's First Edition Market Analysis Gets Comment by Experts

"Targ's American First Editions and Their Prices" [Targ] is a listing of the prices of a few of the most popular American first editions. It is full of exciting figures, like "Stories Without Women," published in 1915 by Donn Byrne, $100; "Renascence," published in 1917, by Edna Millay, $85; "April Twilights," by Willa Cather (1903), $50, and an assortment of "inestimable" books like James Whitcomb Riley's "The Old Swimmin' Hole," Lowell's "Class Poem," and even Carl Sandburg's "In Reckless Ecstasy"—figures such as to start investments in first editions which would rival stock investments.

The book is certainly a bombshell. But to any one who has ever collected—either bought or sold—first editions, the figures are slightly at variance with experience, both by being at times fantastically high and at others underestimated.

An article in the Publishers' Weekly of July 19 goes into those inaccuracies at some length. The Publishers' Weekly is the trade paper of all booksellers, and the authors of the article are both with one of the representative rare book dealers of America. "Targ's American First Editions" may be looked upon, one infers, from their skilled and accurate discussion, more as a curiosity than an indispensable reference book for buyers or sellers.

About Certain Noble Experiments by the Real Pilgrim Fathers

"Prayer for Profit," by Robert Collyer Washburn [Sears], is an investigation of the affairs of the Pilgrim Fathers which has shocked many readers and amused many others.

In it are to be found such facts as that Elder Brewster, spiritual guide of the settlement during their first years at Plymouth, enjoyed a monthly allowance of 120 gallons of beer as a student at the University of Leyden [only 32 steins a day] and that the authorities of the famous seat of Protestant learning in their wisdom furnished each theological student several gallons of wine every three months.

And that John Alden, the gentle hero of "The Courtship of Miles Standish," was not a passenger on the Mayflower in 1620, but was a man hired by the shipping company to repair the innumerable beer barrels taken by the colonists to New England, because there was a law which demanded that "whosoever shall carry beer beyond sea" must assure the officials of the port of clearance that the ship would bring back enough staves to replace the kegs in which the beer had been taken.

High Adventure by Sea and Air in These Books

With Pirate Hoards and Wings Around World.

BY AGATHA L. SHEA.

[Director of children's work for branches of the Chicago public library.]

"Lost Treasure," by A. Hyatt Verrill. (Appleton.)

"Wings Around the World," by F. K. Baron von Koenig-Warthausen. (Putnam.)

"Town Crier of Gevrey," by Estelle M. Kerr. (Macmillan.)

"Jane Louise's Cook Book," by Louise P. Bell. (Coward McCann.)

Among the new books for boys are two which qualify not only as good adventure stories but also as interesting accounts of actual exploits. One tells of the days when the sea was the happy hunting place of rover and adventurer. The other depicts our own day when the sky has become the field of activity for our young pioneers.

The first is Alpheus Hyatt Verrill's "Lost Treasure," a collection of "true tales of hidden hoards," and an absorbingly interesting collection it is. Included are the stories of famous pirate hordes and of the wealth which lies fathoms deep in the holds of lost galleons. Here, too, are the tales of those ancient sunken cities, of Port Royal, the pirates' city, which with all its glamour and glory and illgotten gains suddenly disappeared beneath the sea to be seen no more, and of Jamestown which suffered a like fate, whose tumble down walls may still be traced in the water on clear days.

These are true stories which rival fictional adventures.

The second is Baron von Koenig-Warthausen's "Wings Around the World," and is the story of the young baron's twenty thousand mile flight in his tiny plane, weighing little over five hundred pounds, with only his cat Felix for a companion. He started out to fly from Berlin to Moscow in competition for the Hindenburg cup. He won the cup and kept on going until he had circled the globe, the water crossings only being made by boat.

The young author writes in an easy conversational style and the book adds an interesting chapter to the epic of the air which these years are writing. Boys 12-14 will like both books.

For the younger children there are Estelle M. Kerr's "Town Crier of Gevrey" and Louise P. Bell's "Jane Louise's Cook Book." The first is a story of wartime France, and of the children who played their part in keeping things going at home. It is a good picture of wartime France and its village children, but one is inclined to wish that the rather melodramatic incident of little Marie and her cruel foster father had been omitted.

Little girls who like to try their hand at cooking during these long vacation days will be delighted with the attractive "Jane Louise's Cook Book." It offers a variety of simple recipes for dishes little cooks like to make. All directions are given concisely in large, clear type and picture directions help to clarify things for the beginner. The pretty oilcloth cover makes it decidedly practical as well as attractive. It can easily be used by the 9-10 year old child.

Rockefeller's Career Gets New Book of 600 Pages

"Rockefeller, Giant, Dwarf, Symbol," by William H. Allen, is a biography of six hundred pages about John D. Rockefeller published by the Institute for Public Service of New York. The mss. of the book, it is said, was with Rockefeller's agents [which probably means Mr. Ivy Lee, his public relations counsel] for nine months. Where disagreements as to facts persisted, despite conferences, the Rockefeller claim or denial is stated. It is a thorough book, but not a particularly stimulating one to read.

The Woman in the Shadow, by Louis Joseph Vance [Lippincott], is a thriller enacted against the background of the Hungarian Red Terror.

Maggie, by Stephen Crane, that gem buried in the out of print catalogues, has been reissued by the Newland press.

Strange Pursuit, by Patrick Wynn-con [Lippincott], is a yarn of wild adventure warranted to agitate your spine.

The Unknown Soldier, by Vernon Bartlett [Stokes], is the story of a wounded man in a shell hole in No Man's Land and what he thought about life and the war which put him and others where he was.

MYSTERY.

Lady of the Night, by Sydney Horler [Knopf], is a mystery that starts with the delivery of the corpse of his best friend to the hero with a card, "With the compliments of the sender."

The Mystery at Newton Ferry, by Laurence Maynell [Lippincott], starts out as a murder and ends as a far reaching and horrible plot.

Murder Through the Window, by Francis Everton [Morrow], is not only a mystery but a romance.

The Coldstone, by Patricia Wentworth [Lippincott], is mystery, romance, and a good dash of horror.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Our President, Herbert Hoover, by William J. Marsh Jr. [Doubleday Doran], is that priceless life of the President written and printed by a boy of eleven, and now reprinted in facsimile.

Pen Names and Personalities, by Annie Russell Marble [Appleton], is not only a dictionary of pseudonyms—and an excellent reference book—but a series of interesting biographical essays.

Oscar Wilde, by Frank Harris [Covici Friede], is a reprinting in one volume of one of the greatest biographies, from a literary point of view, in the English language. This edition contains also unpublished confessional material by Lord Alfred Douglas and a memoir by Bernard Shaw.

Hindenburg, by Margaret Goldsmith and Frederick Voigt [Morrow], had unqualifiedly enthusiastic praise when it was recently published in England.

River Pirates of Wild West Are Depicted

With All Thrills of New Crime Stories.

BY ALTA MAY COLEMAN.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Robert M. Coates has dug up a long forgotten variety of pirate, the land and river pirate hatched by the American wilderness during the half century following the revolutionary war. He tells the stories of half a dozen of these cold blooded picturesque characters in "The Outlaw Years," the choice of the Literary guild for August, a book with an impressive bibliography that combines the charms of pioneer history with detective story interest. Almost unconsciously you acquire a graphic picture of the beginnings of the nation's commerce, the while you are excitedly pursuing its enemies to their well earned doom.

R. M. COATES.

In person Mr. Coates is a veritable sunrise—a high, wide, and handsome six footer with a thatch of red curls—and when we say red, we mean the most hot and glowing auburn that never darkened into titian. He's a prize exhibit for literary lion hunters, gentle when captured, betraying his shyness by an engaging stammer.

Born in New Haven, a graduate of Yale, he spent five of his thirty-three years in France serving his literary apprenticeship by sending back newspaper Sunday stories and articles to high-brow magazines. Now he and his wife, Elsa Kirpal, the sculptor, have installed their lares and penates in a Connecticut farm house and his next book, a novel with modern New York as its locale, is already under way.

Emily Newell Blair, who figures in national politics and is well known to the readers of women's magazines, occupied the tea party spotlight at Mr. and Mrs. John Farrar's on Wednesday. She will see her first book, "The Creation of a Home," in print this fall. Among the guests were Margaret Widdemer, Floyd Dell, and Katherine Brush. Victor Thaddeus, who wrote "Voltaire, Genius of Mockery," is back from Europe with the completed manuscript of a book about Frederick the Great. Back from Europe, too, is David Loth, who wrote "Lorenzo the Magnificent," and "The Brownings," with his new biography of Charles the Second. Emily Hahn, on the other hand, has just crossed the Atlantic to do a bit of mining in the British museum.

Will Durant, after a four months' tour round the world, is evading the tropical heat of New York in the Catskills. He's at work on his new opus, "The Story of Civilization." John Cowper Powys at Hillsdale, N. Y., is engaged on a novel which will follow his new book, "In Defense of Sensuality," announced to reach the bookstalls in November. . . . "My personal feeling about the book," says H. Ashbrook concerning her novel, "The Murder of Cecily Thane," "is that it is the most important thing in American literature in the last two decades."

This is, we feel, a conservative statement from the proud parent of a first book.

Meetings and Lectures

On Friday at 4:30 p. m., in the social science assembly room of the University of Chicago, Prof. William E. Dodd will lecture on "Little Men and Great Events in American History: Edward M. House, Internationalist and Friendly Mediator."

COLUMBUS JEWISH, IS THEORY OFFERED BY WASSERMANN

There are strong grounds for believing that the discoverer of America was a Jew, says Jacob Wassermann in his biography of Columbus [Little Brown]. He says that the traits in Columbus' character which indicate that are: "A certain soft-heartedness, in the best and the worst sense; his unmistakable inclination to find a sentimental solution for practical problems; and his characteristic timidity in the face of far reaching problems."

What is not Jewish, the author says, is "his striking want of intelligence and practical capacity."

The Nine Hundred Block
BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

In the nine hundred block, with its sordid dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Colt and her mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood gossip. Theresa makes friends with Katie Warner, who lives upstairs, and B. Jones, a mysterious chap. Johnny Deane, who left a home of wealth to make good for the girl to whom he regrets, since meeting Theresa, he is engaged. He has found employment painting signboards. Theresa does typing at home to support herself and mother. Mrs. Colt encourages Billy Treadway, a rich bachelor beau of her girlhood, in his attentions to Theresa. Theresa's father, Arnold Ames, married again after Theresa's mother divorced him and married Barrington Colt, who recently died. The father now has a belated desire to help his daughter, but his wife threatens to leave him if he does. He arranges with Harold Cole, a friend, to secretly give Theresa work.

Johnny Deane had determined not to tell Theresa of his love for her until he had ended his engagement, but does not keep his vow. Theresa returns his love.

Johnny sends his laundry to a neighbor and Mrs. Baum, noting the Paris and London labels, believes Johnny to be a prince in hiding.

Two days before Christmas Mr. Gale brings Theresa a present from her father, a purse containing a thousand dollar bond. Theresa also receives presents from Johnny. Mrs. Colt makes plans for spending Theresa's bond.

INSTALLMENT XVIII.

PROUD FATHERS.

"You fuss too much about money, pet. I can't understand it! Money has never been anything but a means to an end, with me. . . . It means a little. And anyway, pet, if you work it right (give mother a caramel, well, there'll be plenty more——"

Theresa flushed. She could hardly bear it when her mother said such things. Barrington Colt had always hated such things, too. They'd made him shrink and look ashamed. Elsie Colt had never realised that, for certain of the poor, pride made by a lack of compromise keeps out cold and keeps hunger far.

At two, flowers came from Mr. Treadway. Dozens and dozens of cut flowers lying stretched long, in a box that in Cleopatra's time might have carried her that day—still remembered—into the inner office of one Ceasar.

Mrs. Colt had had several sentimental spasms over Billy's flowers which were destined to fade. Those which would last she did not see. And here, for the astute, an analogy.

At four, Theresa took her small boxes of candy "around"; feeling it better to do it Saturday than on Sunday. B. Jones was in his room, feet toasted to his radiator, Theresa found, when she opened his door to his "Come——"

Slowly, he extricated his feet from their perch to rise.

"Glad you came," he said, "have a present for you—myself. Needn't think you're the only Santa Claus around—here. Open it." He handed her a box.

She did, to find a little red porcelain elephant with a "Royal Doulton Burslem" mark on its fat tummy, and around its hind leg a small silver

He went to the office to read the note Theresa had written him; to read it perhaps for the fiftieth time.

chain to which was attached a disc of silver. On this disc was engraved "Chang Eraser Chaser to Miss Ames."

"Lucky they are—if you believe in that stuff," said B. Jones.

"I believe I do believe in luck, and that I am lucky!" said Theresa.

She said, too, that she didn't know how, really, to thank him!

"What's in mine?" B. Jones questioned.

"Just fudge, Mr. Jones."

That it was the only present Mr. Jones had, or was to get, he did not mention. He thanked her rather heavily, looking at the sprig of holly on the box, and at the ribbon. Gay little ribbon, tied in a pert bow; a cheap little ribbon which said, "Certain people can make little, much; while other people cannot help but—make much, little."

"Had an awful time—gettin' Chang's chain," B. Jones confided. "Went to a shop in Philadelphia, Caldwell's, and a high hat clerk, with a skip-stop Italian A in her vocabulary, asked me—what I 'wished' the chain foh. I told her the truth and got the dog eye. I said, 'I want it for the hind leg of a red elephant.'"

B. Jones went downstairs with Theresa to see her out. It was his swimming of the Hellespont; he didn't like stairs.

Mrs. Baum, too, was pleased with the candy. She wanted to know whether Theresa had used "strictly fresh" or merely eggs in the seafoam; (there is a difference) and how much sugar she'd used, and how long she'd cooked it, and to whom else Theresa had given it.

When Theresa said, very shyly, "and Mr. Deane," Mrs. Baum started to speak and then stopped. She would tell Theresa about him after Christmas. Mrs. Baum decided; tell Theresa that she had better not trust him too far since he had a bad name with ladies. Mrs. Baum had a vague idea that it would spoil Theresa's Christmas to tell her now.

"The Detwilers put off their party," she said, as Theresa moved toward the small hallway and the front door; "one of the folks they wanted real bad couldn't come last night and they thought maybe he could tonight. Rotsut, the way some people push. It disgusts me. Who'd you say you had flowers from?"

"I—I hadn't said, Mrs. Baum."

"Well, I seen 'em goin' in. Oncet I seen Brandt's wagon stop and then Schaffer's. Who'd you say sent 'em?"

Mr. Gale had come for her note to her—father—Theresa learned on getting home.

A man who smelled of Pinaud's lilac and who had dog hairs on his coat passed her as she opened the door to go up to Katie's. She waited, not wishing to follow him "right away."

She heard him at Johnny's door, saying, "Well, we put off the party 'til tonight. The one that was to be last night. And we certainly hope we'll have the honor of being your host, me, and my wife, and my daughter."

Johnny said, very decidedly this time, that it would be "quite impossible," and he didn't sound at all like himself, as he spoke. Theresa had memories, through his very masculine voice, of a relic of early Philadelphia, the wife of her nicest employer; she had spoken in that way to a pert, new girl at the information desk who had not recognized "the boss' wife."

"Well, there wasn't no harm in askin'," said Dr. Detwiler, but not quite certainly.

"No," said Johnny. But he didn't make it sound convincing.

Katie opened her door; "What 'ud he want?" she asked. [In her voice was always the trail of soot that is sometimes made by an alley start; and in it, too, was the warmth that is made only by the right heart ticking] Johnny told her.

"They got their eye on you for Lottie," said Katie, "but don't you go lookin' at her!"

Johnny said, and spoke the truth, that his eyes were now fixed upon a girl and for life; Theresa heard him, mounting the stairs and it made her pause to hold her hands above her heart. Never—never had she been so happy! Never had she dreamed that there could be so wonderful a day! On her desk, Chang guarding the erasers, the rooms sweet with flowers; books of her own to read, books that didn't smell of libraries and soiled, seeking hands; and candy, too. It was almost overpoweringly wonderful! And in her purse that respite from push that only the poor can feel keenly.

"Oh—Johnny!" she said, reaching the top of the stairs.

Katie's door was open and Katie was within. She had a ringside seat, did Katie, but—none the less—Johnny took Theresa into his arms and, after he'd stooped to press his lean cheek against her soft one for a shaken, dizzy second, his lips found their way to hers.

"I've been pretty good!" he said, raising his head, "gosh, I have! And it's Christmas——"

"Darling!" said Theresa.

"Come in," said Katie, "and just you make yourselves to home. I gotta go to Lambert's place for a second and it ain't safe to leave a place alone at Christmas time—what with the thievin'——"

They went in.

"Too cold to leave the door open," said Katie, departing, and she closed the door. She tiptoed by the Colt-Ames door, which, too, was closed as Mrs. Colt didn't want young Mr. Deane running in. She need not have worried at the moment.

Saturday evening Arnold Ames told his wife he had a little business at the office that he had to finish up. He went to his office in order to read the note Theresa had written him; to read it for, perhaps, the fiftieth time.

Dear Father: I do thank you and so much for your great kindness to me. I hope we can have a real talk some day. I saw you at the club. I think you look very nice. I really can't thank you as I'd like to. I'm so excited. I shall keep the purse all my life and the other helps me a great deal. It was so much. I couldn't believe it at first. Please try to know how happy you made me and how grateful I am.

With my love,
THERESA.

In New York, J. Z. Deane had, late that day, a special delivery package that had been mailed late Friday in old York. And he, too, studied a message that had been read as frequently as had Arnold Ames' letter.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Again Mr. William Powell proves himself one of God's gifts to the talkies!

Perhaps "For the Defense" isn't quite as exciting as "The Street of Chance," but it's every bit as interesting, and Mr. Powell portraying William Foster, shrewd criminal lawyer with the reputation of always getting his clients off, is quite as arresting a figure as he was depicting "Natural" Davis.

Though the action dips deep into underworld circles, there isn't, as I remember, a shot fired. Unique? Well, a picture with Mr. Powell in it doesn't need any firearms to put it over. Especially when it also has Kay Francis. And William Davidson—who, as the district attorney in this one, is very much the berries. The entire case is adequate, though I do think they should have picked a more itful male to draw Miss Francis' eyes from William. She's all mixed up in the hero's life and then this Mr. Scott Kolk, who wears a raccoon coat, comes along and wants her to marry him and she considers the matter, which, Mr. Powell being Mr. Powell and Mr. Kolk being Mr. Kolk, she would REALLY never, never have done. However—

I'm not going to tell you any more of the meaty story and spoil your fun. But do let me say that from the moment you come across Mr. Powell defending himself with superb effrontery from a concerted attack by a crowd of more conservative lawyers headed by the district attorney, all of whom would like to see him disbarred, to the end of the picture when—well—something that I don't think will make you sorry happens, the hero has your heart. You're with him hook, line and sinker. What he wants, you feel with intense partisanship, that he should have, be he as wrong as the man who thinks it wasn't Byrd who discovered the south pole.

"For the Defense" has been smoothly directed. The dialogue is excellent, as are sound and photography. It's the real goods in entertainment and O, are the movie houses nice and cool these days! . . .

I am a little critic
Without a swimming pool,
But I go to the movies
When I want to get cool.

Eddie Cantor, the funny man of the movies, passed through Chicago yesterday from the west coast on his way to New York to discuss his next musical show, "Flying High." Eddie was in possession of a five year contract with Metro-Goldwyn Mayer studios, which he flashed before reporters' eyes when asked if he intended deserting the movies. He will return to the movies, he said, after a turn at musical comedy.

Chicago Charities May Share Black Estate if Both Heirs Die

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Chicago charities stand to come in ultimately for a large share of the fortune left by Harry S. Black, multimillionaire president of the United States Realty Improvement company, who committed suicide by shooting in his country home at Huntington, L. I., last Saturday.

In his will, filed for probate in Surrogate's court today, Black made his widow, Mrs. Isabella Black, and George Allen Fuller of 350 Park avenue, the two chief beneficiaries of his estate, each receiving one-half of the residue in trust with a provision that in the event of the death of either without issue his or her share shall revert to the estate.

In the event of both shares reverting to the estate the executors are to form a residue estate in trust and pay over the income to charity. Forty per cent of this income, it is stipulated, is to go to charity institutions in Chicago and the remaining 60 per cent to New York charities. The testator's directions for such distribution were as follows:

"As the beginning of my estate, which goes into this trust was made in the city of Chicago and completed in the city of New York, I hope my trustees will distribute about 40 per cent of the income to such organizations and organized charities as I have outlined herein as are located in the city of Chicago. The other 60 per cent of the residue should go to the organized charities as I have outlined in the city of New York.

"I would suggest to my trustees that they consult with the trustees of Columbia university in the city of New York and the president of the University of Chicago in regard to the selection of organized charities which are to receive the income from this fund. It is my desire that this trust fund shall be referred to as the Harry S. Black and Allen Fuller fund."

Mrs. Black, who lives at the Hotel Plaza, also receives all household effects and automobiles. All personal apparel and jewelry are left to Mr. Fuller. Bequests ranging from $3,000 to $20,000 each are also made to employés, friends and relatives.

The two trustees and executors named in the will, Richard G. Babbage, attorney, and Joseph D. Tooker of Scarsdale, N. Y., are authorized to use their own judgment in selecting the charitable organizations.

The value of the estate is placed at "more than $100,000."

Watch Factory at Elgin Cuts Its Week to 4 Days

Elgin, Ill., July 25.—[Special.]—Elgin National Watch company announced a four day week working schedule today, effective July 31, the week terminating on each Thursday. Employing nearly 4,000 persons, the company has been on five day schedule for nearly a year.

"Owing to business conditions throughout the country, it is necessary for us to conserve our resources and curtail our output by reducing working hours of the factory until such time as a better condition prevails," an official announcement reads.

To Recall Gold Days.

Custer, S. D., July 25.—(AP)—For the eighth time the discovery in 1876 of gold in French creek, within a stone's throw of this little city in the Black Hills, will be reenacted in pageantry here tomorrow. The two day fête opened this morning.

FINDS FOSSILS OF 25 TO 30 MASTODONS IN MONGOL DRIED UP SEA

PEIPING, China, July 25.—(AP)—On the shores of a dried up inland sea near the outer Mongolian border, Roy Chapman Andrews, noted American explorer, has discovered what he believes one of the most amazing fossil deposits ever revealed to human eyes.

In a death trap formed by a bog of sticky, almost bottomless mud, the expedition has found the remains of 25 to 30 great shovel toothed mastodons with 6 foot jaws, one of which had previously been found near the same locality in 1928. Mr. Andrews, who returned here last night on a brief trip, said that so far four skulls, a number of jaws, 25 to 30 tusks and the hundreds of ribs found indicated one of the most extraordinary adaptations in the whole animal kingdom. He said that the animals must have roamed Mongolia three million years ago.

Another pit filled with the remains of 10 to 15 baby mastodons was discovered. The young animals apparently had come there with their mothers to feed, but were unable to extricate themselves from the treacherous quicksands.

Doctors Argue on B.C.G. Serum Use for Babies

Germans Deny It's to Blame for 70 Deaths.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, July 25.—The deliberations of the international microbiology congress became so acrimonious and took on such a political flavor that, rather than see the conference break up, the Germans today announced the Pasteur institute vaccine did not cause the slaughter of the babies in Lubeck—70 have already died and 70 more are still in a critical condition.

Most delegates from the United States this afternoon supported Dr. Calmette, director of the Pasteur institute. They repudiated the attack of Dr. Petroff of Saranac Lake, who asserted the bacilli in the B. C. G. serum might become virulent after its use for innoculation of the babies.

Applause greeted Prof. Bordet, director of the Brussels Pasteur institute and president of the congress, when he interrupted the program to defend the Pasteur vaccine.

Prof. Bordet flatly contradicted all of Dr. Petroff's statements.

"German authorities have reported to us that the Pasteur vaccine furnished at Lubeck was irreproachable and that contamination by virulent tuberculer bacilli occurred at Lubeck," he said.

After the meeting the opponents of the method insisted that virulence was always latent in vaccine made from living bacilli.

The International Association of Microbiology was formed today.

Prof. Hahn, director of the National Hygiene institute at Berlin, was named president for a three year term and it was decided to hold the next conference in Berlin in 1933.

Sir Almroth Wright, English bacteriologist, was named honorary president.

Argument Among Scientists

PARIS, July 25.—(AP)—Several doctors, including one from the United States and one from Canada, expressed opposition to general use of the Calumette-Guerin tuberculosis vaccine.

Dr. Petroff, director of research of the Trudeau, N. Y., sanitarium, said "steam roller" methods had prevented his voicing an opinion earlier. He asserted that the Calumette vaccine was capable of developing virulence.

That view was supported by Dr. R. A. Watson of Ottawa. He affirmed that during five years of experiment five per cent of innoculated animals developed "extensive generalized tuberculosis and most of these died." He added that innoculated cows were found to have virulent tuberculosis bacilli in their milk.

Dr. Petroff also told of growing opposition to the Calumette innoculation. Several other doctors voiced opposition to the Calumette vaccine with which it was said 250,000 children in Europe had been innoculated since 1924.

Outing for Children.

Over 400 children from underprivileged families of the near north side will be given their annual picnic at Jackson park by the Olivet institute today. The children will make the trip in a special elevated train leaving Sedgwick and North avenue station at 10:30 a. m. Norman B. Barr, superintendent, is in charge of arrangements.

'FEDORA' AT RAVINIA IS LIVELY DRAMA AS WELL AS GOOD OPERA

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Once upon a time "Fedora" was an artificial but effective drama. Now it is an equally artificial, but rather more effective, opera. In its second guise it was presented at Ravinia last night, revealing all over again that, whatever it may lack in lofty musical inspiration, it is about as good theater as one is likely to find on the operatic stage.

It was especially effective with Yvonne Gall in the rôle of Fedora. In few of her rôles has this artist got so completely into the skin of the character as this. The term of singing actress is sometimes loosely applied, but in this case it fitted well. In voice and action, in demeanor and gesture Mme. Gall surrounded herself with the art of tragedy.

Fedora needs a Loris, and in Giovanni Martinelli Mme. Gall found a worthy teammate. Mr. Martinelli first melodically swept the audience with his solo, "Amor Ti Vieta," the prettiest tune of the score, then he and Mme. Gall went to emotional heights with the exciting scene that ends the second act. The result was that the audience indulged in loud applause for minutes after the fall of the curtain.

The number of good small rôles, too, was to be measured by the number of names on the program. One remembers with special pleasure the brightness of Margery Maxwell as she sang the mazurka, the polish of Giuseppe Danise in his Russian ballad, the striking bit of tragedy by Leon Rothier in the brief part of the old coachman, an equally striking bit of comedy by Philine Falco in the disguise of the Polish piano virtuoso. And there were others, many of them.

Washington's Trowel Used for Laying of N. E. A. Cornerstone

Washington, D. C., July 25.—(AP)—The trowel George Washington used to place mortar on the capitol's cornerstone in 1793 was taken from its resting place today for the ceremony of laying another cornerstone—that of headquarters for the National Education association.

C. Fred Cook, Masonic official, was selected to lay the cornerstone for the structure, which also will be the headquarters office of the national congress of parents and teachers.

William John Cooper, commissioner of education, said in a prepared speech: "These ceremonies are symbolic; they record achievement and they register aspiration."

Another speaker, E. Ruth Prytle, of Lincoln, Neb., said the building marked the replacement "of theories of foreign origin by democracy in education." She added that "European nations are already beginning to borrow from us as we formerly borrowed from them."

Chicago Party Excavates Old Castle Door in Turkey

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

ISTANBUL, July 25.—The Chicago-Oriental institute, working at Alissar, has discovered a large Hittite castle door ornamented with bas reliefs representing a deer. The find has been transferred to the Ankara museum. Road builders at Scalanova recently uncovered a chiseled stone which aroused the curiosity of a highway engineer, who continued probing and found Bycantine vases and pieces of money, apparently deliberately buried beneath the rock. The discovery may mark large treasure trove.

Fashion Jury Studies Styles for This Fall

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

To the committee of authorities sitting in judgment last night on the fall styles, to decide which was and which was not worthy of a place in the fashion promenade of the Chicago Women's Apparel Manufacturers, Aug. 4 to 8, the motto of the autumn mode appeared to be, "I am what I am." Few compromises are discernible either in line or color.

If a dress starts out to be one color, especially an evening dress, it hews firmly to its chosen color line without variation, and if there is a wrap it must frequently adopt the same shade and material. If milady decides on velvet for a costume in the formal manner, she errs grievously if she undertakes to combine another material with that regal cloth. Hemlines have ceased to waver, and are firmly and uncompromisingly even all around; whether for street, in which case they have descended to midway down the calf, or for evening, when they just miss the floor.

The silhouette for fall remains substantially the same as during the spring season—gowns are molded to below the hip line, where the fullness becames noticeable. Sometimes it is achieved through a circular flaring skirt, as in a number of smart sport costumes certain to be popular on the campus, which boast flannel guimpes with long sleeves and imported tweed jumpers with berets to match. Sometimes it takes the form of graduated flounces billowing down to the floor. Always it is emphatically feminine.

Suits for fall have gone "elegante," and will surely appear in more exclusive haunts than they have ever invaded previously. For as often as not they are actually composed of a closely fitting dress of velvet or satin, with a coat of the same shade of velvet lavishly trimmed with fur. One such model shown last night at the Great Northern hotel, where the selections were made, had a coat of velvet lined with French blue satin and trimmed with Persian lamb. The same satin made the exaggeratedly long blouse, falling to the knees above the velvet skirt. Simply removing the coat leaves one impeccably attired for many social functions.

An evening ensemble prominent among those displayed was of brocaded white mousseline de soie, with ruffles of the plain material set on from the hipline to the floor. A short flounced cape of the brocaded material was lined with heavy white satin and had a loose scarf of the plain mousseline de soie caught at the back of the neck with a buckle, to be worn thrown around the throat.

The "cowl" collar, the modified "leg o' mutton" sleeve and the black sequins that so copiously decorated evening gowns and hats a generation ago are back in favor. Along with the other more feminine angles of the mode, hats have taken to tilting a bit to the right side so as to show a bit of tresses, contrary to the severely unadorned and high foreheads that have been chic.

The style show will be held at the Congress hotel Aug. 4 to 8, in the gold room.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, July 25.—The first day of exhibitions of Paris winter fashions fulfills the expectation of style modification. Femininity is confirmed with reservations. Statuette lines eliminate the Dresden shepherdess. Grecian nymphs go tailored for daytime. There is a strong effort to consolidate double standard fashions by unifying skirt lengths. Sport hems remain unchanged. In the morning they will be twelve inches from the floor, and in the afternoon eight. In the evening skirts vary between the ankles and the toes. Trains are cut off in their prime.

Inside blouses retreat before the onslaught of tunic blouses and one piece dresses.

Dresses and coats shake off ensemble shackles. Coats are more decorative than dresses. Slim, flared, and fitted coats vie with straight coats with separate belts accentuating the normal waistline. In wrist length eleven-twelfths length and full length predominate.

Daytime dresses are extremely simple, being high necked and collared, with moderate skirt fullness from pleat panels. Lyolene, a new house, finds favor with buyers for sophistication achieved by schoolgirl simplicity.

SOMETHING OUGHT TO BE DONE ABOUT THIS

W. Rufus Abbott Named President of Industry Museum

W. Rufus Abbott, chairman of the board of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, has been appointed as president of the Museum of Science and Industry, now being established in Jackson park, it was announced yesterday. Mr. Abbott succeeds Sewell Avery, who has been president since 1928 when the Commercial club of Chicago appointed a committee to supervise construction of the building and assembling of material in accord with the desires of Julius Rosenwald, principal donator to the museum fund.

At the present time reconstruction of the exterior of the building, known as the Fine Arts building during the World's Fair of 1893 is nearly completed. It is expected the roof will be finished this fall. Several committees have been appointed by Mr. Abbott to prepare the exhibits and collect material and over one hundred corporations have promised loans of early specimens of various early industrial equipment. This museum, which was largely endowed by Julius Rosenwald, will be unique in that every visitor will be urged to handle exhibits as much as desired to become familiar with working models. Models of the museum have been prepared and approved and are now on display.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Pigs, poultry, calves and in fact nearly all animals have a sense of taste the same as humans. This was the declaration of Prof. E. L. Dakan of Ohio State university at a meeting of buttermilk interests here yesterday.

Recent scientific experiments have firmly established this fact, and have changed the whole process of animal and poultry feeding thereby, he said. Furthermore, this will enable the farmer to increase his returns from feeding live stock. Heretofore the only consideration in feeding stock and poultry was to give them as much food as possible.

That is changed now, he explained. An important consideration in view of the realization of taste means farmers will be feeding stuffs that appeal to the animal palate and thus aid digestion as in humans. He stated that semi-solid buttermilk had been found excellent in this respect by Prof. Harry Lewis of the New Jersey agricultural experiment station and by practical feeders. Poultry fed this food come to market much more quickly and may be called milk-fed, while pigs develop firmer, more edible meat in this manner, the Ohioan reported.

The common stalk borer, a white and brown striped caterpillar which bores into the stems of any thick-stemmed plant, is prevalent this season, according to J. J. Davis, Purdue university entomologist. He says it is not only attacking corn, but tomatoes, oats and flower garden plants as well.

Injury becomes conspicuous by a wilting of the shoot or stalk or in the case of oats by a premature whitening of the head. The insect appears as a moth in late summer or early fall and lays eggs in grassy, weedy areas. Hence, infestation is usually noted along the edges of fields or gardens. Fall plowing and destruction of weeds are recommended in farm fields to check its progress.

In tomato or garden plants the insect can be destroyed by hand in the borer stage, by pinching the stalk, beginning at the point where the excrement is issuing from the opening, and continuing the pinching process to the point where the larvae are feeding. Others use a wire, thrust into the burrow to kill the worm.

It is advisable, Prof. Davis says, to pull off or cut off at the ground infested corn, burning or carrying such infested stalks to the barnlot for feed. The borers will spread from one "host" or plant to another if not thus checked.

Eastern Coast Social Season in Full Swing

BY THALIA

Most of the fashionable summer resorts are just launching into the most strenuous part of their summer season, with elaborate programs of sports and social activities. The new Bar Harbor club is having its formal opening today with an all day schedule of swimming, tennis, and social events.

An exhibition of professional swimmers will be given in the new pool this morning, and this afternoon's program includes a tennis match between two of the leading amateurs in the country, J. Brooks Fenno Jr. of Boston and Germann Upmann of Havana, Cuba.

This evening there is to be the first board of governors ball, preceded by several large dinners at the club and in the colony. Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock is entertaining one of the large parties at the first of a series of four concerts this afternoon, to be given by the Marianne Kneisel string quartet. Yesterday afternoon the first airplane of the weekly service just established between Bar Harbor and Boston, arrived and next week a series of dinner dances for the young people will begin. Tennis week, when several United States and British battleships are expected to arrive in the harbor begins Monday, Aug. 4. The vessels will bring the officers who are to compete in the ninth international maritime tennis tournament between naval officers of the two nations. Entertainments during the week will include a benefit ball for the Bar Harbor hospital on Tuesday evening, and the annual Navy ball on Friday evening at the clubhouse.

Miss Mildred McCormick is a member of the committee for the annual flower show to take place next Thursday at the Building of Arts. The Yacht club is having a special ladies' race on Monday afternoon in which Miss Eleanor McCormick, daughter of the Robert Hall McCormicks, and Miss Mildred McCormick are entered. Mr. and Mrs. William Prescott Hunt and Miss Marie Rozet arrived this week and are at the Malvern hotel. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. has arrived to visit his mother, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, at Baymeath at Hulls Cove.

The Little Harbor club, composed of summer residents in the north Michigan district that includes Harbor Point, Wequetonsing, and Roaring Brook, is holding its formal opening today also, with a tea and reception this afternoon, a dinner dance and midnight supper this evening. Chester F. Ericson is president of the club, Byron T. Gifford, the vice president and treasurer, and Robert W. Hyman, the secretary. There are about 30 members, many of whom are having guests for the opening festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Kelley of Lake Forest will give a dinner-dance at Shore Acres this evening. The Russell Kelleys were hosts at a dinner party last night for their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Asa D. Wallace of St. Louis, Mo.

The 26th annual Lake Geneva midsummer show of flowers, fruits, vegetables, and dairy products is to be given on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 8 and 9 at Horticultural hall, under the auspices of the Lake Geneva Garden club. The annual exhibit of flowers and produce from the gardens about the lake is always one of the important events of the season. The beneficiary is, as usual, Holiday Home, where almost 1,000 children in groups of 80 are given a 2 weeks' outing each summer.

Mrs. Edwin B. Frost is chairman of the general committee, with Mrs. Henry Bartholomay assisting. The other committee chairmen include Mrs. Walden W. Shaw in charge of vegetables; Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson, wild flowers; Mrs. William F. Peterson, dairy products; Mrs. William N. Pelouze, cut flowers; Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin, flower arrangement; Mrs. A. K. Maxwell, table decoration; Mrs. Frank B. Porter, wall pockets; Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley, cakes; Mrs. Catherine Bartholomay Osborne, fruit; members of the Chicago and Elgin clubs, refreshments; Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, publicity and treasurer; Mrs. George G. Parker, printing.

Two weddings enliven today's calendar. The marriage of Miss Gertrude Lucey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Lucey of 442 Wellington avenue to J. Allen Newton, son of Robert Crittenden Newton of 64 Cedar street, will be solemnized at 4:30 o'clock at Holy Name cathedral. The wedding and the reception to follow at the residence of the bride's parents will be small affairs, attended only by relatives and a few close friends. Mrs. Thomas Wheelock will be matron of honor for Miss Lucey, and William Rend Newton will be best man for the groom.

At the same time this afternoon Miss Nancy Langworthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Langworthy of Evanston, and Adon N. Smith II. of Cleveland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. Smith of Hamilton, Canada, will be married at the First Presbyterian church of Evanston. Miss Langworthy's attendants will include Mrs. Charles Baker Jr., Miss Frances Murray, Miss Harriet Mann, and Mrs. Morgan Manchester of Madison, Wis. Brownell Bradstreet of Winnetka will be Mr. Smith's best man. A reception will be held after the ceremony at the Langworthy residence.

Miss Tatge was graduated in June from the University of Chicago. Mr. Zopff is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. Your Permanent Repays Care with a Glossy Luster

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Getting a permanent isn't the half of it. It's only the beginning of it. The operation, though the hair comes out from under it beautifully waved, doesn't by any manner of means take your hair off your mind. The permanently waved head craves attention. It has to get it or the hair will turn out almost as much of a bother as it was in its stringy state; almost—not quite, for a permanent is one of those blessings for which we cannot send up too much thanks, if it is a successful one.

And speaking of successful permanents, if you love your hair, or if you want to love it, don't go shopping for bargain waves. It's not good budgeting while there are standard methods and skilled operators to be had. Save on some other item of upkeep—one hat less—one pair of shoes less, or get along without the jade necklace. Anyway, it is a talent to know to a second just how much heat your head is going to stand and come out with some of the oil in the scalp that you brought to the shop. The amateur's weakness is ignorance of the principles of hair weight and heat.

I don't mean you to have to spend the whole week's salary on a permanent, either. You do not get the best kind in a one cheap—but you can get reasonable prices along with an excellent wave. The thing is to know something about your operator—something good, too.

Then, when you come back home in all your new siren glory, don't be afraid of the hairbrush. It won't hurt the wave. Anyway, the hair is more important to your looks than the wave, doubt it if you will. A dried-up head waved to the last ripple is not nearly so successful a coiffure as a wave with gloss in the hair it holds in place. It's the only way you get a good luster to the hair.

You will find, in all probability, unless your hair is naturally oily, that a pomade rubbed into the scalp and into the ends of the hair from time to time is necessary to maintain a good luster. In fact, if the hair is dry you had better give it a once a week oil soaking. Unless you are going to shampoo it next morning, don't soak scalp and hair—just grease with the oil. A lotion [wave setting] is more satisfactory than water if you set your wave yourself.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

G. N.: A WARM BATH AT NIGHT and a cold shower in the morning is the best method to clean and tone up the skin. The circulation of good healthy blood is the thing which makes the good complexion and prevents facial blemishes. My booklet on the skin may be had for a stamped addressed envelope.

T. F.: THE EGG SHAMPOO IS suggested for blondes. Beat up the whites of three eggs and add a tablespoonful of water for each egg white. Wet the hair, use the egg as you would soap. Rinse thoroughly, adding lemon juice to the last rinse water.

Julius Caesar!

When I studied English in junior high school the class had to read "Julius Caesar" by William Shakespeare. We also studied the life of Shakespeare. Our teacher asked one of the pupils, "Who was Anne Hathaway?"

Instead of giving the true fact that Anne Hathaway was the wife of Shakespeare, the girl said, "Anne Hathaway was the wife of Julius Caesar."

The class could not suppress their laughter and the poor girl, amid great confusion, sat down. She said later that she would have given a lot to have the floor open up and swallow her just then! I don't doubt that at all.

Torrid Weather Brings Gifts to Free Ice Fund

"Enclosed please find $1 for THE TRIBUNE free ice fund. I will send another dollar next month."

That message arriving yesterday from a mother on the south side speaks for itself. It is one of the many sacrificial gifts to the ice fund this season, one of the many dollars scraped together by friends who really can't afford it, but who know how very much ice is needed in underprivileged homes.

Such days as yesterday and the day before, and the day before that, bring home the necessity for health giving ice, to contributors. It isn't hard to visualize conditions in those cooped up families of eight or ten members.

Could you, reader, face a hot day getting meals for that many without your trusty ice filled refrigerator? Could you face all day long the fretting of a baby, ill because his milk soured for want of a cool place to keep it? Ice costs only a few cents. So you see that your dollar really works when invested in THE TRIBUNE free ice fund.

Gifts arrived from the following yesterday:

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover left the White House this morning driving her own car bound for the presidential fishing lodge on the Rapidan. With her were Mrs. Herbert E. Crosby and Mrs. L. E. Reichelderfer, wives of the commissioners of the District of Columbia; Mrs. Mark Sullivan and Mrs. David Lawrence, wives of newspaper correspondents, and Mrs. Stark McMullin, a White House guest. The President, with the husbands of Mrs. Hoover's guests, and one or two others, left for the camp later in the day.

Attorney General Mitchell was joined a few days ago by Mrs. Mitchell, who has been for many weeks in their Minnesota home with their sons.

Senator and Mrs. James Couzens have started for their home in the country near Detroit. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Jeffries Chewning Jr., the latter formerly Miss Margo Couzens, will occupy the house at 3110 Woodland drive the remainder of the summer. On the return of the senator and Mrs. Couzens they will take possession of the house at 2850 Woodland drive which they recently purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Matthews Dick, formerly of Chicago.

Budgets Work for Some, but Not for All Temperaments

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A couple planning to marry next month are at the moment occupied in an argument about running their intended home on a budget. The bride-to-be is one of those practical, systematic little souls for whom budgets were originally planned, designed and fitted. The husband-to-be is irresponsible about money, a worker, a good earner, but possessing a soul that writhes under money censorship.

He is willing to save a certain amount of his salary every week, turn it over to his beloved for safe keeping, but he does not want to be reminded weekly of the financial status of the menage; and more, he resents the idea that he will be held accountable for every cent which, with the little demon budgeter he plans to marry, is probably what will happen.

There is no gainsaying that a budget is a great contributor to the success of a marriage venture. Not an inflexible one, however, unless the two involved are temperamentally disposed to adapt themselves to rules laid down for the spending of every penny.

The home, however, that is put on some reasonable, restraining budget basis can't help being more financially successful than the hit and miss operating plan, and there is no denying that another form of marriage success is had from the peace of mind that comes with well managed funds.

Budgets, no matter how modest, should allow for some recreation. There is no point, and less happiness, "in starving youth in order to nourish a cheerless senility," as one psychologist determines it. Thrift to the point of miserliness is not one of our besetting sins as a nation. But in one outstanding instance familiar to me the inflexible budget system became such a weight around the necks of a couple that their home was mean, their pleasure nil, and their dispositions sour.

But money being the power for marital discord that it is so well known to be, it ought to be treated as a factor for good or ill and disposed in some businesslike way so that the demoralizing effect of debt will be eliminated and the peace of mind of a rainy day fund experienced.

Young Letter Writers Tell About Ravinia

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I know every boy and girl who wrote me a letter for our Ravinia party is eagerly awaiting tomorrow morning's TRIBUNE and the news of the winners. Days as warm as these make me a little impatient for that cool ride we will be having aboard the North Shore to the scene of our party. And won't it be lovely to be able to watch the performance surrounded by huge shade trees and green shrubbery? I think an outdoor party in the month of July is the nicest kind to have.

After reading your splendid letters I have come to the conclusion that most of you agree with me as to the timeliness of this party. Perhaps you'd like to hear some of the things a winner had to say about it:

"Dear Sally: What a relief from the summer heat your Ravinia party will be. It's so hard to get away from the heat when the hot sun keeps beating down.

"But, ah—your party! That cool, thrilling ride on the North Shore railroad where there are so many beautiful things to see. That's something of which there is no equal for me. And, then, Ravinia itself! I am sure we couldn't have anything but a glorious afternoon there, and I am so anxious I just can't wait to see if my name is among those 'joy bound' winners. It will be 'Army and Navy' day and we will share in the entertainment and fun.

"Gosh, Sally, it sure means a lot to a fellow to go to such a delightful party at such a famous place. That is why I hope my name is listed with the lucky winners in next Sunday's TRIBUNE. I'll be waiting ever so anxiously. B. G."

There's another reason for "waiting ever so anxiously." Sunday morning means the announcement of a marvelous party you will all want to attend. Don't miss this good news!

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Carries Heavy Burden.

"I have been caring for my mother who has been sick for the last two years, and also trying to help my sister and her four children. Her husband has been ill and out of work and we've hardly been able to keep the family in food and clothing. I have not been working for a few weeks, but expect to have a job soon, and I haven't a decent dress to wear and I am still wearing my winter coat, which is five years old. If anyone has a dress or coat, size 38 or 40, I would be grateful to get them. My sister's children are girls, 11 and 1½ years, and boys, 6 and 8.

"Mrs. C. M."

This is a huge responsibility for one woman and I think she deserves to have a little of the burden lifted from her shoulders.

1. What are vitamins? One of our well known authorities in nutrition, Walter E. Eddy, Ph. D., Teacher's college, Columbia university, answers: "They are simple chemical substances present in natural food stuffs in differing concentrations and their absence from the diet sooner or later results in a definite diseased condition, the condition enabling us to state definitely what vitamin is lacking."

2. Does the average person get too few? And what indicates a deficiency? "Yes. Indications are lowered resistance to infectious diseases and lack of pep."

3. What happens if we get too many? "Nothing, so far as is known, beyond abundant health and vigor."

4. Where are vitamins obtained? "Directly from plants or indirectly through foods furnished by animals fed on plant rich foods."

5. How many vitamins are there, what are their functions, and where are they found? "Vitamin A. Complete absence of this vitamin leads to serious eye disease known as xerophthalmia. A deficiency of this vitamin results in lowered resistance to diseases of upper respiratory organs—colds, influenza, pneumonia, tonsillitis. An abundant source is cod liver oil, butter, and eggs, and an excellent source is milk and green, leafy vegetables. An excess of this vitamin is stored in the body.

"Vitamin B which is of a dual nature, prevents beri beri and pellagra—two diseases that lead eventually to death. It is found in whole cereals, vegetables, and milk. This vitamin is not stored in the body to any appreciable extent, so we must be sure that we eat foods containing them daily.

"Vitamin C prevents and cures scurvy. A deficiency is thought by some to cause pyorrhea. The sore, aching muscles and bones that we sometimes think is rheumatism has also been attributed to a shortage of C in the diet. It is found in raw vegetables and fruits. Citrus fruits, tomatoes, and raw cabbage are especially rich in C. Foods rich in C must be eaten daily.

"Vitamin D prevents rickets in children and regulates mineral metabolism in adults. Abundantly found in cod liver oil and egg yolk and occurs to a considerable extent in green vegetables and milk.

"Vitamin E is necessary for reproduction. Occurs in all seeds such as beans, peas, whole cereals. A diet will be amply supplied if enough of other vitamins are obtained.

Summary: To avoid retarded development, suffering, lack of physical and mental energy or general inefficiency keep on the safe side by introducing into your diet an abundance of vitamins.

UNIQUE BREAKFAST DISH

Lettuce Scrambled eggs
Tomato Boiled ham

On two or three leaves of lettuce place a slice of tomato about one-half an inch thick. In the center of the tomato place some scrambled eggs and on top of the eggs place three very thin slices of boiled ham cut with a doughnut cutter and then cut in half again, making small horseshoe cuts. Lay the ham on top of the eggs in a row. Serve with French dressing.

Precautions.

Whip the eggs with a little cream before scrambling. Then scramble so that they will form pretty yellow balls, not too large. This is best done by using a fork and stirring with it constantly while the eggs are cooking. This breakfast salad is most substantial. When it is served with fruit, toast, and cocoa or milk it can also be used as an ideal breakfast luncheon. The attractive colors and the striking whole are excellent stimulators to the jaded appetite.

Suggestions for Vacation Fun on Hot or Rainy Days

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

For the extremely hot weather, for the rainy days of summer, for the time which is spent indoors during vacation, there are many things that can be planned.

In the first place, there's reading. "Please, mother, mayn't I sit up a little while and read?" is a plea that doesn't have to be denied—or scarcely made—during vacation. Summer reading lists and help in selecting books are obtainable at the libraries. Reading in connection with outdoor trips or simply because of an interest in the world of nature is logically done at this time.

My own list of books of the outdoor world was prepared for that purpose, and may be had on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Then there's the doing of all those things that may be a child's special skill or hobby—carpentry, mechanical work, drawing, writing, making a collection, modeling, sewing, cooking, practicing some musical instrument, etc. He can have unlimited time to indulge his desires or talents during vacation.

There are the swimming pools—municipal, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., and hotel pools which are more expensive. There are the museums of art and of natural history. In these cool retreats for a hot summer day are not only the fascinating exhibits but often story hours, lectures, and motion pictures arranged for both small children and older ones.

Museums are not exhausted in one or two visits, either. I know children who have had the museum habit since they were 5 years old, and show no signs of its abating.

After children have been over a museum in a sketchy way they will often begin to develop a special interest, and then each time they go they will return to that special exhibit. It's astonishing how much knowledge they accumulate about dinosaurs, or Indians, or old weapons, or armor, or some craft.

But use your discretion. You know how tired you get when you go to an art gallery, or any place where you stand and stand and look. Remember this when you have the children at a museum, and don't let them stay until they feel physically tired. Also it's better mentally for them to leave feeling, "O, dear, I haven't seen enough," than to have them feeling satiated.

There are things to do in the city in the summer which have not been covered—zoos, aquariums, and walks.

Lanvin Garnishes White Satin with Silver Fox

J. ROUES. PARIS.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—The evening ensembles worn during the Paris season are the last word in luxury. Costly materials, pile velvets, gold and silver brocades, allover embroideries at $30 a meter, garnished with beautifully unnecessary furs, are used by the Paris couturiers to make the Parisienne into a delight to the masculine eye and a menace to the masculine pocketbook.

Among all the pastel shades in which the sweet young things of Paris deck themselves for evening, pure white or dead black stands out with great distinction.

The smartest ensemble at the grand gala of the ambassadeurs, the other night, was of snowy white wedding-ring satin garnished with silver fox. It was from Lanvin worn by a slender princess with dead black hair and a skin like creamy magnolia petals. The frock was a sleeveless princess, totally unadorned, with rounded decolletage and ankle length circular skirt.

The white satin coat showed the latest Paris tendency to lengthen the evening wrap. It was fitted in at the natural waist line and slightly cutaway in front. The super-cavalier cuffs were given an amusing flared fullness by means of five horizontal tucks placed at the inside of the arm, just under their bands of silver fox trimming. Silver fox made the shawl collar. White satin slippers with dark tourterelle stockings also forecast the fall foot trend, for you know our stockings are to be darker than they've been since before the war.

SUBDEB'S DRESS.

This stunning dress for the subdeb follows closely in the style of her older sister. The long waisted bodice is caught in plaits at the left hip beneath a bow, making the right side quite deep and emphasizing its diagonal line. The gathered tiers of the skirt are youthful and graceful. Chiffon in a coral red shade, or printed tub silk in a dusty pink tone, with the bows of the deepest color of the print would be lovely.

The pattern, 3282, comes in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material with ¼ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

CHICAGO PAIR BEATS PERKINS AND M'CRARY

John Trims Briton, 8 and 7.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Johnny Lehman of Olympia Fields and Ira Couch of Glen View will meet today in an all Chicago final for the western amateur golf title.

Lehman continued his march toward the throne from which he previously had tumbled Don Moe, the defending champion, by overwhelming T. P. Perkins of Fox Hills, N. Y., 8 and 7, in the semi-finals yesterday at the Beverly Country club.

In the other bracket Couch was forced to make a remarkable shot from the rough to within 18 inches of the pin to stand off the late rally of Bob McCrary. Couch won, 2 and 1.

First Chicago Final Since 1912.

This will be the first time that two Chicago golfers have reached the final since Chick Evans beat Warren Wood at Denver in 1912.

Lehman has overthrown Lloyd Nordstrom, who led the field on the first day of the qualifying round; George Dawson of Glen Oak; Don Moe, defending title holder; and Perkins, the 1928 British champion. To make his prestige still greater, Johnny has the honor of being joint medalist with Chick Evans.

In the wake of his advance Couch has left Don Anderson of St. Louis, Homer Joy of Colorado Springs, C. M. Fish of Rockford, and finally Bob McCrary, trans-Mississippi champion.

Couch's prospects of victory were seldom as gloomy as they were yesterday in the afternoon round when his iron shot from the 17th tee bounced off the green and rolled down an embankment to the rough, after McCrary had laid his within 12 feet of the pin.

Couch Recovers to Win.

Ira was 2 up at this point and had he been playing any one other than McCrary it might have been considered a safe lead. But McCrary had proved in his previous matches that he wasn't through playing golf until the last putt had fallen.

Couch found his ball in the heavy rough with a steep bank between him and the green. He swung sharply with a niblick and the ball looped up over the bank. It dribbled across the rolling surface of the green and stopped 18 inches from the cup. Couch holed out and the match was over.

Lehman took the lead on the second hole in his match with Perkins and never was headed.

Lehman played cautiously and was able to end the first nine with a lead of one hole. He went to two up on the 11th by playing a great iron shot through the trees to the green after he had hooked his spoon into the woods. Perkins' tee shot on the 12th caught a trap and Johnny went three up. He increased that lead when Perkins three-putted the 14th. Perkins got one back on the 15th when Johnny drove into the woods, but lost it again when his ball became covered with mud and caused him to three-putt the 17th.

Halve First Two.

On the last hole of the morning round Lehman, made one of his greatest drives. Estimates of its distance averaged 325 yards, and he was on the green in two. This was the first time any one has performed this feat during the tournament. This gave him another hole, and he ended the first half of the match five up.

They halved the first two holes in the afternoon, but Lehman went to six up on the 21st by laying his tee shot two feet from the pin. He lost the next, however, by sending his second over the green and into a trap. They halved the 23d and Johnny again went to six up on the 24th by pitching to within six feet of the pin and holing the putt after both had been trapped. Stymies on the 25th and 26th cost Perkins another two holes and Johnny was eight up. They halved the next three and the match was over. The cards:

Schmeling Saved from Drowning as Boat Capsizes

BERLIN, July 25.—Max Schmeling narrowly escaped drowning today when his motorboat capsized during a storm in Lake Scharmuetzel, just outside of Berlin. He swam until nearly exhausted, and then occupants of another boat rushed up and hauled him out.

New Winners Announced in Tribune Golf

New winners in THE TRIBUNE'S public links golf tournament are announced today. They have scored their victories against opponents whom they never have seen, but in their matches they experienced thrills almost as great as those which experts feel when they make great shots before admiring galleries.

New pairings will be announced tomorrow. These will include the names of those who have participated in first and second round matches, together with those who are just entering the tournament.

Check These Pairings.

If you already have sent in a card look through these pairings for the name of your opponent and then go to your favorite course and play your part of the match while your adversary is doing the same on a links of his choosing.

This competition, which is something new in tournaments, is exciting interest among golfers throughout the district, for it gives every player an equal chance, whether he is an expert or a duffer. Those who shoot in the 70s are matched against others who shoot in the 70s, while those who report scores in the 120s are sent up against others who do likewise.

You Still Can Enter.

If you haven't already entered this unique tournament there is still a limited time left to do so. Go out this week-end, play 18 holes, and mail your card to THE TRIBUNE golf editor. Then an opponent will be selected whose ability is about equal to yours and you will get a chance to have all the fun of tournament competition with none of the inconvenience. And maybe next week your name will be on a list of winners such as this:

TILDEN DEFEATS BOROTRA IN CUP PLAY; LOTT LOSES

Cochet Whips Chicagoan in Straight Sets.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 25.—America divided the first round of the singles play today in the Davis cup matches with the venerable Bill Tilden beating Jean Borotra again, 2-6, 7-5, 6-4, 7-5, and Henri Cochet winning from George Lott, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

Today's results dim the United States' chances of recapturing the trophy because if the Bounding Basque plays on Sunday as well as he did today, and the Chicago youth makes as many errors America seems certain to lose. Cochet figures to beat Tilden, having regained his form, and if France wins both singles matches the doubles won't matter.

Cochet on Doubles Team.

France this afternoon elected Cochet to play with Brugnon in the doubles against Allison and Van Ryn. This reveals how fresh the French champion emerged from his encounter with Lott, and also indicates his determination to brush up against Allison again after his defeat by the latter at Wimbledon.

Tilden, playing before stands packed with hostile crowds anxious to see the United States defeated, dropped the first set, and the Basque had him 4-1 and then 5-2 in the second set before the tide turned.

The agile Gaul had everything at the beginning, but Bill never was worried. At 5-2 in the second set, Borotra began to perspire, and while Tilden ran through five straight to win, the Basque tired perceptibly.

Borotra got so that he didn't even try for them when he was out of position. But he opened 3-1 to lead the third set before Tilden steadied to even things. Then from 4-all, Tilden ran out.

The Basque made a last heroic effort in a rally in the fourth set after Tilden won the first four games. Borotra then took his service and Tilden followed by winning his. With the score 5-1 against him Borotra took a new lease on life and won four in a row to make it 5-all, scoring three aces and bringing out every fancy and spectacular shot he knew. The Frenchman enjoyed the breaks through this run, but in the eleventh game Tilden stiffened to 6-5 and won the match point in the next game with a cannon ball.

Big Bill received a tremendous ovation and so did Borotra. Suzanne Lenglen, who is now a dressmaker specializing in sports clothes, and

Sun Beau 5-2 Favorite to Win Arlington Handicap Today

BY FRENCH LANE.

The $35,000 added Arlington handicap will be run over the Arlington race course this afternoon, and if public opinion means anything Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Beau will be the winner.

The race attracted 17 in the overnight entries and may have a gross value of $48,000. Sun Beau was made the favorite and was held at 5 to 2 in the betting.

Another eastern horse, Curate, owned by Joseph E. Widener, was the second choice at 5 to 1. Lady Broadcast, which will carry the silks of Rogers Caldwell of Memphis, was the third choice, and the odds were 6 to 1. The prices ranged on up to 50 to 1, with Jean Valjean, a Kentucky son of Stefan the Great, the long shot.

May Be Worth $38,000.

Except for the $100,000 Agua Caliente handicap, the Arlington race today is the richest all age handicap to be run in America this year. If all the seventeen overnight nominees start it will be worth nearly $38,000 to the winner. If there are no changes in track conditions it is a certainty a dozen will face Starter Dickerson, but more likely 15 will go to the post.

It is expected the race will attract one of the largest turf crowds of the year, despite the fact that Arlington has offered one record breaking program after another. The handicap will be backed up by the $5,000 added North Shore steeplechase handicap and by six other races which make it one of the highest class and best balanced cards ever offered at a Chicago track.

The turf followers flocked to Sun Beau in the handicap after both Blue Larkspur and Misstep went amiss in their training and were unable to fill the engagement. They backed the big Kilmer star despite the 125 pounds he will be asked to carry. He has the high weight of the contest.

Curate Race's Mystery.

Curate, which is the mystery horse of the race because he has never appeared before a Chicago crowd, is a 4 year old son of Fair Play-Irish Abbess and was a disappointment in the spring 3 year old racing of 1929. However, he came through brilliantly last fall and won a revival of the Laurel stakes in October and was second to The Nut in the Latonia championship.

He has performed with high credit this season in revivals of the Brooklyn and Suburban handicaps and earlier in the week worked a mile and a quarter over the Arlington track in 2:04. Curate is asked to carry only 108 pounds this afternoon and Lady Broadcast's impost is 102 pounds, which, along with the fast mile she ran here a short time ago, has won her a big following.

No steeplechase, either at Belmont Park or Saratoga this season, has drawn a smarter lot of fencers than has the North Shore, which will be a gallop of two miles that should pay its winner $5,000.

In the best race on yesterday's card Snowflake, the proud daughter of Mad Hatter-Snowdrop, which has an American Coaching Club Oaks and an Illi-

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: I wonder how many recall a so-called "humorous" song entitled "My Mary Ann," which had considerable vogue back in the '80s. There were eight or ten verses, also a chorus which ended with this refrain:

O, she's a daisy, she's a dumpling
She's a darling, she's a lamb,
And you oughter hear her play the grand pianner,
Such a edgication has my Mary Ann.

Later a parody was popular in variety theaters, as they then were called, but our Victorian mothers would not permit it to be sung by the family group gathered around the big square piano for the usual evening "sing."

Admitting the parody was vulgar, one wonders what those same Victorian mothers, bless their hearts, would think of the suggestive songs (and accompanying writhings) that are listened to and sung by the hard-boiled youth of today without the bat of an eyelash, to denote any reaction of disgust.

A Gay Dog of the '80s.

Anent recent mention in this column of Tad (Thomas) Lincoln (Stuttering Tad, as called by the children) having attended Elizabeth Street school, now Tilden, in 1867. He may have attended that school, but it is doubtful in my mind. He was a bright boy, slight and delicate in health, too advanced to have attended a primary school, as he was at Dearborn school in 1863, living at the Stewart hotel, northwest corner of State and Washington streets. Later he moved to Edwina place, now Plymouth.

Tad did not stutter, as remembered by the writer, but had a slight deficiency in speech. He was born in 1853, a few months before the writer, who sometimes protected him from pests who teased him because of his manner of speech and his timidity. He died July 15, 1871.

Dieting.

The Wake has a friend who, according to his own confession, was "nearing one-eighth of a ton in weight," Therefore he decided to take off some of this accumulated tissue. Now, this friend is not hostile to good victuals, as the saying goes. This fact was known to the physician to whom he went for a diet regimen.

After the usual examination the physician mapped out a reducing diet. Then he continued, "Now, here are some pills to accompany the diet. They are to be taken not sooner than three and one-half hours after one meal and not less than one hour before the next. To take food in the meantime is extremely dangerous." That seemed to solve the eating between meals habit.

Our hero did not realize his dilemma at the time, but soon found he was confined to three meals a day, apparently. Did he give up? Not he. He now sets his alarm clock for 2 a. m., at which hour he raids the ice box for a cold snack, and then returns to sweet slumber. The strange port of this story is that our hero has lost 17 pounds, and the physician, who knows not of the early morning foraging, thinks he is accomplishing wonders.

NEW YORK HEARS ABOUT ARLINGTON PARK BEAUTIFUL

Fans Think Sprigs Might Help at Empire.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—The nature lovers of this place who journeyed to Chicago for some of the horse running at the Arlington park track were delighted by the trees and shrubs, the petunias and geraniums which they saw adorning those premises, and there now is some demand for a few sprigs of foliage and flowering herbs of one kind and another at some of the local racing grounds.

I never realized until now what gentle souls the New York horse track customers are, because most of the regular patrons are parties who live on or about Broadway by choice, and a man doesn't exactly wade knee deep in daisies and daffodils on the sidewalks of New York. Yet, the dispatches to the papers, including the highly sophisticated horse and faro journals published here, all trill rapturously about the landscape at Arlington, and citizens of this place, now returning to make the Saratoga season, dwell long and joyously on the generous width and comfortable design of the customers' chairs, the leakproof character of the Arlington roofs and the loveliness of nature in summer dress.

It seems that the public spirited stockholders of the Arlington plant, who take no profits from their investment, bought this dress for mother nature at great expense to themselves, for it also seems that she inclined to be a bit of a frump, unless encouraged.

Woody New York Tracks.

It is true that the New York horse tracks, with the exceptions of Belmont Park and Saratoga, are rather weedy looking reservations with few luxuries and only the most perfunctory gardening on their grounds, but the patrons never seemed to miss anything until the descriptions of Arlington made them shrub-conscious. The Arlington meeting drew off a large portion of the horse business which commonly used to go to the Empire City track at Yonkers and the contrast was such, between the best track in the west and the least pretentious plant in the east, that Squire Jim Butler, the grocery man, who owns Empire by himself, may have to set out a few pots of nasturtiums to appease the aesthetic requirements of the clientele next time he opens the gates for company.

Mr. Butler's track is the sort of horse track of which it is a boost to say nothing descriptive, there being no exciting natural glories on the place with the exception of some large practical trees that somehow happened to be there, relics of the days when the rebels fought the red coats on those grounds. Mr. Butler is a plain man and he runs a plain, quiet place beside the road.

A horse party who keeps statistics on such things states that eastern owners, including Walter J. Salmon, shipped about 300 head of betting stock to Arlington for the July trade this year, most of which, for lack of any better place to go, would have been barned up at Empire otherwise. The turnstile business at Empire is described as somewhat less than rushing this season, owing, in part to the absence of some of the most famous steeds in competition. But, then, it must be considered that July is the 'tween-time in racing on the eastern turf, and that Empire has long been regarded as a rural horse track and a quaint spot on the very rim of a big city.

Arlington More Cordial.

Of course, Belmont Park and Saratoga, being old tracks with awesome social traditions and patronage, doubtless can match sprig for sprig with Arlington at this time and Belmont, at least, should be able to outsprig

Let's Get Together on Carnera Bout, Mique Wires Duce

In addition to the customary affairs of state and the task of quelling Italian seismic disturbances Premier Benito Mussolini last night was struggling with the problem of arranging a fight show for Promoter Mique Malloy of Chicago at Comiskey park on the night of Aug. 14.

BENITO MUSSOLINI.

Mr. Malloy made his pugilistic enterprise an international issue yesterday by cabling the Italian dictator as follows:

"Primo Carnera, the boxer and wonderful specimen of Italian manhood, is really entitled to extension of stay in America. His proposed match here Aug. 14 will prove to all that he is a great fighter and the coming champion of the world."

The cablegram was inspired by the United States immigration bureau's recent order advising Carnera to hurry back to Italy with a minimum of delay, thereby precluding the possibility of his appearance against Leon Chevalier in what Mr. Malloy has been pleased to call "The Battle of Vindication." It is his theory that the ambulatory Latin mountain would dispose of Chevalier without resorting to any of the chicanery which enabled him to stop Chevalier in their first fight in California several months ago.

Besides enlisting the aid of the Italian government Mr. Malloy also sent telegrams to Senator Deneen of Illinois, Secretary of Labor Davis, and others whose names he did not disclose. He did not reveal the steps which he expects Mussolini to take in his behalf.

Sox Overtake Senators, Win in Ninth, 6-5

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The revived White Sox concealed their intentions until the closing innings yesterday. Then, when arrangements seemed about complete for them to take it on the chin, they revealed themselves as tough customers by scoring five runs in the three concluding rounds. The feat flattened the Washington crowd for the second straight, by a score of 6 to 5. The Sox now can boast about winning six of their last eight starts.

Various things conspired against the Senators after they had rolled up what appeared to be a comfortable margin for Alvin Crowder, who started against Tommy Thomas. One of the items was Bob Fothergill, who drove a couple of runs across in the seventh. Another was a concealed pebble which contributed to the harvesting of two more tallies for a tie in the eighth. Then Gregory Mulleavy and Carl Reynolds did the things needed to fetch in the deciding run in the ninth.

This is how the above mentioned pair did it. With two out, Mulleavy coaxed a pass from Irv Hadley, who had taken over Crowder's job in the eighth. An instant later Reynolds clubbed a liner to right and Mulleavy dashed for third, where good baseball decreed he should stop. But he kept on moving and reached home safely when the return throw pulled Spencer away from the plate.

McKain Replaces Thomas.

It will be Caraway against Jones today.

The Senators' scoring machine functioned in the first inning because of the collaboration of Judge and Manush. With one gone, Judge rapped a hard grounder just inside the right field line, and by the time Reynolds retrieved the ball the runner was at second base. He scored on a single shot straight past Thomas by

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 25.—The Cubs this afternoon skinned by with second string pitchers in accomplishing a 9 to 5 victory over the Phillies, thus resting the frayed regulars for the real pennant drive that opens in Chicago next Monday.

Root had to go in with one out in the ninth, but it didn't tire him much, for Charlie disposed of Friberg and Thevenow in rapid sequence. So this evening the situation seems well in hand, although a Brooklyn victory made it impossible for the Cubs to take over first place.

Lynn Nelson did a pretty fair job of pitching during the five and two-thirds innings he worked, and his triple with two on in the second inning gave the Cubs their first lead. Although Lynn has appeared in 21 games for the Cubs this year, his triple was the first hit he ever made in a major league game. Nelson was relieved in the sixth by Malcolm Moss, after two were out. He was in no distress at the time.

O'Doul Fails to Hit.

The two young men between them held Lefty O'Doul, leading hitter of the majors, to no hits and the best Klein, runnerup to O'Doul, could do was one hit in four times at bat.

Dan Taylor led the Chicago offensive with three singles and a triple. Doc Farrell continued his brilliant play both afield and at bat. He made three hits, bringing his total since becoming a regular in New York to ten hits in 22 times at bat for a mark of .455.

Pat Malone will oppose Phil Collins in the series final tomorrow. Pat will be after his 12th victory and Collins will be aiming for No. 12.

The Phillies made the first run of the game after two were out in the opening inning. Klein doubled and came home on Hurst's single. Hurst was out trying to steal.

It was in the second that Nelson got his first major league hit. Wilson walked, went to third on Dan Taylor's single and scored while Friberg was throwing out Grimm. Zack Taylor fanned. Farrell beat out a single to deep short. Nelson leaned on one of Benge's best offerings, sending it to the vicinage of the clubhouse in center field for a triple which scored D. Taylor and Farrell. Blair flied to Sigman.

The first four Cub batsman singled in the fourth, but only one run was scored. D. Taylor started it with a single to right, but was out when he tried to reach third on Grimm's single to center. J. Taylor singled to left and Grimm stopped at second. Farrell singled to left center, Grimm scoring and J. Taylor going to third. J. Taylor was out at the plate when he tried to score on Nelson's grounder to Thevenow. Blair was safe on Whitney's fumble, but Friberg threw out English.

Cuyler Leads Off with Hit.

Cuyler singled to get the fifth inning under way. Then Wilson walked for the second time. D. Taylor fouled to Whitney, but the bases were full when Grimm dropped a Texas leaguer in front of Sigman. Z. Taylor singled along the left field foul line, scoring Cuyler and Wilson. Farrell hit into what Umpire Rigler thought was a double play.

The Phils rose up for a cluster of three runs in the fifth. Sigman singled off Grimm's bosom and went to second while O'Doul was grounding to Grimm. Klein was hit by a pitched ball. Hurst singled off the right field wall, scoring Sigman and putting Klein on third. Whitney doubled to left, Klein scoring and Hurst stopping at third, whence he scored while Blair was throwing out Friberg. Thevenow popped to Grimm.

The Cubs made one run in the seventh on an error, D. Taylor's single and Farrell's out, and two runs in the eighth on two singles and D. Taylor's triple. In this inning Cuyler registered his 26th base theft of the season.

Snowflake ran last in the small field of five and was last all the way and never showed any inclination to improve her position. Nellie Custis broke fast from outside the gate, sailed into a three length lead immediately and held it nearly all the way. Valenciennes rallied right at the end and was going fastest of all at the finish and had pulled up to within a length of Nellie Custis when they went thundering by the judges' stand. Molasses Jane was third.

Says Snowflake Sulked.

Jockey Schaefer declared after the race that Snowflake had sulked all the way and would never extend herself. It was the first start Snowflake has made since she was beaten in the Arlington Oaks on a muddy track. The track veternarian examined the filly after the race and found that she was running a temperature.

Nellie Custis was making her first start of the year here and under a rousing ride by Jockey H. Schutte she ran the mile in 1:36 4-5. In the mutuels she paid $9.18.

A disqualification came in the Mount Morris purse for 2 year olds, which engaged some of the best juvenites here. Pittsburger, a Kentucky colt, finished first, but was disqualified after he had cut over in front of three horses at the sixteenth pole. After Pittsburgher was disqualified, Upright, owned by the Nash brothers of Chicago, was declared the winner. Don Alvardo was moved into second place and Birthday Gift, the favorite, was placed third.

Pittsburgher had been heavily backed and was the second choice. As a result Upright was a long shot and paid nearly 12 to 1 in the betting.

U. S. TRACK ACES FINISH FIRST IN FINNISH GAMES

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 25.—(AP)—America's touring track and field athletes made a clean sweep of the events in which they entered in a meet at Abo today. Reginald [Pete] Bowen of the University of Pittsburgh won the 100 meters in 11.2 seconds and the 400 meters in 48.4 seconds. C. Pendleton won the 200 meters dash in 22.7 seconds and the 110 meters high hurdles went to Steve Anderson of the University of Washington in 15.1 seconds. SMITTY—THE EVIDENCE

Tilden Wins, Lott Loses in Cup Play

Cochet Smothers Lott.

George Lott never was able to get started against Cochet. After swapping services Lott ran up to 4-3 in the opening set until the inexoraple little man settled down and began grinding. Lott lost set point by a double fault.

Lott took the sixth when Cochet became peevish, with a score of 40-15, and then threw away another point. Long rallies marked the third set with the pair volleying like machine gunners. There was a long series of deuces.

Cochet, always steadier, usually snatched his victory from deuces. Lott displayed amazing tennis in the last two sets, and only a nerveless machine like Cochet could have stood up against him.

Allison, during practice, seems to have got back on his feet again after a discouraging showing against the Italians last week, and it is expected that he and Van Ryn will be working together in their old form tomorrow. If they are near that form they should beat the French, as Cochet and Brugnon have not played together enough this season for close coördination.

YANKEES TRAIL CANADIAN PRO IN OPEN GOLF

LANCASTER, Ont., July 25.—(AP)—Leading professionals from the United States unleashed one attack after another today, but could not dislodge Nicol Thompson Sr., veteran Canadian pro, from the lead in the Canadian open golf championship.

Tonight with half the 72 holes behind him, Thompson, approaching the 50 year mark, had a 36 hole total of 137 and the lead by one stroke over Tony Manero, of Elmsford, N. Y., who shot his second 69 in as many days for a total of 138. Tied for third place at 139 were Johnny Farrell of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Walter Hagen.

Cubs to Be Guests of Medinah A. C. Tuesday

Manager Joe McCarthy and all of the members of the Chicago Cubs will be guests at a dinner at the Medinah Athletic club Tuesday night. They will be taken on a tour of the club. Boxing and wrestling matches have been arranged for their entertainment.

Ban Johnson Leaves to Fish for Salmon in Canada

Ban Johnson, former president of the American league, left yesterday for the Canadian Rockies, where he will spend a day or so at Banff. He then will proceed to Victoria where he will indulge in his favorite sport of salmon fishing in the interior of Vancouver island.

Sox Rally at Finish to Beat Senators, 6-5

Ball Bounds Past Barnes.

It wasn't Thomas' fault that the Senators made it 3 to 0 with a run in the fourth. After Bluege had been set down, Hayes lined a single to center. Barnes reached down for the bounder, but he grabbed in the wrong place and the ball went on its way to the fence. Hayes used the error as an excuse to hustle to third. He scored on Spencer's fly, which Jolley caught out near the wall.

In the fifth the Pale Hose managed to pair their blows for the first time, and a run resulted. Barnes opened the inning with a two bagger over third. Cissell shoved him home by singling to left.

Some more bad medicine from Manush was the potent factor in hanging up two more Washington runs in the seventh. Thomas tempted the Senators by giving Judge a pass with one out. Manush lost no time in whacking a single over short, his third blow of the game. It sent Judge to third. Cronin singled to center, Judge loping home, and Harris, who ran for Manush, taking third. He scored on West's sacrifice fly.

Fothergill Hits in Pinch.

Cissell started the seventh with a single to right. Tate singled Cissell to third and went to second himself on the throw-in. Fothergill then swung for Thomas and contributed a hit to right, Cissell and Tate scoring. This put the Sox two runs shy of a tie.

Mulleavy pushed open the eighth with a single off Hadley. A base on balls let Reynolds survive. Mr. Jolley then resorted to trickery to get his two mates home. He rapped a grounder directly at Hayes but the ball hit a pebble and hopped over the fielder's head, letting Mulleavy score and sending Reynolds to third. West was so surprised to see the ball coming into center field that he couldn't pick it up, and this gave Reynolds time to continue to the plate with the tying marker.

Arlington Glad Hand, Beauty Win New York

Arlington by a few tufts of greenery even now. The Belmont people operate on the same principle as guides the proprietors of Arlington, conducting their plant for sport and not for profit, and there has been great expenditure of money for hedges, hoes, and grass seed.

But, even so, there is no horse track in New York state which assumes the leadership and the highest authority in horse matters, to which the common customer has received the cordial bid that the Arlington promoters extended to the citizens of Chicago. I have been studying the contents of the New York newspapers for some years, but never have I seen any enthusiasm to compare with the advertisements which the Arlington parties placed in the Chicago papers, announcing their races, describing the show, and setting forth the horse race as a form of popular entertainment, convenient and comfortable.

Some of these announcements, I note, were of half page and full page size, and without knowing why it should be so, I believe the New York racing associations would regard this as a vulgar appeal to a class of persons who shouldn't be encouraged to look upon Belmont Park as their playground.

Don't Want Too Many.

In New York, it appears, the associations want customers, but not too many customers lest the customers come to feel at home and regard themselves as persons of some importance to the sport. At Arlington, on the contrary, the customers were urged to spend the day in comfort and pleasure and to familiarize themselves with some of the mysterious rites and sporting values of the game. They had 50,000 at Arlington one day, whereas the largest crowd I have seen on a big day at Belmont this year was about 35,000, on the day Gallant Fox beat Whichone.

Joseph Widener, the successor to August Belmont, has wished to popularize Belmont, but I don't think a man with his great social concerns knows how to go about it. There was more satisfaction in the presence of Lord Derby at one race at Belmont than there would be in an attendance of 100,000 common New York citizens, and 100 years from now in some magnificent successor to the present edifice at Belmont, there will hang upon a wall, framed on royal purple plush, some very plank that his lordship stepped upon, in person, authenticated by sworn affidavits.

1,470 BOYS, GIRLS RACE IN TRIBUNE SWIM TOMORROW

BY WILFRID SMITH.

When the 1,470 boys and girls who are entered in The Tribune's swimming races report at the Lincoln Park Boat club for their numbers at noon tomorrow they will find ample dressing room facilities have been provided.

The girls will dress in the club's house. The boys will use the storage rooms and the handball courts. Large paper bags will be given all contestants. The bags will be numbered to correspond with the numbers the swimmers will wear in the races. Custodians will guard the rooms and check the clothing. A matron will be assigned to the girls' room.

These arrangements have been made possible by the courtesy of the boat club, of which James Burke is commodore.

Numbers Ready at Noon.

The number clerks will be ready at noon. As each contestant reports he will be given his number and assigned to one of the preliminary heats. No numbers will be given out after 1:30.

The boat club is on the west bank of the lagoon south of the Fullerton avenue bridge which connects the outer drive with the middle Lincoln park drive. The entrance to the boat club is on the south. None save contestants and officials will be permitted within the enclosure.

Buses stop at the bridge. All drivers have been instructed to assist contestants in arriving at the boat club entrance.

The Lincoln park commissioners will permit parking on the east side of the outer drive north of North avenue beginning at noon and for the duration of the events. No parking will be permitted on the middle drive. Motorists must remember that traffic travels north only on the outer drive after 12 o'clock. Cars must not be parked parallel to the road, but where possible should be pointed east.

Life Guards to Be on Job.

Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the swimmers. Lincoln park life guards and Senior American Red Cross life guards will patrol the course.

Carpenters began work yesterday morning building starting rails on the huge barges which will be anchored across the lagoon. The diving board for the Central A. A. U. championships also will be ready by this morning.

Fifteen lanes, each six feet wide, will be laid out on the 100 yard course. These lines, with wood floats attached, will aid the contestants in swimming a true course. If necessary, seventeen swimmers can be sent away in each heat.

$45,000 Handicap . . . $5,000 Steeplechase

TWO brilliant features—the $35,000 added Arlington Handicap and the $5,000 North Shore Steeplechase—top a brilliant card of eight events at beautiful Arlington Park today. This handicap, which is the most generously dowered race of its kind offered anywhere during the major racing season, will probably have a purse greater than $45,000.

One of the largest fields ever to face a starter in a big race will go to the post this afternoon in the Arlington Handicap. Every horse gets an equal chance, as the superior horses will carry additional weights over the lesser known stars. This makes the outcome uncertain and adds unequaled thrills to the competition.

Birds Run Air Races to Train for Fall Flight

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicago is planning for some thrilling air races in August, but bird fans in Chicagoland do not have to wait a month for such a show. The martins, chimney swifts and barn swallows have put their entries in the big migration race to come this fall and now are on the aerial race track teaching their young to fly.

It's a great show if you know what it's all about. The other night we watched the martins do their stuff at dusk. We first were attracted by the noise of the birds. When we found them they were launching from their house on the top of the bluff overlooking Lake Michigan and then, taking big circles over the lake, they would return to the starting point.

T. E. Clarke of Hinsdale, Ill., writes that his colonies of martins and their relatives are staging their July air races with the idea of getting the young birds tuned up for a move. He says:

"On Sunday morning the 13th, shortly after daylight, our martins had an aerial race track near the house. Amongst them were swallows and chimney swifts and they certainly were teaching the young to fly.

"Every day since then, during some part of each day, they have continued their training stunts getting the young in good shape for the southern flight. Whenever I see them going through this performance and settling on the dead branches of trees I know that they are preparing to leave. I expect the martins that came to us in April to leave us within two weeks."

MRS. MARSHALL AND MRS. ZECH IN GOLF FINALS

Mrs. Rose Marshall of Marquette and Mrs. William Zech will meet today in the finals of the women's Cook county golf tournament at Jackson park. Neither had difficulty yesterday in the semi-finals, Mrs. Marshall winning from Mrs. Edith Wallace of Cherry Hills, 3 and 2, and Mrs. Zech defeating Mrs. G. Carnahan of Jackson park, 8 and 6.

Mrs. Wallace's putter cost her the match. She reached the turn two up on Mrs. Marshall, but lost the 11th when she put her second shot into the water, the 12th when her opponent holed a 20 foot putt for a birdie, and the 13th, 15th, and 16th by missing short putts.

HOLD HARMON LAST RITES AT STADIUM TODAY

Accompanied by motorcycle policemen, the body of Paddy Harmon will make its last trip to the Chicago Stadium today. At 10 a. m. the cortege will leave the funeral chapel at 3604 Ogden avenue and will arrive at the Stadium at 11 o'clock. Until 1:30 the body will lie in state in the huge structure which the late sports promoter built.

Judge John Lyle will deliver the eulogy. Burial will be in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Thousands of persons yesterday visited the chapel to pay their final respects to the founder of the Stadium. Telegrams expressing sympathy were received from hundreds of prominent men.

Mrs. May Harmon, the widow, who was injured in the automobile accident in which her husband was killed on Tuesday, may not be able to attend the services. She was confined to her bed during the greater part of yesterday. Dr. E. Thomas Brand, who also was injured in the crash, will attend the services on a stretcher.

HUDSON

is World's Largest Selling "EIGHT"

Registrations officially recorded by every State in the Union show that for this year more Hudson Eights have been delivered to consumers than any other eight in the world.

Here is the Why of Hudson Eight Leadership

The public's award of eight-cylinder leadership to Hudson comes in a year when eight-cylinder cars are in the spotlight of motor attention and scrutiny. All eights have been widely and carefully studied: eight-cylinder rivalry has been keen. And out of this situation has come the public's verdict for Hudson.

Proving how Hudson's performance deserves this leadership 25 stock cars were subjected, in a nation-wide test, to a solid week's non-stop run. All conditions of weather and roads were encountered. Some of these runs were made over country highways—some were altogether city driving. In each instance the motors ran without stop for 168 hours—7 days.

Average gas consumption in 124,750 miles was 14.585 miles per gallon. Top speed exceeded 80 miles an hour. Braking efficiency was approximately twice police standard. Acceleration and hill-climbing tests exceeded all previous Hudson records. Not a car or motor failed.

One car in Kansas covered 7,533 miles—one in and near Philadelphia 7,017 miles—better than 1,000 miles a day. Average distance for all cars was 4,990 miles.

This great test proved reliability and performance in every driving condition. It proved economy such as no one ever expected in an eight. It proved smoothness and riding ease, for such runs would be impossible without these qualities. We stand ready to prove to you personally similar abilities and similar leadership.

Victor in California Tests

With nearly all makes submitting bids, Hudson's Great Eight, with 100% score, overwhelmed all competition in tests conducted in the purchase of cars for the department of Highway Control of the State of California.

Wins Famous Tour de France

Against eighty-seven cars from every country Hudson scored 100% in winning the highest honors including the Ansaldo Cup in the nine-day Tour de France, most celebrated of the annual tests staged on the European Continent.

CHANCE VOUGHT, PLANE DESIGNER, IS DEAD IN EAST

Life and Death Parallels Glenn Curtiss.

New York, July 25.—(AP)—Death claimed another pioneer of aviation today in Chance Vought, airplane designer and builder. He was a contemporary of Glenn Curtiss, who died Wednesday and whose funeral was held today only a few hours after Vought's death.

Vought died at the Southampton, Long Island, hospital where he had been a patient for several weeks with septicemia. He was 42.

With him when he died were Mrs. Vought, formerly Ena Lewis of Pittsburgh, and their two sons, Chance Jr. and Peter. Funeral services will be held Monday morning from the chapel of St. Thomas church here.

Parallels Curtiss.

The careers of Vought and Curtiss were closely paralleled. Each learned to fly when there was none to teach him how, and each turned in his later years to designing, constructing and selling planes.

He was born in New York City and studied at New York university and the University of Pennsylvania. In 1909 he became consulting engineer to Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, one of the first big business men of the country to take an enthusiastic interest in the new science of flying.

Built Navy Fighter.

After being connected with the Wright brothers and as consulting engineer to the army and the navy, Vought formed his own company in 1921, with which he has since remained.

Probably Vought's most famous plane which he designed and constructed was the Vought Corsair, standard navy fighting ship.

Throughout the transport systems controlled by United Aircraft and Transport, planes in the air will dip in salute Monday at the moment Mr. Vought's funeral begins.

BRITISH FACE TAX BOOST; 4 BILLION BUDGET IS PASSED

Labor Wins Commons Vote by 223 to 185.

LONDON, July 25.—(AP)—Great Britain's budget bill calling for expenditures of almost $4,000,000,000 passed its third reading in the house of commons today by a vote of 223 to 185, and now goes to the king for his signature.

Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, Conservative, led the opposition by moving rejection of the bill, saying it imposed heavy additional taxation at a time when lightening the burden was necessary for the recovery of industry.

Churchill Attacks Dole.

Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer under the Baldwin government, concluding for the opposition, pointed to increased national expenditure, the falling off of railway dividends and increasing unemployment. He said this was caused by the Labor government's policy of increased direct taxation and the uncertainty of its attitude toward safeguarding duties.

Mr. Churchill berated the Labor policy of dealing with unemployment, adding: "Snowden's only policy is the dole, the whole dole and nothing but the dole."

Philip Snowden, the Laborite chancellor of the exchequer, did not participate in the debate, leaving this to his Labor colleagues.

Increase Income Tax.

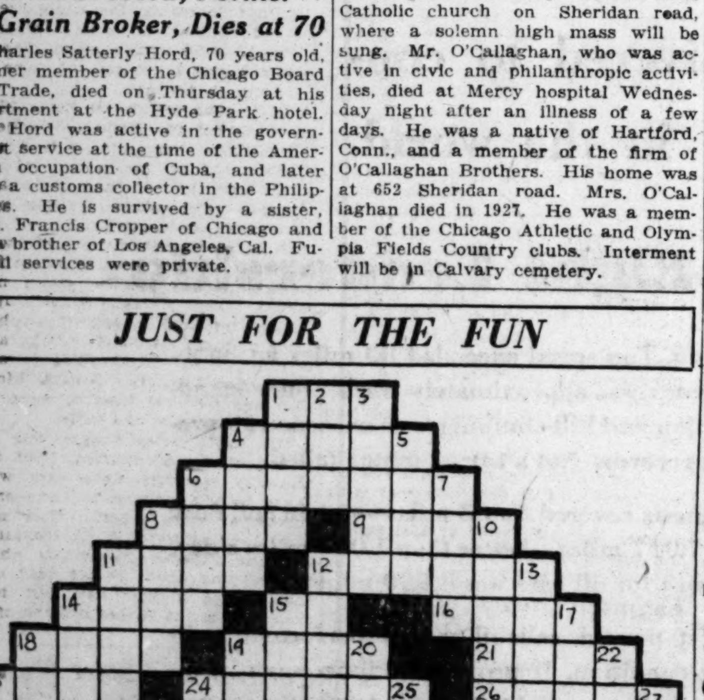

The chancellor, faced with the necessity of raising £42,000,000 [about $204,120,000] in new revenue for the coming financial year, prepared a budget levying an additional six pence on the income tax rate in higher classes. Additional taxes were imposed on the brewing industry.

These together were counted on to bring in £23,750,000 [about $98,325,000]. The rest of the revenue needed will come from the death duties, and increased surtax and other minor taxes.

SCHOENHOFEN HALL BUILDING TO BE WRECKED

Modern Structure to Be Erected.

BY AL CHASE.

One of the west side's best known landmarks, the half century old Schoenhofen Hall building, at the southwest corner of Milwaukee and Ashland avenues, is to be wrecked to make way for a modern store and office building, it was announced last night by Louis Greenblatt, the owner. Although Mr. Greenblatt has definitely decided on going ahead within three week with the demolition of the famous old structure, he has not yet determined whether to erect a $600,000 eight story structure or one of four stories costing $350,000.

In either event the building will be of fireproof construction, and S. Milton Eichberg will be the architect. The new structure will contain eight stores on the first floor with offices above. The following tenants in the old building already have leased stores for ten years: Majestic Men's Wear, Inc., A. Unger, jeweler, and S. Papas. David Broder was broker for all parties. Sonnenschein, Berkson, Lautmann & Levinson were attorneys.

Erected in 1878.

The Schoenhofen Hall building was erected fifty-two years ago by the late Peter Schoenhofen, millionaire brewer of Chicago. It is five stories high and contains a large hall seating 2,000, where for half a century meetings of various kinds, ranging from labor to social and from religious to political, have been held almost nightly. In addition there is a hall seating 300 and four lodge halls.

Mr. Schoenhofen leased the property to Mr. Hannah of Hannah & Hogg, one of Chicago's best known liquor dealers of that era. In 1910 a new ninety-nine year lease was made with Isidore Ferguson the lessee. About eight years ago, Mr. Greenblatt bought the fee and leasehold. There is no encumbrance whatever on the property today.

Building to Be of Stone.

The building stands on an irregular shaped lot fronting 100 feet on Ashland avenue and eighty-three on Milwaukee avenue. Thirty-five feet will be sliced off of the Milwaukee avenue frontage to provide for the widening of Ashland avenue, leaving forty-eight feet of frontage on Milwaukee.

Plans by Mr. Eichberg call for a structure with exterior walls fronting on Ashland and Milwaukee avenues of Bedford stone. According to present plans the new structure will be ready for tenants about Jan. 1, 1931.

INDEPENDENT OIL PRODUCERS VOTE TO CUT OUTPUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—Two hundred independent oil producers in four Pennsylvania counties—Forest, Elk, Tioga and Potter—have voted to cut production 30 per cent until Sept. 1, in the hope of alleviating overproduction, it was reported today. Similar action has already been taken in other parts of western and northwestern Pennsylvania fields.

Oil well completions in all points in west Texas Permian basin, north central Texas, and the Panhandle are at the low point for six months, field reports show, indicating success attending operators' efforts to keep production within market demand. Combined production of these three areas is more than 100,000 barrels a day less than at the same date a year ago, though without restriction it could far exceed last year's figure.

The Stoll Oil Refining company of Louisville reduced the price of crude oil in its lines at Oil City, Ky., today 20 cents a barrel, making the new price $1.35 at the well.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today with both Cuban and duty frees available at 3.25c for spots duty paid. Raw futures were irregular but generally easier today. This led to further talk of a new buying movement at the start of the next week, although there were differences of opinion whether refiners would make a reduction in their list price which remained at 4.70 for fine granulated.

DENIES HE USES SPIT TO MAKE CIGARS; SUES

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 25.—[Special.]—Claiming he is not a spit tipping cigarmaker, Jacob M. Karub, who rolls perfectos by hand, has filed suit in Common Pleas court for $50,000 damages against the American Cigar company.

Karub claims a picture was printed of him at his work in an advertisement of the company in many large newspapers with reading matter citing him as using spit in making cigars.

He says that last July 16 the American Cigar company sent a photographer to his shop and asked to take his picture to be used in a series of industrial pictures so the old style of rolling cigars by hand could be shown.

He said he submitted to the picture in good faith, but says the publication of it in the advertisements in the manner presented is false, scandalous and has hurt his earning power. He says he rolls cigars of dampened tobacco and never uses spit.

AUTOMOTIVES ARE IMPROVING, REPORTS SHOW

Stewart-Warner Net on Upgrade.

BY O. A. MATHER.

There was further evidence that the big automotive industry, which includes both motor car and auto parts manufacturers, is emerging from the doldrums. A number of earnings reports issued yesterday showed improvement in the second quarter of the year, compared with the first quarter. Naturally, the showings compared unfavorably with last year, but last year was the banner period for the industry.

The Steward-Warner corporation, Chicago accessory makers, signalized its improved earnings by declaring a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share for the second quarter. Three months ago the quarterly payment was reduced to 25 cents, compared with 87½ cents previously paid. At that time President C. B. Smith explained that whatever dividends were paid thereafter would apply only to the quarter for which declared, unless otherwise specifically stated. Therefore, Stewart-Warner cannot be said to have a fixed annual rate.

Equals 67c a Share.

The company's net earnings for the second quarter were $872,852, equal to 67 cents a share, compared with $656,011, or 50 cents a share, in the first quarter and $2,474,148, or $2.02 a share, in the second quarter of 1929. The half year's earnings were $1,528,863, or $1.17 a share, compared with $4,528,372, or $3.70 a share, in the first half of 1929.

The Borg-Warner corporation reported second quarter net earnings at $1,278,560, equal after preferred dividends to 98 cents a share on the common stock, compared with $1,096,811, or 84 cents a share in the first quarter. Earnings for the first half of this year totaled $2,375,371, or $1.82 a share.

The Houdaille-Hershey corporation reported second quarter net earnings at $279,647, equal after dividend requirements of 62½ cents a share on the class A stock to 31 cents a share on the class B stock. Net earnings for the first quarter were $80,365, or 46 cents a share on the class A stock. Earnings for the half year were $360,012, equal to 25 cents a share on the class B stock.

Packard, Willys-Overland.

Two of the big motor companies also issued midyear reports. The Packard Motor Car company reported second quarter net profit of $2,872,175, equivalent to 19 cents a share, compared with $2,654,247, or 17 cents a share, in the first quarter and $7,156,530, or 50 cents a share, in the second quarter, of 1929. Net profit for the half year was $5,526,422, or 36 cents a share, compared with $14,675,141, or 97 cents a share, in the first half of 1929.

The Willys-Overland company reported net profit of $151,704, including a tax refund and other items totaling $1,402,046. The profit was equivalent to $1.08 a share on the preferred stock, compared with $4,155,478, or $1.20 a share on the common stock, in the first half of 1929. Payment of dividends totaling $1,400,699 in the last six months necessitated recourse to the company's surplus.

Discusses Trend.

The recent trend of the automobile industry is discussed in the monthly review of the Chicago federal reserve bank, made public yesterday.

"The reduction in automobile output during June, though largely seasonal in character, was greater than in previous year," the review says. "Manufacturers report a decline of 30 per cent from May and 36 per cent from June, last year, in passenger cars. In the first half of 1930 cars manufactured were 31 per cent fewer than for the same period a year ago and slightly under the volume of the first six months of 1928.

"Distribution of automobiles in the middle west continued to diminish in June and larger declines from a year ago were shown than in the preceding month. Data covering the first half of this year indicate that about half as many cars were distributed at wholesale as in the same months last year and about one-third less at retail; used cars sold numbered 13 per cent fewer. Stocks of new cars averaged smaller in the comparison, while those of used cars increased in number, but declined in value."

JULY CUSTOMS COLLECTIONS DECLINE 50%

Washington, D. C., July 25.—(AP)—Customs collections for the first 23 days of July declined about 50 per cent as compared with the same period of last year.

Efforts by importers to get their products into this country before the new tariff duties went into effect June 18 were held responsible for the decrease by officials.

Duties collected in the first 23 days of July, 1929, were $37,521,584. Those this month have totaled only $18,347,268.

Customs officials, however, expressed no concern. They pointed out that just before the tariff act went into effect, approximately $30,407,000 was collected on imports which ordinarily would have been spread over a long period.

That brought the total collection for the 1930 fiscal year to $588,000,000, or $1,000,000 less than the previous fiscal year. Treasury estimates have estimated customs receipts for the present fiscal year at $585,000,000.

Officials said one reason they were not alarmed over the July decrease was that a large quantity of imports was held for appraisal under new duties and eventually would come in.

Refunding of Mexican Debt Agreed Upon

New York, July 25.—(AP)—An agreement for the refunding of Mexico's foreign debt, both government and railway, was signed today at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. It is subject to the approval of the Mexican congress and the bondholders.

THOMAS W. LAMONT.

The plan calls for the refunding of the present total debts of about $513,000,000 into $492,000,000 in obligations bearing 5 per cent interest. It also provides for a substantial reduction in interest arrears, which in the case of the direct debt now amount to roughly $200,000,000. The extent of this reduction was not announced. In addition the railways, now insolvent, would be reorganized.

Government Guarantee.

The present principal of the government's debt is $274,000,000, which would be cut to $257,000,000. The railways' obligations total about $239,000,000 and would be pared to $225,000,000.

The government would guarantee the new funded debt, for which the old bonds would be exchanged, with a lien of customs revenues.

Discussions on the agreement had been in progress for several weeks among Luis Montes de Oca, Mexican finance minister, and an international committee of bankers, headed by Thomas W. Lamont of the Morgan firm, representing Great Britain, France, Germany, Switzerland and Belgium.

A statement issued by Mr. De Oca and Mr. Lamont, who signed the agreement, said that both the minister and the members of the committee "have no hesitation in declaring that the settlement is one that, all circumstances considered, is creditable to the government and fair to the bondholders."

Capacity for Payment.

The statement continued that the international committee had "taken adequate account of Mexico's present and future economy, of its capacity of payment and of the other obligations which make up the national public debt—that is to say, of internal obligations, to the fulfillment of which the government attaches as much importance as that of foreign obligations."

The agreement recommends that facilities be extended to Mexico for the resumption of service on its foreign debt through the reduction of arrears in interest and the extension of the term of payment to 45 years. Payment to cover both sinking fund and interest charges on the new refunding 5 per cent bonds will amount to $15,000,000 beginning in 1936, although from 1931 to that date the amount will be $12,500,000. The sinking fund will be operative next year.

Status of Railways.

The statement declared the status of the National Railways company may be considered "as one of insolvency." It was deemed advisable, it said, to accept the plan proposed by the Mexican government of reorganizing the present company through the formation of a new one in accordance with Mexican laws.

It has been considered necessary, the statement went on, to reduce the company's obligations through the reduction of the arrears of interest according to the same method adopted for the direct debt.

"Through the renunciation by the bondholders of part of the interest payable during the next five years there will be made available a sum of over $25,000,000 for additions and betterments which are important in order to enable the company to operate with economy. The existing debt will be consolidated in a new issue secured by a general mortgage to bear interest at a rate of 5 per cent and payable in 45 years, regular amortization to begin in 1931.

Fifteen issues of government bonds are now outstanding, the oldest dating back to 1885 and the youngest to 1913. The bonds are held largely in the United States, France, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, Holland, and Great Britain.

Fast Freight from Chicago Averages 95.9% 'On Time'

Fast freight shipments from Chicago during June showed an "on time" standing of 95.90 per cent, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. This mark is an improvement over the same month of last year, when the standing was 94.43 per cent. A total of 53,445 cars were checked during June and 51,253 were found to have arrived at their destinations on time. Those one day late totaled 1,744, while those more than one day late totaled only 448.

I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., announced today that it had received virtually full subscription under its offer to its common stockholders of the right to subscribe to an additional issue of 357,071 shares of common stock, pro rata to their holdings on June 5, at a price of $80 a share. Walgreen Net Profit for Six Months Is $912,592

A decline in profits was reported by the Walgreen company, chain drug store firm, for the six months period ending June 30, 1930. Net profits, after all charges were deducted, were reported as $912,592, as against $1,505,951 for the same period last year. Net sales for the period were $25,939,186, as compared with $21,001,554 for the same period in 1929.

INSULL UTILITY MAIN FEATURE IN TRADING HERE

Gains Two Points on Chicago Exchange.

After a morning of rather listless trading, Insull Utility provided the afternoon session of the Chicago Stock Exchange yesterday with something in the way of a sensation. When the close came 25,700 shares of this stock had been traded in and the price had gone up 2 points to a finish of 61⅞. The demand for this stock was partially attributed to the good showing of other Insull enterprises recently.

The market as a whole was dull, there being but few exceptions to the general rule. One of these was Marshall Field which during the morning developed some strength and advanced 2½ points to a close of 38 on a turnover of 6,800 shares.

The utilities exhibited considerable strength. Commonwealth Edison went up 5 points to close at 305, and Middle West gained ½ point at 30⅜ on sales of 18,950 shares. American Public Utilities, prior preferred, jumped 3½ points to 97½.

Reports on Sales.

Merchandise and appliances valued at $2,074,416 were sold by operating subsidiaries of the Central Public Service corporation to customers in their territories during the first six months of 1930, according to E. L. Callahan, general manager. This is an increase of $254,420 over the same period of 1929.

Little change developed in automotives. Auburn was on the upswing in its customary see saw, and the day saw it 3 points to the good at 127. National Standard gained 1½ at 33½, and Bendix and Borg Warner were up fractionally.

Majestic Household gained 1½ to close at 37, and Grigsby Grunow rose ¼ to return to 15. B. J. Grigsby, chairman of the board of both companies, in a cable from London announced the organization of Majestic Electric Company, Limited, of London, England. Mr. Grigsby said in his message that the company is all British. It will act as agent in the distribution of Majestic radio sets and electric refrigerators. Factories and warehouses have been established at Tottenham.

Resumes Activity.

In the general list Great Lakes Aircraft resumed some of the activity of Thursday. This stock gained ¼ to close at 6 on a turnover of 4,850 shares. Merchants and Manufacturers gained 2¾ to close at 34. Bastian Blessing gained 1 point. U. S. Gypsum was off 1 point, Ryerson gained 1½ at 32½.

The Acme Steel company reported net earnings for the second quarter of 1930, after all charges, of $385,806. For the first quarter the net earnings were $303,529, a total of $689,335 for the first six months of the year. Officials of the company expressed confidence that the second half of the year would make a better showing than the first half.

See Monopoly Appeal in Coal Men's Protest

BY SCRUTATOR.

When certain Illinois miners and their allies appeared before the state commerce commission this week to protest against granting permission for the installation of a natural gas pipe line in the state, their appeal was for something approaching a restricted monopoly in the fuel business.

The petitioners, the United Mine Workers of America in district 12, and the Illinois Coal Sales association, asserted that the coal industry was the largest single one in the state, that it was the duty of the state authorities to encourage it and to prevent it being hampered by outside industries. They added that Illinois mines could produce twice the coal they now do and that, insofar as miners are deprived of the opportunity to make a living, Illinois manufacturers will suffer a loss of markets.

Promote Use of Coal.

It is admitted there is distress already among the miners, and it is known that several organizations of merit, numbering manufacturers in their membership, are actively promoting the use of Illinois coal. None of them, however, has gone so far along the line as to maintain that mines in the state should be given the exclusive right to purvey fuel to the people.

Logic would require, if natural gas is to be barred, that sales of fuel oil and even of coal from other states be declared legally inadmissable to the state borders. Obviously nothing so radical will be done. If it were done, assuming it possible, there would grow up all over the United States a series of retaliations that would have a disturbing effect on all industry.

Monopoly approved by government has not usually been successful. There were grants of monopoly in England, beginning with Henry VIII., and continuing into the reign of the first Charles. So many abuses crept in that parliament in 1624 made its own approval of any royal grant necessary and in 1640 declared virtually all monopolies void.

Efforts Get Support.

It has always been an American policy to prevent monopoly. A decade ago, while fears of one in foodstuffs were rampant, the biggest packing firms of the country had to sign a decree in which they covenanted to confine themselves to meat and related lines at wholesale.

Even the possibility they could ever become a foodstuffs trust has passed, and their effort to change the decree has the support of farm groups as well as business men. They are fighting now, as the natural gas entrepreneurs are, to get a chance to compete in open markets, not to shut off any competition. A monopoly could justify itself only by giving better service at the same or lower price than those who would be its competitors. The people have a right to try natural gas here. It can come only in a pipe line. To halt construction of one would not help the coal industry. It has not been demonstrated even in theory that Illinois coal sales will fall off when the gas arrives. An intelligent effort to improve coal burning methods, to promote smokelessness, is being made by the Illinois coal bureau, and if it succeeds more will have been gained than by shutting out competitors.

REPORT FOREIGN COPPER BUYING HIGHLY ACTIVE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—It was reported today in the copper trade that buying of the red metal for foreign account had become extraordinarily active. Domestic buying also has become heavy, with the result that total sales of copper have been the largest reported since the buying wave last May.

Sales of copper for export are estimated to have totaled 38,500,000 pounds in two days. Of that amount 18,000,000 pounds were sold yesterday and 20,000,000 pounds today, it was said. Total sales for export so far in July are said to have been roughly 96,000,000 pounds.

Public Service of Northern Illinois.

How do you regard Public Service Company of Northern Illinois first lien and refunding mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, series E, due July 1, 1980?—S. M. E.

Public Service Company of Northern Illinois serves a combined population of about 1,110,000 located in 17 counties in northeastern Illinois, excluding the city of Chicago. Electric service is rendered in 309 communities, gas in 103, water in 5, and heat in 3. The territory includes all communities in the residential suburbs on the north shore and a number west of Chicago, as well as the manufacturing and commercial cities of Blue Island, Kankakee, Joliet, and others.

The company's operating revenues in the last six years have increased from $18,000,000 to more than $33,000,000, with a corresponding upward trend in net income.

For the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, net earnings amounted to $14,630,494 and interest on mortgage indebtedness was $3,554,275. In 1928 net earnings were $12,939,268 and interest charges were $3,263,815. Including the series E bonds, annual interest charges on the company's entire mortgage indebtedness will amount to $4,262,665.

These 4½ per cent bonds, series E, dated July 1, 1930, and due July 1, 1980, are issued under the same mortgage as four previous series and are secured by a first mortgage collateral lien on the power plant of the Waukegan Generating company, by pledge of $40,784,000 of the company's first and refunding mortgage bonds, and by a direct mortgage lien on all of the company's physical property now owned or hereafter acquired, subject only to prior lien bonds from time to time outstanding.

These bonds are considered sound.

American-Hawaiian Steamship.

Kindly send me information about the common stock of the American-Hawaiian Steamship company, listed on the New York Stock exchange. Is it considered an "A" stock?—B. K. G.

American-Hawaiian Steamship company, incorporated in 1899, owns a fleet of 21 vessels employed in intercoastal trade between cities on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States. In conjunction with the Matson Navigation Company of San Francisco it owns Oceanic and Oriental Navigation company, operating in the Pacific.

American-Hawaiian Steamship company reported net profit of $1,187,421 for 1929. This was equal to $2.50 per share on 475,602 capital shares [par $10], and compares with net profit of $384,816, or 81 cents per share, in 1928. The large increase in earnings last year was due not so much to improvement in operations as to "other income," which accounted for more than 75 per cent of the year's net. This other income included profit on sale of investments and vessels.

The $8 per share dividend paid July 15, 1930, was made possible partly through liquidation of various funds arising out of war activities. On Jan. 2, 1930, a $2 dividend was paid. No regular dividend rate is maintained. The stock is somewhat speculative.

GRAIN RATES TO SEABOARD, WEST CUT BY I. C. C.

Classified Freight to Offset Slash.

Washington, D. C., July 25.—(AP)—A general reduction in grain rates throughout western territory and to principal seaports was ordered today by the interstate commerce commission, to become effective Oct. 1.

Members of the commission estimated the application of the new schedules would reduce earnings of western railroads by $15,000,000 or more per annum, but that some of this had been compensated for by recently granted increases in classified freight rates.

A new method of making schedules, described as "the rate-break basis," was prescribed for the railroads to follow. This rate form was sought by the business interests of nearly all the great western primary grain market cities.

One Rate Applies.

Under the new system one rate will apply on wheat and other grain and grain products such as flour and meal. The commission considered proposals to establish a system of export rates definitely lower than the schedules applying to domestic shipments, but rejected it and left the present relationship between export and domestic rates substantially unchanged.

While on the whole substantial reductions are expected to result from the application of the decision, some wheat rates from North Dakota were increased as were rates on other types of grain from North Dakota and Minnesota to principal markets.

The findings were entered at the conclusion of a special investigation instituted after the adoption of the Hoch-Smith congressional resolution ordering the commission to apply the lowest rates to products of agriculture affected by depression, but the decision was careful to state that its findings resulted from an endeavor to perform its general duty of prescribing reasonable rates.

No "Threat" Seen.

It added that the exact consequences of its new schedules were impossible to foretell in advance, and that "in the light of increased revenues already granted in certain other cases" to western railroads the grain reductions "will not threaten the maintenance of an adequate system of transportation."

In view of the general commercial practice of shipping grain on transit arrangements by which they are converted into flour or meal while technically moving under a single rate, the rate schedules provided were extraordinarily complex.

In considering the rejection of the proposal to place export freight rates on wheat and products at points 15 per cent or more lower than domestic rates for the same movement, Commissioner Lewis with the concurrence of Commissioner Tate argued that the position of the nation as a "surplus producer of grain, particularly wheat," required this.

Notwithstanding, he said, the "more equitable rate structure" created by the finding of the commission majority deserved support, though he added that "a survey of specific rates reveals cuts of 20, 30, 50 or even 60 per cent in the present charges," which would bear severely on "some of the carriers which are not at this time in a position to stand such reductions."

Specific Export Rates.

Touching upon particular situations involved in the proceeding, the commission held justified the existing differential favoring Portland, Ore., in wheat shipments from the Columbia basin as against Puget Sound ports and Astoria, but ordered rates to Longview, Wash., fixed at one-half cent per hundred pounds higher than Portland; a single rate was fixed for both export and domestic shipments from Oklahoma and Kansas to Texas ports; and both export and domestic shipments to New Orleans from the same two states were ordered identical in most cases.

Fixing specific export rates the order prescribed 29 cents per hundred pounds from Kansas City and Omaha to Montreal against a present rate of 31½ cents; to Baltimore from Omaha and Kansas City a rate of 31 cents against present rates of 38½; from Omaha to New Orleans the present rate of 24½ cents was made 27 cents; and from Kansas City to the same destination the present rate of 23½ cents will become 21; from St. Louis to Baltimore the new rate will be 22 cents against a present rate of 25; and to New Orleans 14 cents against a present rate of 11; Chicago to Baltimore will become 16 cents against 21; from central Illinois to Baltimore will become 27½ cents against 32½ now charged; and to New Orleans the new rate will be 25½ against 22½ cents.

Make Comparison.

No orders were entered in reference to grain shipments from the lake boats via Buffalo to north Atlantic ports for export. From Montana territory export and domestic rates on wheat were left at identical levels.

Some of the specific new rates in more important wheat producing and handling territory as compared with existing schedules were laid down by the decisions as follows:

To Chicago from Minneapolis, 11 cents against 13; from Sioux City, 15 cents against 17.5; from Omaha, 15 cents against 17.5; and from Kansas City, 15 cents against 17.5. To Chicago from Iowa, grain rates were altered only in minute degree, both increases and reductions resulting; and the same was true of Iowa shipments to Minneapolis; though a number of reductions in Iowa grain rates to

Tells of Extra Payment for Merger Proxy

Youngstown, O., July 25.—(AP)—Trial of the suit to enjoin the merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company with Bethlehem Steel corporation adjourned for over the week-end today, with attorneys for the Cyrus S. Eaton interests in the midst of their offensive against proxies voted for ratification of the merger by stockholders last April 8. The trial will enter its fifth week Monday.

N. A. Kercher, a former machinist of Youngstown, testified today he received $2,500 extra for 1,000 shares of stock he sold to W. J. Morris, vice president of the Youngstown company, in consideration of his proxy for 1,400 additional shares.

Charge Illegal Voting.

Other witnesses of the day were Walter E. Meub, secretary of the Youngstown company, who related the details of the stockholders' meeting, in which 857,821 of 1,199,612 eligible shares of common stock were cast in favor of the merger, and President Frank Purnell of the Youngstown company, who was questioned about a lease on offices which his company signed at about the same time the owners of the offices gave their proxy for 12,000 shares.

Attorneys for the Cyrus S. Eaton interests, foes of the consolidation, hope to prove that enough of the stock was illegally voted to make the merger void. Prior to their attack on the proxies the suit has been directed toward their charges of fraud and concealment in the negotiations preceding the merger contract.

Concentrate Attack.

Proxies given by fiduciaries for 128,400 shares have been placed into evidence and today the attack was concentrated on proxies given by individuals and corporations totaling 36,631 shares. Monday the attorneys are expected to go into the voting by pro-mergerists of a large block of stock sold to the Eaton interests after the record date, March 22, for stock to be voted at the merger meeting.

The Eaton interests contend this stock, amounting to 60,000 shares—enough in itself to defeat the merger—should not have been voted.

JUNE EARNINGS OF 21 RAILS ARE LOWER BY 26.7%

New York, July 25.—(AP)—The first 21 railroads to report results of June operations showed net operating income aggregating $20,925,000, a decrease of 26.7 per cent from $28,550,000 for June last year, and a decrease of 14.2 per cent from a total of $24,404,000 for June, 1928. The same roads reported $20,992,000 for May.

Pittsburgh & W. Va.	$159,972	$216,963

*After taxes and charges.

Evidence of improvement in operating efficiency offsetting decreases in gross earnings is contained in the report of the Chicago Great Western railroad for six months ended June 30.

Net railway operating income for the first half of 1930 was $1,008,507, an increase of 61.72 per cent over $623,618 reported for the first six months of 1929. Net income for the period, after all charges, was $239,201, which compares with a deficit of $165,542 in the first half of last year, and represents a gain of $404,743.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Groom Radios.

Several members of the radio group, it is said, are being groomed for a revival of activity when the industry's business has its usual fall and winter upswing.

Sugar Sentiment.

Although there is no definite evidence of price movement, sentiment regarding the sugar shares seems more optimistic. Those bullish on this group say that present prices cannot prevail much longer because they are actually below production costs in some territories and also that consumption should increase sufficiently by the end of 1930 to offset any increase in output.

Quiescent Amusements.

Speculative activity seems to have died down in the amusement group for the time being, but bears are not finding it easy to get stock below the market to cover commitments made at higher levels. Liquidation in Technicolor, on the curb for example, appears about completed. Loew warrants have been quiet, Columbia Pictures has held fairly steady in narrow limits, and Fox Theater A is changing hands in small blocks around the $10 level.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—That part of little old Manhattan isle popularly known as the Wall street district, simply went through the motions today. Business of every kind found it too hot to function.

The stock exchange might as well have shut up shop for all the part it took in the proceedings. Only 1,356,170 shares changed hands in the five full hours of the trading day, which make it one of the dullest markets in years.

Prices moved around like cold molasses and for the most part got exactly nowhere. The bulls didn't seem to care and the bear element apparently didn't have the energy to start anything, seeing conditions were what they were.

Observers Opine.

Some observers opined that the constructive forces had been disappointed by the failure of the recent advance to attract outside speculation and were sitting back to let markets take their course. Others thought maybe they were purposely letting the market get dull with the idea of building up another short interest to trim when the time gets ripe.

But whatever it was, the market was a bust. The leaders did most of their "leading" in a sitting posture. The pool stocks were off their game and the usual cutup specialties gave themselves a rest.

There were no worthwhile features to chronicle. About the nearest approach to one was a mild burst of strength in Autostrop Safety Razor on the revival of merger rumors.

The stock went ahead nearly 5 points to a new high for the year and closed only about a point off from its peak. The semi-annual report of the company showed earnings equivalent to $2.26 a share for the class B stock after allowing for the full $3 dividend on the class A shares, as compared with net equivalent of $1.07 a share on the class B issue in the six months ended June last year.

Stewart Warner Flurry.

A flurry of covering in Stewart Warner enlivened the afternoon proceedings following the announcement that directors had voted a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share. The final sale reflected a net gain of more than 2 points on the day.

Radio was influenced favorably by the tenor of the statement issued by officials in connection with the announcement of the taking on of a large force of additional help at its Camden, N. J. plant. It was up an even point on the day.

With price movements narrow and irregular as they were, it was difficult to discern any marked group movements. The pivotals found support on any tendency to sell off much and some of them managed to forge ahead a point or so. U. S. Steel advanced more than 2 points. General Motors, Can and General Electric were fractionally better at the close.

The day's news budget was comprised chiefly of quarterly and semi-annually earnings statements which, taken by and large, must have proven somewhat more cheerful than might have been anticipated. A compilation of June railway statements showed net running about 24 per cent under that month a year ago, but better than that of the earlier months of this year.

GRAIN RATES TO SEABOARD, WEST ARE CUT BY I. C. C.

Classified Freight Raises to Offset Slash.

Omaha, St. Louis and Kansas City were indicated, averaging between 5 and 10 per cent of present schedules.

From Kansas points to Chicago reductions were general. Among these were a new rate of 30 cents from Wichita against a present rate of 35.5; 33 cents from Dodge against 38; and 24 cents from Olathe against 27.

Nebraska Reductions.

Montana rates to Chicago were all cut, the new scale from Billings being 48 cents against 52.5 and from Glasgow 45 against 48, while from Kalispell it was 57 against 61 and from Missoula 57.5 against 61.

Out of Nebraska growing territory to Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City and the Texas ports the reductions ordered were general and ranged up to 15 to 20 per cent. A few increases from North Dakota to Minneapolis and Duluth and from a few North Dakota points to Chicago were laid down but these were minor in amount. All changes made in Oklahoma rates to Chicago, Kansas City, Texas ports and New Orleans constituted reductions; South Dakota rates to marketing points were reducing as were nearly all Texas schedules applying on grain.

DEMAND FOR HIGH GRADE BONDS BEST IN SEVERAL YEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—The largest demand for high grade bonds in five or six years has developed in the over-the-counter market in the last two days, according to one large and active organization of bond brokers. This house, that buys and sell from dealers exclusively, is actually in the center of the market and is in a position to accurately judge the temper of the market.

One of the firm's partners said today he expects the boom in the bond market to last for four or five years. He declared that, in his opinion, there would be a flurry in the stock market in the fall of this year, but that this would in no way interfere with the bond market.

The demand is for the highest grade legal railroad bonds, yielding from 4.14 to 4.50 per cent. This level is about the highest since 1927, when bonds of the best character sold on a 4.05 basis. Buying is coming from banks, insurance companies and institutions, mainly, who are taking on huge blocks of bonds, regardless of low yields.

The house quoted has executed individual orders on several occasions this week of $1,000,000 or over.

The demand has spread to second class bonds to some extent, but the demand for the high grade legal rails is the outstanding feature of the bond market today. Orders are being received by dealers from customers, particularly small banks, in all parts of the country.

A contributing factor to the new bond market is the changed mental attitude of bond dealers, salesmen and customers. All appear to have decided to forget the stock market with its quick gains and even quicker losses.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Spot butter was in better demand and ¼@½c higher while fresh eggs were steady to ½c lower. Live hens declined 1½c while spring chickens were 2c higher. Receipts by freight, 4 cars. Potatoes somewhat firmer on sacked stock and unchanged on barrels. Receipts 111 cars with 200 cars on team track.

Top yesterday, $9.85; average, $8.75.

Receipts at Chicago today, 200 cattle, 6,000 hogs, and 3,000 sheep.

Hog prices hit a steep slide after a steady to strong opening yesterday and some classes tobogganed to a 25@40c lower level before the brakes could be applied. Light weights led the way down, while heavy grades were brought to a stop after a 15@25c decline and medium grades finished at 10@20c loss.

The extreme top moved up 5c at $9.75 early in the day, while the general average showed a 20c loss at $8.60. Larger houses bought more freely at the late decline and only 3,000 were left at the close, the low point in all classes.

December Hogs Are $8.25.

Trading was fairly active on the hog futures market yesterday, but prices declined 10@15c, due partly to the break in the cash trade. December mediums sold late in the day at $8.25, while July light at $9.85 were highest on the list.

September light brought $9.40 and mediums for the same month sold at $9.35. November mediums were offered at $8.50 and bid $8.00.

About 3,500 medium wool mountain lambs averaging 57@65 lbs were bid $6.50@7.00 for delivery during August, September and October, only white face stock below $7.00.

Yesterday's meager supply of 1,500 cattle changed hands slowly at the lowest prices of the season. Demand was narrow and some remained in the pens at the close. Top classes were absent, the best available selling at $9.50, averaging 787 lbs with a few sales up to $9.00.

The few cows and heifers on the market showed the recent sharp decline. Better grades of calves sold steady and others were weak to unevenly lower. Stockers and feeders were slow at the week's 50c decline.

Lambs Hold Firm.

Salesmen held lamb prices on a steady to strong basis yesterday. Light supplies, better quality of westerns and fair eastern demand switched more advantage to the selling side. Range lambs were sorted lightly at $9.85, some bands going "straight" at this figure, while ewe and wether natives changed hands at $9.00@9.25 and buck lambs at $7.50 @8.25.

Culls sold largely at $5.00@6.00. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and unchanged. Feeding lambs were neglected at $6.50@7.25.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 200 cattle, 6,000 hogs and 3,000 sheep, against 261 cattle, 6,221 hogs and 809 sheep on the previous Saturday and 333 cattle, 4,777 hogs and 2,881 sheep a year ago.

The Chicago and Alton handled 23,178 revenue cars in the first three weeks of July as compared with 24,865 in the same period last year.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Trade sentiment leans to the bull side of corn, but there is a streak of caution observable in the opinions of most traders, as there has been an advance of 12⅝c to 14c from the low point of the season, most of it within the last three weeks. Damage to corn is admitted in practically all sections. Corn is a long way from being made, and prices have advanced so fast that operators are watching the weather conditions closely and any indications of good rains lead to selling and price reaction, but the disposition of the trade in general is to buy corn on all good breaks, with predictions that it will sell higher than wheat unless the latter gets more support from the outside.

"There is an open interest of 17,579,000 bu in September corn and practically no stock here," said an old time trader. "It looks as though the market is likely to run into a natural 'squeeze' like we used to have years ago. Receipts are being taken care of by the consumptive trade, and indications are that the crop may be cut down materially from present estimates. Corn may have numerous sharp breaks on selling induced by occasional scattered rains, but the tendency seems higher, not only on corn but on all grains."

CORN DAMAGE REPORTS COME WITHOUT LETUP

All Deliveries Go to New High on Movement.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

There is seemingly no letup in the sensational reports of damage to the new corn crop, and while the forecast was for showers and cooler, there was a ready absorption of profit taking sales with local operators aggressive buyers. All deliveries advanced to a new high on the present movement, with the March delivery touching 83½c, a new high on the crop, while December, at 80¼c, was 14c above the recent low.

The recent advance in the price of new corn has added approximately $230,000,000 to the theoretical value of the crop, which is now worth about $2,080,000,000 if the yield is placed at 2,600,000,000 bu. This would compare with a crop of 2,802,000,000 bu, at around $1,850,000,000 on the price prevailing July 8.

An extremely abnormal condition prevails in the corn market at present, as both cash and futures are selling above wheat in Kansas City. No. 2 yellow corn in Chicago at 86½c was only 2c under the inside price of No. 2 hard winter wheat. While there is no normal relationship between the price of the two grains, the discount of corn under wheat in the last six years, ranging from 14½c to 68½c per bu, the present condition is regarded as most unusual.

Short Covering Lifts Corn.

Many local operators took the selling side of corn early on the possibility of moisture developing overnight, but their offerings were quickly absorbed. Toward the last prices moved up sharply. Shorts rushed to cover, and the finish was about the top, with net gains of ⅞@1⅞c, with December leading. The latter closed at 80@80⅛c, with July at 85½c, and September at 84⅞@85¼c.

No rain of consequence was shown during the day in the leading corn belt states, except in Kansas.

One effect of the sharp upturn in corn prices of late has been to place Argentine grain at Seattle, Wash., duty paid, at a discount of around $1.00 per ton as compared with domestic No. 2 yellow. Farmers in the central west, however, are not likely to feel the competition to any extent, owing to the prohibitive freight rates from the Atlantic and gulf ports. They are further protected by the import duty. Argentina shipped 4,000 bu corn to the United States during the last week. Buenos Aires September closed at 55c, or 30c under Chicago.

Strong Rally in Wheat.

Wheat was easy early in sympathy with Liverpool on reports of further offerings of Russian wheat, but there was persistent buying of December at 96c by commission houses, which absorbed the surplus in the pit. The close was strong in sympathy with corn. The finish was ⅜c higher to ¼c lower, July being 88⅝c; September, 91⅝@91½c, and December, 96⅞@97c.

The United Kingdom did not show much alarm over the claims that Russia was trying to sell 14,000,000 bu of wheat for August-December shipment and sent higher bids for American hard winter, with sales in all positions for the day estimated around 1,000,000 bu. A New York news agency was out with figures suggesting that since July 1 Europe has purchased 60,000,000 bu of hard winter, durums and Manitobas. Only one cargo of Russian wheat has been bought by the United Kingdom so far, according to a private cable.

An increase to 20 per cent in the amount of foreign wheat millers can use for flour, compared with 3 per cent at the present time, is expected to be announced by the French government overnight. There were also intimations that the import duty might be reduced. Black rust reports from Manitoba were not a factor in the market, although Winnipeg closed ⅛@⅜c higher. Liverpool was off ½@⅝d at the last.

Commission houses were fair buyers of oats on the strength in corn, with hedgers and houses with northwestern connections the sellers. The South Dakota crop has been damaged 10 per cent by recent hot weather, according to the government midmonth report. The close was at about the top, with net gains of ⅜@½c, July being 35⅛c, and September at 37⅜@37½c.

Short covering was largely responsible for an upturn of ¼@⅝c in rye, with September closing at 57¼c, and December, 63⅛c.

PROVISION TRADE SMALL

Scattered liquidation by holders of September lard was well taken by cash interests yesterday, who are said to be doing a fair business. Prices eased 5c. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d higher, the latter on October. Exports of lard were larger at 2,613,150 lbs and of bacon 302,000 lbs. Southern trade in meats was fair. Hog supplies were not heavy but exceeded those of a week ago. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter futures advanced ⅝c on the Chicago mercantile exchange, the forward trend being helped by a bullish storage report from the four principal markets. Egg futures also advanced, November gaining ¼c. Storage butter figures showed a reduction of 260,000 pounds in the excess and a firmer tone in the spot market contributed to the gain. Realizing sales failed to check the gain. Sales: Butter, 151 cars; eggs, 38 cars. Receipts: Butter, 13,353 tubs; eggs, 15,385 cases.
